"What is Lutheran Brotherhood anyway?"
Glad you asked...
Here's how we started. First incorporated as the Luther Union, our fraternal insurance society was formed in 1917 at a Lutheran Church convention in St. Paul. After borrowing $6,000 to cover the expenses of obtaining applications, the society issued its first insurance policies in 1918. Here's what we do: We offer a variety of life, health and retirement benefits to all Lutherans. In addition, the society and its members carry out an extensive fraternal activities program that gives financial assistance to many worthwhile activities of value to the entire Lutheran community. Here's how we're growing. Lutheran Brotherhood now ranks among the largest of all organizations operating in the life and health insurance field. Surplus, investment earnings and benefits paid to society members have grown phenomenally during the last several years. Here's how the future looks. Although Lutheran Brotherhood's gains in all phases of its operation have been sizeable, the management predicts even greater growth. More and more Lutherans are realizing that a Lutheran Brotherhood membership offers both low-cost security and a sound investment opportunity.

Soo Proposes to Use Mixed Trains on Its St. Paul to Portal Run

A plan to use mixed trains to provide common-carrier passenger and express service to communities which would be affected by the proposed discontinuance of Soo Line passenger trains No. 13 and 14 between the Twin Cities and Portal, N. D., was announced Monday by Leonard H. Murray, president of the Soo Line.

Murray testified in hearings before Interstate Commerce Commerce Commission Examiner Joseph Woolman. The Soo is seeking ICC permission to discontinue the operation of Trains 13 and 14. The trains carry, on the average, more crew members than they do paying passengers. In 1962, their operation resulted in a loss on the service of approximately $266,000.

Hearings on the Soo's application were scheduled for Monday and Tuesday in St. Paul; May 22 in Glenwood, Minn.; and May 24 in Harvey, North Dakota. In 1961, the ICC ordered the Soo to continue operating the two trains at least through November 1, 1962.

"As we constue the Commission's report and order, apparently it felt that the communities in the area between Glenwood and Portal would no longer have common carrier passenger train and express service," Murray testified. "In order to provide some common-carrier service for communities between Glenwood and Portal, we have concluded that on the effective date of discontinuance of these trains the Soo will institute mixed train service between these two points. In view of the alternative forms of transportation which will be available to substantially all persons using the service now provided by Trains 13 and 14, it is my opinion that the continued prosperity of the rich agricultural area traversed by 13 and 14 will not be significantly affected by the change in railroad service."

Testifying that the Soo lost approximately $17 per passenger per trip, Murray said, "It seems to me that trains which lose approximately $730 per day in order to handle the insignificant number of passengers and head-end traffic moving on these trains are an undue burden on interstate commerce especially in view of the fact that all of the mail, express, milk and cream, and passengers will find a way to destination either through use of our mixed train service or some other transportation media."

Legislative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Minnesota's 63rd legislative session is in its final days. While we have been here longer than the old 90-day session, it now appears that we can complete our work in less time than the new 120-day limitation.

All in all, when the final results are recorded, I think this will have proved to be a productive meeting of the Minnesota House. As is the case with any first termer, I have been faced with the problem of learning while doing. As in any strange field of operation, this is sometimes a slow and frustrating experience. Nonetheless, I feel that there have been several solid accomplishments affecting my district in which I took an active part—I was chief author on twelve bills, all of which have now been enacted into law. Some of these were local bills and some were of state-wide application. Besides that, I was coauthor on 26 bills, with half of them becoming law.

My final bill to be acted on by the Senate was the bill appropriating $30,000 to the Department of Agriculture for the control of overrun. This money is needed to provide funds for the salary and travel expense of auditors who will investigate complaints that this department received relative to the control of overrun in our state. The auditors will not only investigate complaints, but also will call on creameries to make regular routine inspections which would involve possible infraction of Minnesota's 24 per cent overrun law.

My "freshman" days are now almost over. The experiences and acquaintances acquired in this five-month period have been many. They cannot help but make any first-term representative more effective in meeting the needs of his constituents. I look forward to being back among you soon for a face-to-face discussion of our common problems.

Traffic Safety Drive to Open Memorial Day

War against traffic accidents has been declared in Minnesota as the state prepares for the rise in traffic volumes which begins with the Memorial Day weekend.

Spearheaded by the American Legion, Department of Minnesota, a summer-long traffic safety program will remind motorists that highway safety requires the full attention of the driver, passenger and pedestrian.

Legionnaires have made a peace-time pledge to "WAR against traffic injuries, death and destruction." Pointing out that the nation has suffered more casualties on its highways than in all wars since 1776, these veterans will be working to make our highways safe.

Under the direction of George Kaisersatt, Farmington, Legion state safety chairman, uniformed veterans will be stationed at important controlled intersections throughout the state on the eve of Memorial Day, Wednesday, May 29. They will hand motorists a safety reminder that this traditional holiday opens a summer of fun and healthful travel. They will urge motorists to STOP, to look at scenery; STOP, to rest; and thereby, STOP accidents.

This is one of a number of accident prevention measures which will be given greater emphasis as the state moves into the summer season. Knowing that moving hazardous violations in heavy traffic result in serious accidents, the Minnesota Highway Patrol will be at full strength along principal highways. Officers will be concerned with all violations which contribute to accidents, but will pay particular attention to failure to yield the right of way, improper passing, drinking and unsafe or excessive speed. Special squads of Highway Patrol officers will saturate critical areas to reduce the number of violations which could result in injuries or deaths.

Special local emphasis will be given by local enforcement agencies as a part of the continuing program "Operation Survival".

The month's program covers the need for having vehicles in good mechanical condition before motorists begin their weekend or vacation trips.

The Memorial Day weekend is also the beginning of the June emphasis subject of the year-long "Blueprint for Safety" coordinated by the safety division of Minnesota Highway Department. While May has been vehicle-check month, during June the emphasis will be on eliminating improper or excessive speeds. "Speed control" is the first of the summer vacation safety themes of the annual "Slow Down and Live" program conducted by all states in the union.

THE FAST PACE OF LIFE

You'll find lots of people concerned about the tempo of life today. But most of them simply catch a breath when they can, and try to keep up with the pace.

There is something more important!

The winner trains . . . and plans his race. He may lag behind for a while, but he is confident of hidden resources. When others have burned up their energy and enthusiasm, he forges to the front. As they wilt in the home stretch, he sprints across the finish line.

The Church can help you train . . . and plan! A Christian is concerned with his own spiritual stamina rather than the fast pace of life. He is ready with hidden resources when the moment of challenge comes.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Pennington County Farmers Plant 20 Acres of Trees

Thirty Pennington county farmers planted 20 acres of trees for farmstead windbreaks this spring, according to Robert Kloubec, work unit conservationist for the Pennington county soil conservation district. Largest plantings were for Orlando Chervestad in Deer Park township and George Erickson and Oscar Houske in Wyandotte township.

Eldor Omdahl of Numedal township planted one and one-quarter miles of single row field shelterbelt for wind erosion control, Kloubec added. Sheldon Peterson was in charge of the district's tree planting program this year.

Most popular varieties of trees used this year were drop-ore elm, honeysuckle and blue spruce. Twenty-six farmers are already planning to plant trees in 1964 and will be fallowing their tree ground this sumer in preparation for next sprimng's planting.

About 75 members of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce heard a talk on sale of public stock by Arctic Enterprises, Inc., at a general membership meeting of the organization held Thursday at 7:30 a.m. in the Rex Cafe. Lowell Stennes of Western Securities, Inc., reviewed the growth of the Thief River Falls firm and the reason for the stock sale.

Stennes told the group gathered for the breakfast meeting that Arctic Enterprises had started in 1962 with a net worth of $35,000. In the first year of operation, when the firm expected to build 50 all season vehicles for sale, a total of more than 940 were sold. Net profit of the firm the first year was $17,500, Stennes added, noting that repayment of borrowed capital and interest payments kept the profit lower than it could have been.

Stock is being offered for public sale because the company wishes to expand, needs capital to do so and can not obtain sufficient money from commercial lending agencies which have lending limits, Stennes added. He said that 100,000 shares of common stock would

LHS Homecoming Queen Dies at Local Hospital

Linda Cameron, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cameron of rural St. Hilaire and 1962 homecoming queen at Lincoln high school, died Saturday afternoon in Northwestern hospital of injuries received in an auto accident. The one-car crash occurred about 1:20 a. m. Saturday on highway 59 about 2½ miles northwest of Thief River Falls, according to the state highway patrol which is investigating the accident.

According to the highway patrol report, Miss Cameron was a passenger in the rear seat of a car driven by Robert Ihle, 18, Thief River Falls. Other passengers were Linda Lou Wik, 15, St. Hailaire, whose parents owned the car involved in the mishap; and Steven Taxeraas, 17, Thief River Falls.

No cause was given for the mishap by the patrol which stated that the car went out of control while headed north and rolled in the west ditch. All passengers were thrown from the car except Miss Wik. Taxeraas was uninjured. Miss Cameron was rushed to the hospital by ambulance and died about 14 hours later. She had sustained multiple injuries with cause of death listed as a pulmonary hemmorrhage. Miss Wik and Ihle were hospitalized for observation Saturday and Sunday and Miss Wik is expected to be released today. Neither received any fractures.

Miss Cameron was scheduled to graduate from Lincoln high school on Wednesday evening with the 1963 graduating class. She was described by school officials as a popular student with good grades, member of the student council, school choir and glee club and Lincoln Log staff. She had planned to attend college and study elementary education.

Highway patrol officers who investigated the mishap said that Miss Cameron was found close to the car. The 1959 Buick, owned by E. L. Wik of St. Hilaire, was said to be a total loss. Patrol officers said it apparently had rolled several times but they were unable to determine how many. The accident is still under investigation.

Funeral services for Linda Cameron are being held today at 3 p. m. from First Baptist church in Thief River Falls with Rev. Ronald Dalzell officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery with the Sinding Funeral chapel in charge of arrangements.

Bicycle Tests To Be Given by Police Dept.

Persons who did not take the skill test for bicycle riders sponsored by the Thief River Falls Jaycees and VFW recently may take the tests on Wednesday and Thursday of this week and next week by calling at the city police department. Tests will be available from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. on Wednesday and Thursday.

Due to Memorial Day this Thursday, tests will be given Wednesday only this week.

Licenses are required to operate a bicycle in the city of Thief River Falls and the test must be taken before a license will be issued, according to Elton Cummings chief of police. Jaycees Sponsor Voluntary Check On First Street

As a part of the safety program sponsored by the Thief River Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, the annual vehicle safety check will be held Friday, May 31, in Thief River Falls. Location of the voluntary vehicle check will be on First street between LaBree and Main avenues with checking time to be from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Cooperation has been received again this year from the Thief River Falls Automobile Dealers association which has agreed to furnish mechanics to assist with inspection of vehicles. Assistance has also been pledged from the city police department and the Pennington county sheriff's office.

Included in the vehicle check will be an inspection of headlights, tail lights, turn signals, windshield wipers, windshields and window glass, tires and brakes. Vehicles which pass the inspection will be provided with a "Circle of Safety" sticker.

"Thief River Falls Jaycees are conducting the car safety check again this year in the interest of safety," stated James Dale, committee chairman. "Too often we neglect items on our cars which could prove to be safety hazards. It is the purpose of this check to call these items to the attention of the owner with the hope that he will arrange to have them corrected."

Dale noted that the vehicle check is entirely voluntary as a public service and that law enforcement tickets will not be issued for defective equipment. Drivers will be presented with check lists indicating defects which the car may have.

Rescue Breathing Saves Life of Injured Farmer

William Hoglo Escapes Death When Pinned by Neck Under Cultivator

Application of rescue breathing techniques saved the life of a rural Thief River Falls man involved in a farm accident Thursday afternoon. William Hogo, 31, route 1, was pinned beneath a cultivator wheel about 5 p. m. Thursday when the seat on his tractor broke. The mishap occured on the Daryl Lewis farm six miles west and one mile north of Thief River Falls.

Hoglo was assiting Lewis with field work in exchange for some fencing done a few days earlier. Three tractors were at work in the field when the accident occurred.

According to reports, Hoglo was working an area of land near a low spot when the tractor seat broke. When the tractor mired itself in the mud and stopped, Hoglo's neck was pinned beneath a cultivator wheel so tightly that he was unable to breathe and a second tractor was needed to move the implement and free him.

Although never having attempted rescue breathing, Lewis applied mouth-to-mouth respiration to get the victim breathing again. Attending physicians noted that the act probably saved Hoglo's life. He was unconscious until mid-morning Friday, but was listed in good condition Friday afternoon.

He joined the Carleton college faculty in 1948 as assistant professor of government and is now professor of government on the Edward C. Congdon Foundation and co-chairman of the department of government and international relations.

During 1957-58 Dr. Fjelstad made a study of local development corporations in Minnesota as consultant for the government's Small Business administration. Former chairman of the Carleton faculty committee on teacher education, he was co-editor of an extensive report made by that committee and published in "School and Society".

On leave of absence from Carleton in 1961, he spent part of the year in Oslo, Norway, where he made a study of the Norwegian parliamentary system. During an earlier leave in 1953, Dr. Fjelstad made a year's study of United States legislative practices and procedures under the Ford Foundation fund.

Active in community affairs, he served as chairman of the 1956 Northfield Community Chest, is secretary of the Northfield Charter Commission, holds membership in the Northfield advisory committee on education, and in 1962 served as a member of the Governor's tax advisory commission and was chairman of the state constitutional revision committee.

Brother of TRF Resident Arrives from Germany

BY Marvin Lundin
City Editor

Bringing to a United States firm the benefit of experience gained in Germany, Dr. Gunter Duderstadt of Schwabach, Germany, spent several days visiting in Thief River Falls last week. Accompanied by his wife, Brigitte, he visited at the home of his sister, Mrs. Emerson Sell, at 103 Maple av. N.

Effective June 1, Dr. Duderstadt will be employed by the Jones and Laughlin steel company in Pittsburg, Pa. His primary function with the firm will be supervision of a revolutionary process in the steel industry which will produce high grade steel more competitively.

Dr. Duderstadt's work will deal with use of a converter on steel furnaces so that oxygen can be used in the smelting process. Use of oxygen blown into the furnaces from above rather than air forced in from below results in a higher grade of steel. This is because air contains a high amount of nitrogen, some of which remains in the finished steel and creates imperfections, Dr. Duderstadt explained.

High grade steel has generally been produced in a different type furnace which requires several hours for processing. With the new oxygen process, termed "the hottest thing in metallurgy" by Dr. Duderstadt, high grade steel can be produced in smaller units in a much shorter time. This will make the processing of high grade steel more efficient and the sale of finished steel more competitive.

Dr. Duderstadt graduated in 1957 from Aachen Technical university in Aachen, Germany, a school he compared to MIT in the United States. His work, during five years of schooling was in the metallurgical field. Upon graduation he began research work in a laboratory on studying the process of ferro alloys such as chromium and manganese.

In 1960 he received his Ph D degree, writing his thesis on, "Interaction Between Ferro Titanium and Various Furnace Refractory, Especially under Vacuum." He continued to work in the research laboratory until shortly before leaving for the United States on the U. S. ship "Constitution." Dr. and Mrs. Duderstadt arrived in New York May 11 and then flew to Thief River Falls for the visit here.

For Brigitte it was her second visit to the United States. Her brother was a Fullbright scholar at the University of Colorado in Boulder eight years ago. Through a professor with whom he stayed, Brigitte obtained a secretarial position at the college and worked there in 1959 and 1960.

With a relatively short experience in the United States, Dr. Duderstadt has not had a great deal of time to formulate opinions of this country. One thing which he has definitely appreciated, he said, was the "civilized" American driver. He has high praise for drivers in this country and noted that from New York to Pittsburg he did not even hear a driver sound a horn. Apparently this is quite a change of pace from European driving style.

When Dr. Duderstadt returns to Pittsburg to begin his work, he will make the trip in a used car purchased as a Thief River Falls dealership. While the auto is considered to be one of the low-priced three in the United States, he noted that it is much larger than the cars common in Germany.

And, as if to further promote international relations, Mrs. Sell will return to her native Germany for a visit soon. Leaving Thief River Falls on June 4, she will take with her on the trip 15-year-old Joan and two-year-old Mark. She has not yet decided the duration of her stay there.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjerne

Now and again, and again and again, patrons of the library (and even some persons who do not use the premises for one reason or another) ask, "Is there anything I can do for the library to show my appreciation?"

It is almost like asking someone who has no shoes, with the snow on the ground a foot thick, if he'd like some boots!.

Naturally, after they receive the first answer to the first question, the next is "but what can I do to help?"

Consequently this column is going to be devoted to answering your plea—there are several things one could do for the library—you have a choice!

For instance, periodicals are just one item of expense on the librarian's budget sheet. Should any one, any group or any organization care to do so, a subscription for a publication would be a more than welcome gift.

Next, space being at a premium in ye olde library, and books being the business of the establishment, if a gift of a book is being considered (in the donor's name or as a loving and friendly gesture for a relative or friend) it is, of course, the wisest move to consult first with Miss Shanahan (which also holds true in the case of a subcription) so that there will be no duplication of volumes and so the gift will be the type which will be used considerably and consistently.

Friends of the Library, that so worthy organization, recently presented the Board of Trustees and the Librarian, not to mention the good citizens of Thief River Falls and surrounding territory, with a metal stack (this is library-talk for book shelves). Such items are quite expensive and as a consequence could not possibly be paid for with the limited library budget. This necessary and distressingly needed gift is greatly appreciated. Members of the Friends deserve a round of applause from every one who lives in T. R. F.

Possibly you have a friend, an acquaintance or a relative residing outside Pennington county boundary lines and are racking your brain for an extradordinary and most appropriate gift—how about a membership so your friend, or relatives or "what-have-you may make use of the library? This is a gift all the way around—for the receiver, the giver and for the library! It is quite possible your dollars would not stretch to a stack as the Friends group did, but it would undoubtedly be elastic enough to cover the $3 annual membership fee for an-out-of-the-county but so-interested-in-the library name on your gift-to-give list.

Time is a great gift, too—one of the greatest of all. And your time can be given to the library, too, in various ways. If you haven't visited your book-exchange for quite some time, take time now, today, to come in and browse. See the new books on the shelves, choose one of them to take home with you to read, digest and enjoy! You are asking yourself, no doubt, "Is this a gift to the library?". Indeed it is, for what better gift is there than that of bringing pleasure to another—and what greater gift can you give your library than your precious time—time which you may use to enjoy and to appreciate the facilities available to you and your family.

The library and the staff are only too happy to receive, in the name of the citizens, gifts presented by appreciative patrons, but the greatest pleasure they receive is the pleasure of being of service to the patrons.

Speaking of pleasure, the latest books to be brought forth from the cardboard cartons are as varied as those already available on the shelves, there is "The Gift" by Valdelmar Nabokov; Nina Bawden's "Tortoise by Candlelight" and Morris L. West's "The Shoes of the Fisherman" (which is going to be a dandy and a "must read" addition to your list of current favorites.) Then there's a new Civil War history "Terrible Swift Sword" authored by the noted Bruce Catton. Books, books and more books — books galore to suit the whims of all!

Note, please, and remember, too, with the summer months comes changes in the hours the library's facilities are available—and thus, beginning Saturday, June 1, the doors will be closed! They'll be closed every Saturday from then until the first of September. Daily (Monday thru Friday) hours of service will be 12 noon until 7 p. m. Get your hammock unrolled, the porch swing dusted off—summer days are just-right days for reading—and the books on the shelves are waiting impatiently to be taken home for your vacation daze!

TRF Designated by Postal Department As Sectional Center

Thief River Falls is one of 554 cities in the United States designated as "sectional centers" in the post office department's ZIP-code mail system which will go into effect July 1.

"This city was chosen as a sectional center in the national program because it serves as a main focal point of air, highway and rail transportation in this immediate vicinity," stated R. J. Dryden, postmaster. "The code will enable a large mailer to pre-sort mail through the use of electronic data processing equipment, right down to this city from anywhere in the country."

The 554 sectional centers designated nationally will play a key role in the national ZIP-code scheme—a plan by which five-digit codes will speed mail deliveries, in some cases by as much as 24 hours.

Thief River Falls has been assigned 567 as its sectional center number. Coupled with local zone numbers or numbers to be assigned post offices in this vicinity, the number will constitute the ZIP-code for the various delivery units in this sectional center.

"By glancing at the first three digits of our code, postal employees will be able to immediately determine that mail is destined for Thief River Falls sectional center," Dryden said. "When it arrives here, our sectional center people will know exactly what town and what neighborhood the letter goes to simply by glancing at the last two digits."

Applied during addressing and pre-sorting of large volume mail by equipment used by mailers, the code numbers will speed mail service through by-passing several manual sorting operations.

Widespread use of the code by the public as part of the individual's return address will permit large mailers such as banks, insurance companies, magazine publishers and others to utilize the code more effectively.

be issued and would sell for $1.15 per share.

Priority in the stock sale would be given to Thief River Falls, he stated, with second priority given to stockholders in Western Securities. If the total issue is not sold at that time, it will be released for sale in area communities. A limit of $5,000 investment per stockholder has been set for this issue.

Joe Holter, 1962 president of the local Chamber of Commerce, mentioned highlights of his trip to Washington, D. C., and presented the national award of merit for the 1962 program of work to the general membership. Gene Belto, 1963 president, accepted the award on behalf of the local organization.

Herman Zinter, Goodridge, died on Friday, May 24, at Northwestern hospital. Funeral services will be held Wednesday, May 29, at 10:30 a.m. at St. John's Lutheran church of this city. Rev. A complete obituary will be found in the next issue of the Time.

DESIGNATED as one of 554 cities classified as "sectional centers", Thief River Falls will play a major role in the post office department's new ZIP-code mail system which will begin July 1. This city was chosen, according to Postmaster R. J. Dryden, because it serves as a main focal point of air, highway and rail transportation in this immediate vicinity. The code will enable a large mailer to pre-sort mail through the use of electronic data processing equipment, saving the time of several hand sortings in the postal department. Thief River Falls is in Code area 5 and has been given the number 567.

Pastor, Formerly of Greenbush, Is Slaying Victim at Albert Lea

"Several leads" are being investigated in the murder of an Iowa minister near Albert Lea, Minn., Freeborn County Sheriff Everett Stovern said Saturday.

Stovern said he could not say what the leads are "until we have thoroughly checked them out."

A coroner's jury ruled that the Rev. B. E. Nyjordet, 43, had met "death by violent means by a person or persons unknown." He was pastor of the Silver Lake Lutheran Church, located in Iowa just below the Minnesota border.

Mr. Nyjordet was pastor of a Lutheran church at Greenbush about five years ago, and while there he spoke on at least one occasion in Trinity church here.

A sister, Miss Sara Nyjordet, was a teacher at Lincoln high school from 1943 to 1948.

Nyjordet's body was found at noon Friday in a state game refuge five miles southeast of Albert Lea.

A search for the minister started after his blood-stained car was found Thursday morning in an Albert Lea parking lot.

Dr. E. C. Menefee, Freeborn County coroner, set the time of death at between 2 and 3 a. m. Thursday.

An autopsy Friday revealed that Mr. Nyjordet had died from loss of blood. He had been stabbed eight times in the chest, slashed four times in the face and shot in the head twice.

The body was found dressed only in a shirt, tie, T-shirt, shoes and socks, and covered by a topcoat. The rest of the dead man's clothing was found at the scene, police said.

Mr. Nyjordet, a bachelor, had lived alone in Northwood, Iowa. He was born in Portland, N. D., and attended the Mayville, N. D. State Teachers College and Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul.

Authorities said they believe Mr. Nyjordet was dead when he was brought to the game refuge, and that he apparently had been murdered near Hwy. 16, five miles east of Albert Lea. Evidence found there indicated he had been dragged from his car, killed, and placed in his slayer's car trunk and taken to the game refuge.

Norman Peterson Addresses Lions

Hospital Administrator Reports on New Addition

Norman Peterson, administrator of Northwestern Hospital, discussed the institution's expansion program at the luncheon meeting of the Lions club last Wednesday noon. He reported on the progress of the new addition, designed to provide rehabilitation and convalescent nursing care, especially for the older-age group.

He also called attention to the contribution of the hospital to the community, stating that its payroll aggregates approximatley $500,000 a year.

Neal Fox and Phil Hess displayed flower pot fixtures to be attached to light standards in the downtown district as part of a city beautification effort planned by the Chamber of Commerce. They said that the fixtures, made by students in the area vocational school, will be sold for $10 each, and they asked that the Lions and other service clubs contribute $100 each to help finance the project. The request was referred to the board of directors.

The club also was asked for a contribution to share the cost of a day camp for physically handicapped children scheduled to open June 10 in Riverside park. This request, too, was referred to the board for a recommendation.

Legislators Wind up Session on Thursday; Hike Gas, Cigaret Tax

The Minnesota Legislature ended its 1963 session Thursday morning, beating the new 120-day deadline by four days. Appearing before the House and Senate to thank legislators for their cooperation, Gov. Karl Rolvag repeated his doubts about revue estimates given the legislature.

The legislature adopted a record-breaking budget of about $639 million—which the lawmakers said could be financed without a general tax increase. The total is up some $80 million from appropriations voted two years ago.

Largest item in the budget is the $14.5 million to help finance education at all levels—University of Minnesota, five state colleges, eleven junior colleges, and countless public schools.

The legislature was given estimates that economic growth would mean enough additional revenue to finance the budget without increasing any existing taxes.

Increases were voted in two special taxes to provide money for specific purposes, namely, an extra penny tax on each gallon of gasoline to build highways and another additional cent on each package of cigarettes.

The latter tax will go to help finance the big natural resources development program which some regard as one of the top accomplishments of the session. Projects costing more than $7 million are programmed for the next two years as part of a 10-year plan.

High also on the list of accomplishments is the provision in the education bill for a system of 15 state-supported and operated junior colleges. A new five-member State College Board to be appointed by the governor is created and vested with broad powers to choose sites and decide which present colleges should be taken over by the state. They now are supported on a local-state basis.

A 32-year ban on sale of colored oleo in Minnesota was lifted when the legislature legalized sale of the spread, tied to a 10 cent-a-pound tax.

The Legislature provided pay raises for state employees generally, department heads, elected officials and judges, but failed to carry through a plan to raise their own salaries by $100 a month.

The Senate voted the increase, but House members, who come up for reelection in 1964, vetoed the plan apparently in fear it might be made a campaign issue. Senators run in 1966.

Prowlers Trim Crookston 12-8

Coach Ralph Skay's baseball Prowlers closed out their 1963 schedule on Friday night by scoring a 12 to 8 win over the Crookston Central Pirates in a district conference game played on the Fair Grounds diamond. The Prowlers concluded their schedule with a mark of ten wins and four losses. On Tuesday evening, with game time at 7:00 p. m., the Prowlers will meet the Warren Ponies in a District 31 high school tournament first round game. The Prowlers are the defending district champions.

The Prowlers had been slated to meet the Fertile Falcons here this evening, Monday, but this game, with the district tourney beginning today, has been cancelled.

A pair of five-run innings, the second and the third, provided coach Skay's club with the bulk of their runs in their 12 to 8 win over coach Skay's club with the bulk of ~~their runs in their 12-8 win over~~ Coach Linton Lehrer's Crookston Pirates here Friday nite. Paul Klungness's base-clearing triple to left field in the second inning. John Aune's two-run single closed out the five-run rally in this inning. Six bases on balls, by Crookston pitchers Mike Paulson and Wayne Tvedt, and five errors, were factors in providing the Prowlers with their run-scoring opportunities.

Three pitchers, starter Jack Leedahl and relievers Dick Johnson and John Aune, shared the Prowler pitching chores. Crookston, too, used several pitchers, with Mike Paulson, Wayne Tvedt, Roger Schmidt, and Pete Mickelson seeing mound service. Crookston's Pete Mickelson was the game's hitting star, with the bespectacled Pirate hitting four singles in four times at bat, and drawing one walk.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson

Manager Chamber of Commerce

Will people in Thief River Falls and in the area support good, clean, big-name entertainment to the extent that a group can dare to bring them in here? This is a big question on our minds right now.

On the evening of June 11, Northwest Dairy Day, the Chamber is sponsoring none other than the famous Grand Ole Opry starring "Cousin Minnie" Pearl. There will be a 7:30 p. m. show at the high school gymnasium that will last two hours. Then at 10:00 p. m. at the Armory there will be a country-modern dance at which the stars will also perform.

Altogether, the Chamber anticipates overhead costs of two-thousand dollars. Now it takes a lot of tickets to pay a bill like that. So, can we support this type of entertainment or can't we?

It seems to us that it should be worth something to the community to have big-name family entertainment here at least once each year. If so, the Grand Ole Opry deserves the support of each one of us. Frankly, we think it will be very enjoyable.

You'll feel enjoyment too, if you Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made—Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

VFW Buddy Poppy Sale Results in $624 in Receipts

4,715 Poppies Sold by Post and Auxiliary In Two Day Sales Campaign

Buddy Poppy committees from Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2793 and the auxiliary met Wednesday evening to evaluate the results of the poppy sale held recently in Thief River Falls. Results were diagnosed as successful, according to Roy Jorgenson poppy chairman for the post, and Mrs. Anna Nelson and Mrs. L. W. Perkins, co-chairmen for the auxiliary.

A total of 4,715 poppies was sold—an increase of 775 from last year—with income from the sale amounting to $624.11. After poppies have been purchased and expenses paid, the remaining funds will be divided between the post and auxiliary for their local relief and welfare programs.

The poppy sale was supervised by the auxiliary which noted that eight members of the post, 18 members of the auxiliary, 15 members of the junior auxiliary and 13 sons and daughters of members spent a total of more than 60 hours in selling the poppies.

Poppies for the sale are made by disabled veterans with money for their purchase used by the Department of Minnesota VFW to help support the VFW national home, old soldier's home, national and department rehabilitation funds, and to pay for the cost of the materials.

Selmer Dimmen was this year's top salesman as he sold 550 poppies to qualify for a third year pin and a pass to the Department "all-awards" dinner to be held in conjunction with the state convention at Bemidji.

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

In addition to the previous report of what the 4-H clubs in Pennington County did to observe 4-H Sunday, May 19. The Star 4-H club bought flowers for the alter for a community church. They also held a candle lighting ceremony at their 4-H club meeting.

The Mavie 4-H club presented a program Sunday evening at the Cloverleaf town hall. Every 4-H family took part.

New Solum gave the program at the Rindahl Luther League.

Are you having problems sleeping? People who share a standard double bed today, sleep on the same width as they did in their infancy, the bedding industry painfully declares. A baby's crib measures 27 inches wide. The standard double bed is 54 inches wide. That's 27 inches apiece for two bulky adults.

At least the standard double bed is longer than the crib but not long enough for today's king size people to sleep in comfort. Experts say a bed should be from 6 to 10 inches longer than the sleepers.

From Apple Tree to Your Table

A new fruit juice will soon be on the Midwest market to liven up your breakfast or snack time. It's superconcentrated apple juice, a product of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service. The new product is pure apple juice. Nothing has been added..only the water has been removed. To reconstitute the juice, you need only put the water back in.. 6 cans of water for each can of superconcentrate.

Lincoln Track Team Is District 31 Champion

Winning ten of the fourteen events on the program, and scoring points in every event, coach Rod Max's Prowlers piled up a total of 89 points to successfully defend their title in the District 31 track and field tournament held at Grand Forks on Saturday.

And in compiling that 89-point the Prowlers were without the services of Paul Klungness in the running events. Paul, who had qualified, in the morning preliminaries, for the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, and the 180-yard low hurdles, suffered a muscle injury in his left thigh while competing in the broad jump event, which he won with a leap of 19 feet 2¾ inches, and was forced to withdraw from the running events. Paul did attempt to run the 100-yard dash, but was not able to finish.

Steve Mittelstadt took up the "slack" occasioned by Klungness' injury and won three firsts for the Prowler. Steve won the high jump event with a leap of 5 feet 8 inches, and won the 120-yard high hurdles, and the 180-yard low hurdles.

Three records were broken during the meet, with Prowler athletes accounting for two of new marks. Brian Lofberg, with a winning toss of 136 feet 4½ inches in the discus throw, bettered the old record of 135 feet 11 inches set by Ray Gibbons of East Grand Forks in 1961. Art Koglin ran the 880-yard run in 2:07.3 to surpass the mark of 2:07.7 set by East Grand Forks' Carroll Bateman in 1957. And East Grand Forks' Norman Bolstad, with a leap of 10 feet 11½ inches, set a new pole vault mark, besting the old mark of 10 feet 9 inches set by Crookston's Don Wheelhouse in 1947 and tied by the Prowlers' Lyle Guttu in 1954.

The first and second place winners in the individual events, and the relay winners, earned berths in next Saturday's Region Eight track and field tournament to be held in Bemidji.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Slight Favorites

The 17th annual District 31 high school baseball tournament will begin this afternoon, Monday, at Warren, and will continue until Friday when a district champion will be named. The tournament will be in "recess" on Wednesday, but the semi-finals will be played on Thursday, and the finals on Friday.

Coach Ralph Skay's Prowlers, seeded the tournament's number one team, and rated, on their season's record, as the tournament favorite, will begin play on Tuesday evening at 7:00, when the locals will be playing the host team, the Warren Ponies. The Prowlers scored a pair of wins over the Ponies during the season, but setting is primed for an "upset". That's a pretty good Warren club that coach Jim Oftedahl has developed over there, and if those young fellows, like Pete Gilbert and Ken Knutson, come up with a good game, the Prowlers will have troubles keeping the Ponies in the corral.

It was back in 1947 that the first District 31 baseball tournament was played, and the title was won by the Crookston Pirates. The Prowlers did not move into district tournament play until 1952, and that year, the locals, coached by Bob Nick, won the district for the first time, defeating Warren 5 to 3 in the finals.

In 1953 and since that time, coach Ralph Skay has been directing the Prowler baseball squad and in this span of years the blue-and-gold have won seven district titles. The Prowlers missed in 1958, 1960, and 1961, when the Crookston Pirates were the district titlists.

The Prowlers will be favored, but not by much, in this week's tournament. Defensively the Prowlers can match any club in the district, but it remains to be seen what authority the boys have when they come to the plate.

A Game Worth Watching

The Region Eight high school baseball tournament is slated for the Fosston field on June 3 and 4, and it appears that one of the "crucial" games of the tourney will be the first-round encounter between the Fertile Falcons and the defending champion Bemidji Lumberjacks.

On Saturday night, in a game played at Fertile, coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile club scored a 3 to 2 win over coach Jerry Mehlisch's Halstad Vikings to win the District 30 title, and gain a Region Eight berth. In this game, Fertile's speed-balling righthander, Rod Olson, struck out twenty of the Halstad batsmen.

While the District 29 tournament has not been completed, it is expected that the Bemidji club, well-stocked with veterans, and with a pair of reliable pitchers in Bill Barthelemy and Jerry Fossand, will make a successful defense of their district title. And if this occurs, the Lumberjacks will face the Falcons in a regional tournament first-round.

The regional tournament baseball games, as far as the drawings are concerned, follow the pairings of the season's regional basketball tournament. And that will pit District 29 against District 30, and District 31 against District 32.

But that Fertile vs. Bemidji game, if it should come to pass, would be a dandy. It will be worth a trip to Fosston to watch a well-rested Rod Olson go to work on that Bemidji batting order.

Not Much Noise

The local chapter of the anti-Harmon Killebrew club, which was very active last season, hasn't been very noisy the past couple of weeks. The fact is some of the more rational members of the club will grudgingly concede that Killebrew is a factor in the Twins' winning efforts of late, and that Harmon's presence in the lineup is a constant threat to the opposition's pitching staff.

Lame knee and all, it is evident that Killebrew is the "big" man on the Twins' roster. And if Harmon keeps up his good work of the past couple of weeks, Rog Tunberg, president of the local chapter, will have trouble collecting dues from his members.

This is Life, Paul

It was a discouraged Paul Klungness who, during the afternoon hours on Saturday in Grand Forks Memorial Stadium, trotted around the track in an effort to loosen a "knot" in his left thigh. But to no avail, and the blond speedster had to be "scratched" from the running events for which he had easily qualified during the morning preliminaries.

It was during the broad jump event that Paul suffered the crippling injury that took him out of the running events. For the past several weeks, he has been troubled by ankle and thigh pains, and these pains are aggravated by the broad jump. This event is quite taxing as a jumper catapults off the take-off board, and the muscles in the take-off leg must snap like an elastic band. That, apparently, is how Paul's "knot" developed on Saturday. It is hoped that heat therapy will be effective and that Paul will be able to participate in the Region Eight tourney on Saturday.

Many Sports Events at July Aquatennial

Aquatennial, recognized nationally as a summer sports spree, will feature some forty different sports events to thrill fans visiting Minneapolis for the festival July 19-28.

Starting as one of the thirty teams entered in the Aquatennial Explorer Scout Canoe Derby crosses the finish line of this 385-mile Mississippi marathon, Aquatennial sports excitement will continue at fever pitch throughout the ten-day celebration.

Also on the agenda for the opening day is the national Aquatennial Silver Cup Go-Kart Championship to be held at Parade Stadium. Some one hundred drivers will be competing in this thrilling event.

The diversity of Aquatennial sports events is evident in the schedule for Sunday, July 21. Air-O-Rama, a gigantic, four-hour air show featuring the Red Knight of the Royal Canadian Air Force, a sailing regatta, and Regional Polo Matches take place simultaneously.

The last weekend of the Aquatennial marks the climax of the Festival's sports fun. The Aquatennial Water Ski Tournament, running all day July 26, 27, and 28, will offer an opportunity for one hundred skiers to compete in slalom, jumping, and trick events. Doug Anderson, chairman of the Water Ski Tournament, stressed they were not only interested in expert water skiers in this tournament. Men, 17 and over, may enter the intermediate competition where no higher than a first-class rating is required. Competition will take place on Junior Boys' and Girls', Boys' and Girls', Men's and Women's, and Senior Men's and Women's levels. Water skiers from across the land are encouraged to enter.

Another highlight of the second weekend of Aquatennial is the exciting full-sized hydroplane races to be held at Lake Calhoun. On Saturday outboard hydroplanes will race at breakneck speeds. On Sunday the inboards will take over.

And for the confirmed landlubber and less active sportsman, a turtle derby will be held on the closing day of the festival, July 28.

Information on entries concerning any of the above events may be obtained by writing to the Minneapolis Aquatennial Association, 210 South Tenth Street, Minneapolis 3, Minnesota.

Weighed on a bathroom scale the fish weighed eight and one-half pounds, a good-sized walleye for any angler and a thrill for a 14-year-old. River fishing at Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Red Lake Falls has been reported good during the first week of the fishing season.

26 Acres of Trees Are Planted in Marshall-Beltrami

Twenty-six acres of trees were planted this spring by farmers in the Marshall-Beltrami Soil Conservation district, acording to Ralph E. Rundell, soil conservation technician at Grygla.

"With its cold, windy weather, last winter showed the value of a good windbreak," Rundell said. "Now is the time to plan your farmstead or feedlot windbreak or field shelterbelt for planting next year. Soil preparation is an important part of a successful planting program, and land must be prepared this year for planting next spring."

Persons in the Marshall-Beltrami district who are interested in tree planting for next year are asked to contact the soil conservation district office at Grygla.

Many Events Planned for June Dairy Month

Minnesota dairy industry officials today predicted new all-time records of enthusiasm and participation in events marking the 27th annual observance of June Dairy month in Minnesota.

Officially launched by 303 persons and one cow at the traditional June Dairy Month Kickoff luncheon in St. Paul May 21, the heaviest schedule in history is about to be undertaken. On tap are the annual round of county and regional Dairy Days, cattle shows, dairy princess contests, parades, pageants, festivals and merchandising events.

"We know there are more June Dairy Month events scheduled than ever before and we also are sure that they are better planned and more assured of sucess than ever," according to Manager L. H. (Lew) Conlon of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee.

"We've never experienced greater interest or had so many inquiries from the general public about June Dairy Month and its attendant events," Conlon noted. "This is due, in large measure, to the excellent cooperation received from the news media throughout the state."

A purebred Ayrshire, "Ayr-Line Fashion Pat," presided over the state kickoff luncheon from her 'stall of honor' on the stage of the Hotel Lowry's ballroom. As official Mascot Cow for Minnesota this year, she represents all of the state's 1,275,000 producing dairy cows.

Keynote speaker at the luncheon was Herbert W. Filk of Hutchinson, head of Minnesota's official 1963 June Dairy Month Farm Family.

In a candid survey of the dairy situation, Filk called upon everyone in the dairy industry to "accept our problems for what they are—challenges to do better."

Filk said the future of the dairy industry depends upon renewed efforts by dairy farmers to produce higher quality milk, more imagination on the part of dairy processors and manufacturers to put milk before the public in new and appealing forms, and upon more intense promotion and advertising of dairy foods.

"Our dairy advertising and promotion organizations have done a good job of holding our boat in the stream against very strong opposing currents," Filk said. "Our future is bright if we can all work together for greater quality, new products and stronger selling."

Among the events of June Dairy Month will be selection of 11 finalists for the state's 10th annual Princess Kay of the Milky Way contest. They will be crowned at the 11 regional Dairy Days which are area highpoints in the month-long program.

The Region 1 Northwest Dairy Day will be held in Thief River Falls Tuesday, June 11.

Labor Unions Aid Red Lake Indians

Join in Sponsorship of Vegetable Gardens

Minnesota's labor unions, A.F.L.-C. I. O., and Teamsters Joint Council 32 in co-operation with the Jewish Labor Committe have developed several practical and meaningful programs for the benefit of the state's Indian population.

Recently completed was a clothing drive for Indians on Minnesota reservations. Vans were furnished by trucking companies. Members of teamsters' unions volunteered their services to drive transport trucks to the reservations.

Under way is "Operation Vegetable Gardens", a project to promote vegetable gardens on Red Lake Reservation. The unions are providing tomato, cabbage and other plants and $1,000 in prizes for the contestants. Northrup King has donated 165 pounds of seed and Midland Cooperatives have donated one ton of fertilizer. The project is under the supervision of Floyd Jorgenson, Beltrami county extension agent.

One hundred families took part in the contest last year. Seventy-two families raised gardens worthy of judging. Jorgenson said the gardens gave the people a badly needed improvement in their diet, and "installed a sense of pride and accomplishment in the contestants." Four bedroom sets were awarded as first prize for each of the winners in four districts of the reservation. Each contestant judged received a prize.

Plans are under way for the sixth annual student project of Labor's Committee for Minnesota's Indian youth in early October. Indian youth who are seniors in high schools are brought to the Twin Cities for four days of orientation and observation. Last year forty Indian students, accompanied by three counsellors, toured the University, colleges, trade and vocational schools and large firms in the Twin Cities. The union labor project is specificially aimed at encouraging Indian youth to continue on to advanced education and better job opportunities.

An advisory committee of educators and the State Department of Education assist Labor's Committee for Indian Youth in the planning of this project.

The President on Rights

President Kennedy visited in the Deep South last week, including Alabama, but he was silent on racial matters in speeches in that state. At Nashville, however, he called upon all Americans to uphold the law of the nation, declaring that the determination to secure full rights for all citizens "is in the highest tradition of American freedom." He stated:

> "In these moments of tragic disorder, a special burden rests on the educated men and women of our country to reject the temptations of prejudice and violence and to reaffirm the values of freedom and law on which our society depends."

Those were nice words and we are sure no one who heard them was offended. It occurred to us however that, while he regretted the instances of violence that had been so disturbing to our nation, the South, nevertheless, is to be commended for the progress that has been made in peaceful desegregation. As pointed out recently by the National Observer:

> "Since 1954 the number of desegregated public school distiets in the South has risen from 5 to 977. Some 124 colleges and universities no longer are segregated by race; 110 Southern cities now have desegregated lunch counters, against none in 1960. Transit systems in 36 Southern cities are desegregated, compared with almost none a decade ago."

That is a good record and the Southerners deserve a pat on the back for accomplishing so much in so short a period of time, with so few outbreaks of violence. In his southern appearance President Kennedy might properly have pointed up the fact that the record is not all bad and that progress is being made.

Cost of the Space Race

Major Gordon Cooper has received worldwide acclaim for his 22-orbit space flight and he deserves all of the praise that is being bestowed upon him. It should be kept in mind however, that he was the star performer in a magnificent team operation. We are sure he would want the achievement to be remembered in that way.

In our efforts to overtake the Russians in the space race that started with the orbiting of the first Sputnik we have made good progress. It is significant that in this contest we have publicised both our failures and our successes. Our experiments have been announced in advance with explanations of what we hoped to accomplish. Some of the results have been embarassing. Most of them have been gratifying. By the manner in which we have publicised the experiments we have gained the confidence of the world.

The Russians have had no failures. At any rate, with a few unimportant exceptions, they have publicized only their successes, and generally the publicity has been withheld until the claimed success has been accomplished. They have revealed little of the actual facts of operation. We still do not know how their astronauts get back on earth. By their vagueness in explaining their operations they have invited some reasonable doubts as to what they actually have accomplished.

Some of the reactions of the foreign press indicate a doubt as to whether there is justification for our fears of Russian supremacy in the space race. The Manchester, England, Guardian, a liberal paper and friendly to the Kennedy administration, thinks we are unduly concerned about the importance of this battle for prestige. It observes:

> "The Kennedy Administration has apparently set its heart on landing a man on the moon before the Soviet Union does so—not because it thinks that the moon is a particularly desirable spot to land on, but because it wants to avenge the loss of face suffered by the United States at the time of the first Sputnik. This is to misunderstand the true nature of that loss of face.
> "If the United States gets to the moon before the Soviet Union does, this will only prove that a capitalist society can waste its resources as effectively as a Communist one, once it sets its mind to doing so. It will not prove that there is a unique magic in American "Know-how," as used to be believed in the halcypn days before 1957.
> "The United States will gain a certain amount of prestige if an American is first on the moon. But this prestige will have to be paid for—and there is little sign that enough people in Washington have sat down to scrutinise the probable bill and attempted to balance the gains which are likely to accrue from spending the money in this way rather than in some other way.
> "Both Soviet and American commentators are apt to discuss the astronautical efforts of their respective countrymen as symbols of the spirit of man, reaching out for new worlds to conquer. In fact, the space race does have a symbolic value—but that is not it. What it symbolizes is the essential irrationality of a society dedicated to technical progress for its own sake."

This impartial but friendly advice by the Manchester Guardian merits serious consideration by the members of Congress whose responsibility it is to keep the cost of this space race within reasonable limits. Many of our own scientists are agreed that rushing to be first with a man on the moon will serve no practical purposes and probably will not be worth what it costs.

Forward We March

Under the provision of a House-passed military pay bill the members of the armed forces will get a pay raise of about 12.6 per cent. The bill, providing for an increased expenditure of $1.2 billion, was passed by a vote of 293 to 10; Quick Senate approval is expected.

This will be the first pay increase for the armed forces in five years, and considering the pay increases that have been voted for other federal employees it certainly is justified. The unfortunate thing is that this pay increase will be used as justification for the usual campaign-year pay increase that the other federal employees will get next year.

Practically everybody is now on the public payroll in one form or another, and of course the promising politicians are eager to please their masters. Unfortunately, we all will wind up getting less as this vicious circle of continuing pay increases continues.

All Is Well

The St. Paul Pioneer Press thinks Representative Adam Clayton Powell will get his trip to Europe at government expense despite a House vote to the contrary. It appears that the State Department has indicated a willingness to pick up the tab.

And the Pioneer Press is quite sure that lobbyist James O'Donnell, who represented the Philipines in a war damage claim bill, will probably get the large fees he had charged for his services in spite of Congressional disapproval. And so observes the newspaper editorially, "things seem to be pretty well back to normal in Washington.

It is encouraging to know, however, that Congress has taken action to force reasonable controls on the junkets. According to the New York Times:

> "This year some influential Congressmen decided that junketing excesses were giving Congress a bad name. In January the House cut all but a half-dozen of its committees off from counterpart funds. For the remaining committees, however, and for the Senate, the generous rules about counterpart funds remained.
> "Last week the House moved to tighten that loophole. By a vote of 384 to 2—a margin reflecting the political difficulty of voting to uphold junketing—it passed a resolution specifying that members of Congress traveling abroad on either appropriated or counterpart funds would have to adhere to the $30-a-day maximum to which Executive Branch employes are held or would have to submit receipts for every expenditure. Moreover, the resolution forbade travel at Government expense by lame ducks. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield expressed confidence that the Senate would also pass the measure."

Lincoln Said It

(Jordan Independent)

A century and more ago the phrase "welfare state" was not known. But the philosophy it describes was—and had been all through recorded history. And some of the greatest Americans warned tellingly against its dangers.

For instance, Abraham Lincoln said: "The legitimate object of government is to do for a community of people whatever they need to have done, but cannot do at all, or cannot so well do, for themselves, in their separate and individual capacities. In all that people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere."

Then long before that, Thomas Jefferson expressed the same philosophy in other words: "I place economy among the first and most important virtues, and public debt as the greatest of dangers to be feared. To preserve our independence, we must make our choice between economy and liberty or profusion and servitude. If we run into such debts, we must be taxed in our meat and drink, in our necessities and our comforts, in our labors and in our amusements. If we can prevent the government from wasting the labors of the people, under the pretense of caring for them, they will be happy."

We can profit, if we only will, from these wise words from the past.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor

KARL ROLVAAG

In my first special message to the legislature after assuming office, I asked for consideration of my "Full Employment of Resources" program. I first outlined the essentials of this program before the Hibbing Chamber of Commerce on July 31, 1962. This week I am happy to report that a vast, new natural resources program for Minnesota is underway. It is a long-range program that passed both houses of the legislature without a dissenting vote.

Original Proposal

My original proposal to develop and redevelop our precious natural resources envisioned a broad, sweeping program which would take ten years to complete. The plan called for an investment of about $53 million which would be financed by a penny a pack increase in cigarette taxes. Among the many original provisions were those to increase public access to lakes; increase wetlands, game refuges and wildlife production areas; provide timber stand improvement, site preparation and more tree planting; set aside new state parks and add acreage to existing parks; develop new camp sites and picnic areas; complete studies of all natural resources; topographic mapping of the entire state; and creation of a statewide natural resources and recreation committee to help plan for further resource development and recreational activity in Minnesota.

Helping Hands

As I pointed out in an earlier column, the Minnesota Natural Resources Council had developed a program very similar to mine, and the very able leadership of this group had already introduced much legislation to implement it prior to the time I became governor. With the support of this group and with the knowledge and assistance of several dedicated legislators, our two proposals were combined into one. I believe this spirit of good will and compromise, plus the knowledge that action on a long-range resources program was essential to the future welfare of the state, succeeded in obtaining unanimous support for this legislation from the legislature.

Successful Compromise

Some legislators felt that launching a ten year program was unwise. They believed that we should surely keep our eye on the long-range needs of the state, but that we should apply a step by step solution to these needs. So a compromise was reached and a new program is underway. During the next two years $7 million will be spent to initiate the program. It will be spent to purchase 14 new state parks and enlarge 20 existing parks; acquire wetlands; purchase a memorial hardwood forest; provide for camp grounds in state forests, historic sites, hydrologic studies, pike spawning areas, and typographic mapping. The entire program will be supervised by a newly created Minnesota Outdoor Recreation Resources Commission. This commission will survey all existing facilities and make recommendations for whatever facilities will be needed by the year 2,000.

Work Projects Essential

I have already issued orders that the public works conservation projects provided for by this legislation get underway as soon as possible. If humanly possible, I want people working on the approved conservation projects within two weeks. The bill provides $500,000 for these projects. I believe priorities for these projects should be give to areas of critical unemployement and for which matching federal aid funds are available. As in previous conservation works programs, unemployed and needy persons will receive priority to work in state forests, state parks and state-owned wildlife areas.

Red River Valley Study

The new natural resources bill also provides a $70,000 matching fund for use in a study of 22 Minnesota counties' water resources in the Red River Valley area. I have asked that plans to study streamflow, surface and ground waters and complete tests to determine the amount and quality of all waters in this area be started immediately. For the future economic growth and welfare of the people in this area, it is imperative that every possible water resource be explored and every means used to provide for its conservation and maximum use.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION...

...the "IMPOSSIBLE GOAL" that finally came true!

Back in the "depression days" of the 30's, less than one farm family in ten had electricity — or if they could get it, they couldn't afford it.

Then, in 1935, the Rural Electrification Administration was created. It had a basic purpose: to make funds available to provide for electricity in rural areas not being served.

In 1940, Minnkota Power Cooperative, Inc. came into being, when people like us got into the power business. We banded together, borrowed from REA, and built the lines to serve ourselves. Today, almost everybody in rural America is served. In the Minnkota area, there are more than 200,000 rural residents who rely on electric light and power as supplied by us. Since the start of REA, there have been more than 1½ million miles of line built by about 1,000 rural electrics like Minnkota to bring low-cost power to their rural neighbors. Minnkota Power Cooperative—like many other rural electrics—has made the "impossible goal" come true!

CLOSE CALL was this near-serious accident which occurred about 5 p.m. Monday. While Charlie Crabtree of Middle River was fishing near the dam on the Red Lake river in Thief River Falls, his car apparently decided to take a closer look at what was happening. With Mrs. Crabtree as a passenger, the car rolled down the embankment on the southeast side of the dam, crashing into a railing which kept it from plummeting into the churning waters below the dam. Mrs. Crabtree reported that she had tried to turn the car but was unable to do so as it rolled over the edge of the embankment and toward the river.

Jaycees Vehicle Safety Check To Be Held Friday

"Join the Circle of Safety—have your car checked and correct the present or potential safety hazards found." This is the encouragement offered to area motorists by James Dale, chairman of the Jaycees annual motor vehicle safety check, which will be held Friday from 11 a.m. to 5 p. m. The vehicle check will take place on First street between LaBree and Main avenues.

Through the cooperation of the Thief River Falls Automobile Dealers association, mechanics will assist the Jaycees in making the mechanical check of cars going through the voluntary check. Assistance will also be provided by the city police department and Pennington county sheriff's department.

Dale noted that the check of cars for safety hazards consists of little more than the motorist could do himself if he would take the time to do so. "By joining in a large project, however, the Jaycees hope to help motorists note defective equipment and suggest that the situation be remedied before the defect contributes to an accident," Dale said.

The vehicle safety check is entirely voluntary and no tickets will be issued by law enforcement agencies as a result of the check. Drivers will be provided with a check list which will indicate if their automobile is in need of repair. Cars which pass the test will be provided with "Circle of Safety" stickers which indicates that they have been inspected and approved.

Included in the vehicle check will be an inspection of headlights, tail lights, turn signals, windshield wipers, windshields and window glass, tires and brakes. Elaine's CHATTER

A woman went to the bank and said, "What do you mean, I'm over-drawn? He's under-deposited!"

The reason for such a remark can be answered by a poem we read some time ago.

"Man wants but little here below,
He is not hard to please,
But woman, bless her little heart,
Wants everything she sees!"

A visit to Elaine's is the answer to the whole thing. No woman with her wits about her can come in here without wanting every thing she sees. Can we help it if the styles are the best we've ever seen? Is it our fault that women come in with no intention of buying and go out with a big box?

Right now is the time to get that crisp, little cotton or voile for the dinner and dance at the Golf Club this Saturday night, go early, enjoy yourself and go home early.

Memorial Day is kind of a holiday for many. You make plans to visit the cemetery and take care of the little sprucing up around, you get up early and by the time you snip away at the tall grass etc. the pretty flowers you brought along are a bit wilted, but there still is a lot of satisfaction in doing it. People come from far and near and you kind of congregate and visit. You meet old school chums, some you haven't seen for years, everything is fine until someone says, "You haven't changed a bit" in that tone which means you are not any better looking than you ever were!" Or some tactless soul will remark, "My but you've gotten gray." You shrug your shoulders and think to yourself, 'It happens to the best of us.' Then on your way home you think to yourself . . . "I hope I don't look as old as that so-and-so . . . heaven forbid!"

It has been said that age mellows a person, a few gray hairs adds character, but how much character can you get? A woman can always do something about the whole thing, she can always keep herself well groomed and dressed for the occasion, look cool and comfortable and little thought will be given to age.

If you are going some place for Memorial Day, drive carefully we want you back, sound and healthy We do enjoy your pretty smile and crisp "how-de-do."

Early Cutting Helps In Forage Production

Three years of forage studies at the University of Minnesota have left no doubt about the value of cutting hay early. The studies show that for each day of delay in cutting hay after June 1, the feeding value of that hay drops by about one per cent per day, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent.

Of the total change in total digestible nutrients, about 56 per cent is during these first two weeks of June. Although early cutting may produce less total forage from each acre, the better quality means extra dollars from livestock feeding because of better use of the forage.

Early cutting is most critical with first crop hay. With alfalfa-brome mixtures, the production of total digestible nutrients can be equal to that from about 100 bushels of corn per acre. This forage had nearly three times as much protein as corn. Forage compares well with corn only when it has been cut early and handled properly.

Some trials involved cutting on or before June 14 and then taking two more cuttings during the rest of the summer. Other treatments involved taking the first cutting either June 23 or July 1 and then getting only one more cutting during that summer.

Yields of protein were 200 to 300 pounds more, and yields of TDN were 300 to 600 pounds more from three cuttings, compared with two. This extra protein or TDN will more than pay for the extra trip over the field.

Therefore, total yield of forage per acre is a poor basis for determining the success of a forage program. The improved quality of early cutting, figuring a 3-ton per acre yield, means $18 to $27 dollars more income from each forage acre.

This extra value can best be shown when the forage is fed to livestock. The extra protein and TDN from the three cuttings mean more animal production. An extra 300 pounds of protein and 400 pound of TDN will produce about 300 extra pounds of milk. At $.03 per pound, this is $30 extra income from each acre of early cut forage.

Some extra equipment, such as hay conditioners, mow drying systems or a new silo may be needed for early cutting. But the improvement you get from early cutting on 6 to 9 acres of hay crop forage producing 3 tons per acre will meet the annual cost of such equipment.

Three-time early cutting is a must when commercial fertilizer is used on forage crops. Fertilizer can't do the job by itself. But used in combination with timely harvest, it can bring more pounds of protein and TDN from each forage acre.

Dandelion Spray Advice Listed

County Agent Provides Information on 2,4-D

For lawn dandelion spraying use one tablespoon of 50 per cent strength 2,4-D Amine with enough water, and spray 1,000 square feet of lawn. If your 2,4-D is less than 50 per cent active then increase accordingly, reports Paul Stelmaschuk, county agricultural agent.

Lawns 50 x 160 have 8,000 square feet. Taking out room for the house (possibly 30 x 40, equals 120 square feet), this leaves 6,800 square feet to spray. This area would take about 6 tablespoons of 2,4-D mixed with at least six gallons (two, 3 gallon containers) of water to get good coverage. It is better to use more water and cover the area twice than to make the solution strong and try to stretch it over the lot.

If you should stop while spraying the strong solution or even just spraying too much of the correct mixture on one spot you can kill the lawn grass.

If you have white Dutch clover in your lawn don't use the above solution. Also make sure you spray on a quiet day to prevent drift to your own or your neighbors ornamentals, gardens or shrubbery. On farms after 2,4-D is used, animals can be safely fed the forage treated with 2,4-D.

Langen Calls for New Wheat Legislation

"The wheat farmers of America have proven once again that the voice of the people is louder than the voice of bureaucratic government," declared Congressman Odin Langen in commenting on the failure of the wheat referendum. "At least we know that neither the President, the Secretary of Agriculture nor any other segment of government is running this country to suit themselves, and that the people still go to the polls and vote their own convictions."

Langen added that "Congress now has a clear-cut responsibility of taking another hard look at the wheat scene as it relates to the over-all farm problem and the programs available for 1964. The outcome of the referendum proves the wisdom of my warnings a month ago that the feed grains bill should never have been passed before the wheat vote was taken. Feed grains legislation was passed primarily on the assumption that there would be a yes' vote in the referendum. In fact, it was used as a threat to wheat growers to convince them that no further legislation would be proposed this year.

This should prove to the Washington planners that America's farmers are tired of being offered take-it-or-leave-it" shotgun proposals and want a workable program that will give them freedom to farm without being caught under the dictatorial heel of complete government control. It's now up to the Congress to hammer out such a program that will bring stability and economic security to the breadbasket of the world. I'm ready to start this action."

May 22, 1963

Editor the Times:

I was one of the 6th grade class of Goodridge, Minn. that went to St. Paul on the tour of Minnesota on May 8, 9, 10 of 1963. You stated in your paper of May 20th that I liked the Cinerama the best on my trip which I did not say. I was the only one who did not go to the Cinerama. I stayed in my rooms at the Y. M. C. A.

I liked the Y. M. C. A. very much and also I liked Como Park.

Yours truly,
Virgil Phelps

Prowlers Advance to District Semi-finals

The Prowlers were forced into a come-from-behind effort to defeat Warren in a first-round District 31 high school baseball tournament game at Warren on Tuesday evening, defeating the Ponies, 6 to 5. Other first-round games found Red Lake Falls defeating the Climax Vikings, 15 to 6; and the Crookston Pirates edging the Oslo Bobcats, 7 to 6, in games played on Monday afternoon and evening. In an earlier game played on Tuesday afternoon, the Goodridge Huskies, with Dick Saurdiff gaining the win, defeated the Alvarado Indians, 7 to 6.

In semi-finals tournament play the Thief River Falls Prowlers will meet the Crookston Pirates at play scheduled for Thursday, May 30, at 6:00 p.m.; and the Red Lake will meet the Crookston Pirates at 6:00 p. m.; and the Red Lake Falls Eagles will play the Goodridge Huskies at 8:30 p. m. The championship finals will be played on Friday.

In the Prowlers vs. Ponies tilt on Tuesday evening, coach Jim Oftedahl's Warren club, with Wayne Strickler poling out a home run with one man on in the third inning, and Jerry Cook slamming out a solo home run in the fourth inning, gained a 4 to 1 lead after four innings of play. The Prowlers, on a double by Jerry Erickson, a stolen base and a wild pitch, scored in the bottom half of the first inning.

Tony Poole, following Cook's homer in the fourth, took over the Prowler pitching chores from starter Rick Jensen, and the senior righthander pitched hitless ball in the four innings that he hurled. The Ponies picked up a run in the sixth on three walks and an error, and moved into a 5 to 1 lead.

The Prowlers erupted for four runs in the sixth to tie the game. John Aune opened the inning with a double, and Poole followed with a home run over the left-field fence. Dave Erickson drew a walk; Dick Johnson gained first base on an error, with Erickson moving around to third base. A wild pitch scored Erickson, and Paul Klungness, pinch-hitting for Mark Anderson, drove a long fly to center field, with Johnson scoring after the catch, tying the score at 5-all.

In the game-winning seventh inning, with the Prowlers having last bats, Jack Leedahl opened with a walk; Aune sent a ground single into left field, with Leedahl stopping at second. Poole bounced into a force play, short to third. Erickson walked to fill the bases, and then Johnson also worked lefty Paul Knutson for a walk, forcing in Aune with the game-winning run.

96,000 Deer Bagged in 1962 Hunting Season

Minnesota's deer hunters continued to enjoy hunting success comparable to that of the leading states in the nation last year, according to Bernard A. Fashingbauer, research biologist for the Conservation Department.

Tabulations of the 1962 big game season reveal that slightly more than 244,000 Minnesota residents bagged approximately 96,000 deer, for a success ratio of almost 40 per cent. This is about the same success experienced in 1961 and also approximates the average hunting success of the past five years.

Almost 80 per cent of the 1962 harvest of deer occurred in the nine-day zone, with the greatest hunting success ratios experienced in the far northern counties, particularly Roseau, Lake of the Woods and Koochiching. Greatest total numbers of deer were reported killed in St. Louis and Itasca counties, however.

The 244,000 resident big game hunters in 1962 is a decrease of about 5,800 from 1961 and is believed largely due to the increase in the amount of area closed to deer hunting in 1962. Apparently many deer hunters prefer to hunt close to home and will not go hunting if the "old stamping grounds" is not open.

Over 67 per cent of the 1962 deer kill occurred during the first three days of the season, indicating that a longer season would not increase the size of the kill appreciably.

Graduates Urged to Secure Social Security Number

The social security office has good advice for high school graduates and for students seeking summer emloyment.

With summer approaching it is a good idea to apply for your social security number now, so you will have it when you start looking for that job. One of the first things your boss will ask is to see your social security card. He will need that number so that he can report your earnings to your social security account.

The application for a social security account number can be obtained from your local social security office or post office.

Frost May 22 Hits Valley Beet Crop

Necessary to Replant 1,800 Acres in Marshall

Jack Tanner, district manager of the American Crystal Sugar Company, said Friday, the overall beet crop outlook is very favorable. The crop has one of the best starts it has ever had in the valley.

Wednesday's morning frost caused some damage to the valley beet crop. Tanner said about 21,000 acres of beets in the valley will have to be replanted. He said there wasn't too much loss around the Crookston and East Grand Forks areas.

Heavy losses were suffered in the Ada, Halstad, Hendrum and Moorhead areas with some damage around Warren. About 1,800 acres will have to be replanted in Marshall County.

Tanner said most of the replanting was completed last week. He said with the good moisture and good seed beds, the beets should come through to make a good crop. Even with the replanting the crop is much earlier than last year.

There are 120,000 acres of beets contracted for in the valley, according to Tanner.

National Guard Is Seeking Recruits

Minnesota Division Is Given Special Mission

A special mission involving cold weather and Arctic training has been assigned to the Minnesota Army National Guard. With this assignment the 47th Infantry Division was authorized an advanced readiness status and increased strength allotment sufficient to enable them to perform the new mission.

The new authorization puts the 47th Division at 70 per cent of full strength. The former Minnesota Guard level was 60 per cent.

To reach their new strength, the Guard is conducting an intensified recruiting campaign. The bulk of the new manpower will consist of men with no previous military service. These men will serve six months of active duty training at regular Army training camps and return to their home communities to fulfill the balance of their military obligation with their local Guard unit.

Young men in either category who are interested in being members of the Guard should inquire at their local armory.

Badger Club Bows to TRF Bums 10-2

Grygla Faces Local Club Here on Memorial Day

Manager Erv Melvie's Thief River Falls Bums won their first Pen-Ro-Shall league baseball game on Sunday afternoon when, in a game that was transferred to the Badger diamond because of the wet grounds at Thief River Falls, they defeated Badger, 10 to 2.

On Thursday, May 30, the Grygla team will play the Bums on the Fair Grounds diamond. Other league games slated for Memorial Day will find Badger at Greenbush, and Middle River at Gatzke. Vassar drew a bye. The schedule for Sunday, June 2, will have the highly-rated Middle River team playing at Thief River Falls; Vassar at Badger; and Grygla at Gatzke.

In Sunday's game at Badger, the Bums received exceptional pitching from Ike Ellingson, with the righthander having 18 strikeouts in the seven innings that he pitched. Dennis Bakke had four strikeouts in the two innings he hurled.

The Bums clubbed the offerings of the Badger hurler for twelve hits, with Ellingson having three hits in four tries, and Gene Halvorson collecting three hits in five trips to the plate.

Six Out of 10 Cases Heard by Judge Are Result of Speed Laws

Ten cases were tried in Thief River Falls municipal court recently with speeding being the major cause of most cases being brought to trial before Judge Stanley N. Mortenson.

On May 23, the county sheriff's department brought James Swan of Newfolden to trial on a charge of petty larceny by check. He was given a 15-day suspended jail sentence and made restitution.

Highway patrol cases on Monday included Erwin Martz, Lincoln, Neb., drive through stop sign, $15 bond forfeited; and Kenny Hojo, Gardena, Calif., speed, $17.50 bond forfeited.

Police cases Monday included Mrs. Shirley Hemmestvedt, city, speed, fined $15 with $5 suspended; Ollie Ellingson, city, and Darryl Stromberg, rt. 3, Roseau, speed, each fined $17 with $6 suspended; Alvin Wensman, Robbinsdale, speed $17 bond forfeited; Leland Nelson, rt. 1, TRF, speed, fined $24 with $8 suspended; Rene Reopelle, rt. 1, Red Lake Falls, failure to yield right-of-way, accident involved, fined $35; and Stanley Lemky, rt. 2, TRF, improper registration on truck, fined $15.

Stewart Attends Engineers Parley

Conference Conducted at 'U' M. Last Saturday

Nearly 100 professional engineers from all parts of Minnesota met for a chapter officers' conference at the University of Minnesota on Saturday, May 25, Harlan E. Schmidt, Mankato, president of the Minnesota Society of Professional Engineers, announced. The purpose of the session was to train effective leaders for the profession and the community.

Pierce G. Ellis, vice president of the Wisconsin Public Service Corporation's division of operations at Oshkosh, Wisconsin, was the keynote speaker.

Other conference leaders conducted workshops on such subjects as "Professional Growth", "Ethics for Engineers", "How to Accomplish Legislation", "Educational Guidance in the High School", "A More Effective Registration Law" and "What Makes News?" Among the instructors was Douglas H. Stewart of TRF, past president of the state society.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Watch the 'Lumberjacks'

Coach Rod Max will be directing the Prowler track and field squad for the last time on Saturday when the blue-and-gold thinclads participate in the Region Eight tournament in Bemidji. Rod will be coaching the International Falls Broncos next season.

*The Prowlers have been success*ful in defending their Northwest conference and district track titles this season, but the odds are that the up-and-coming Bemidji squad will win the Region Eight title on Saturday.

Even if Paul Klungness had been hale and hearty and eligible to compete in four events, as he has been doing for the past couple of seasons, the Prowlers would have been hard-pressed to hold off the Jacks. Paul will be eligible for only one event on Saturday, the broad jump, and it's doubtful if he will be able to produce a first-place jump in the event. The muscle injury that he incurred in his left thigh last Saturday continues to be troublesome.

But the Prowlers' prospects are not hopeless even though they will miss Paul's "twenty points". There are some top-flight competitors on the squad, and with Steve Mittelstadt in the hurdles and the high jump, Brian Lofberg and Jim Ranum in the discus, Ron Olson and Rich Nelson in the dash events, Ron Shaft in the broad jump, Eli Lee in the pole vault, Art Koglin in the half-mile, Rolf Wangberg and Joel Headley in the mile, and the two relay teams competing, the Jacks will not be able to "loiter" to the title.

There are several appealing events that should prove exciting, and perhaps produce record-making results. The mile run (the record is held by the Prowlers' Rolf Wangberg in the time of 4:40.4) will be the most hotly-contested. Gary Lockner of Bemidji, who won the conference title in the time of 4:40.7, will be competing, and he will be up against Wangberg and Joel Headley of the Prowlers, and also Gary Mekash of Greenbush and Gary Lyons of Baudette. This should develop into the "race of the tournament".

And the relay events, the 880-yard and the mile, should see the Bemidji vs. Prowlers rivalry being continued. And the Bemidji squad will have to turn in record-breaking time if they are to defeat the Prowlers.

The Softball Opener

The 1963 city softball league schedule opened on Monday evening, at the East Side diamond, and the Bridgeman's team, the Mets of the league, scored a 12 to 7 win over the youthful Western Oil & Fuel team.

The Bridgeman's, with such veterans as Bob Carlson, Irv Wilson, John Drury, Dick Williams, and Marv Lundin in the lineup, and getting the assistance of Sid Vrana in the opener, proved to have too much experience for the Westerns. The only "bonus" player on the roster of the Bridgeman's is Roddy Carlson, who played center field.

The Western Oil & Fuel squad is composed of high school youths, and before the schedule is completed this team will provide some surprises. Warren Hanestad pitched for the Westeran, with Mark Steen doing the catching, and this battery is capable enought for city softball league play. Dale Seefeldt, centerfielder for the Westerns, poled out a pair of home runs; and DelRay Offerdahl, second baseman of the Mets, I mean Bridgeman's, also hit a home run.

Next week's schedule will find the Bridgeman's playing the Hamm's Beer on Monday night; the Hartz Stores team playing the Western Oil on Tuesday evening; the National Guard meeting the Rasmussen Insurance on Wednesday evening; and the Bridgeman's facing the V. F. W. on Thursday evening.

It's About Time

It's about time that the fishing reports from Lake of the Woods are favorable. And that's the reports that I have received this past week. Sunday's fishing, at Buffalo Point and Morris Point, especially, produced limit catches as a rule. And there are reports that fine walleyes were caught, in the vicinity of Buffalo Point, with frogs being used as bait. Marland Johnson, fishing with Jerry Amundgaard and Lloyd Hogenson, picked up a frog while on shore, and in spite of the skeptical comments of Jerry and Lloyd, he used the frog as a lure, and caught a fine walleye. And Carl Rupprecht, fishing with Cliff and Olaf Jorde, had the same experience, and also at Buffalo Point. This is something new for Lake of the Woods.

The long-range forecast, for the weekend, is for a moderation in the cold weather that has prevailed, and if this mild weather occurs, there will be a vast army of anglers on the lake on Memorial Day and on Saturday and Sunday. The fishermen deserve a break or two.

Sid to New London

Sid Vrana, former Prowler baseball, hockey and football star, who has been coaching at Browns Valley, will be coaching football and wrestling at New London high school next season.

Sid holds the Prowler football single game and season's scoring marks. In 1954, playing against the Crookston Pirates, Sid scored five touchdowns and placekicked four conversion points for a 34-point effort. And during the 1954 season, Sid scored 18 touchdowns and 23 placement kicks for a total of 131 points. Sid was named to Ted Peterson's all-state football squad in 1954.

New Resources Law to Expand State Parks

The much discussed natural resources bill became law May 20, after being signed by Governor Rolvaag. The legislature had passed the bill May 17.

In its final form the act calls for the expenditure of about 7 million dollars through the year 1965 for the acquisition of recreation areas and development of natural resources.

The final version was hammered out in a conference committee after differences were observed in the two bills passed by the House and Senate previously.

Although the bill only provides appropriations through 1965, it states that the purpose of the act is to lay the basis for establishing a long term, comprehensive program.

It also declares that the one cent a pack tax on cigarettes, provided to finance the program, "will be adequate to insure funds for carrying out the program for the period of years necessary for its accomplishment."

Major provisions of the bill are as follows—

(1) Land acquisition in new and existing state parks.

In addition, $944,000 is provided for the development and improvement of state parks for the two year period 1964-65. Special state park appropriations are provided for the acquistion and development of Savanna Portage state park ($263,000), Tower Soudan state park ($122,000), historic sites ($80,000) and Fort Snelling state park ($400,000).

(2) The bill provides that $400,000 be made available from the general revenue fund immediately lands, the amount to be repaid to the general revenue fund from subsequent cigarette tax receipts. This will allow the conservation department's game and fish division to exercise most of the options they presently hold on wetlands. At the present time the division has options to about $500,000 worth of wetlands.

An additional $300,000 are provided for the two year period for the development of wildlife management areas, spawning areas, sites for public access and improvement of lakes and streams. Another $150,000 is provided for the two years for acquisition of land and water rights for spawning sites.

(3) The land acquisition program in the Memorial Hardwood Forest is provided with $300,000 for the two years; $200,000 is set aside for increasing production at state tree nurseries and $300,000 for tree planting on state land. Another $100,000 is earmarked for state forest campgrounds.

Other appropriations are made for topographic, geological and mineral mapping; contributions to watershed district and soil and water conservation projects, a study of the Red River basin, development of roads within state forests and administration.

The bill also provides an immediate appropriation of $500,000 to be used in distressed areas of the state to put unemployed and needy persons to work on conservation work projects.

Another feature of the bill is the creation of a 14 member legislative commission to advise and consult with the Commissioner of Conservation on the administration of the program.

Seven members are to be appointed from the Senate and seven from the House of Representatives.

Work Started on Highway Striping

Motorists Warned to Avoid Painting Units

Minnesota's trunk highways are getting their annual paint-up, and the Minnesota highway department cautions motorists to be observant of the slow moving units used in painting center and edge lines on the highways.

Two types of units are used. One is truck mounted and the other is self-propelled and resembles an overgrown motor scooter. Both move at about seven miles per hour.

Last year the department's nine painting crews, with five men to each unit, applied 13,383 miles of center lines, 6,105 miles of edge striping and 2,225 miles of yellow no-passing striping. Each crew applies about 50 miles of striping daily.

The miles of striping applied are not equivalent to highway miles, since they include striping on multi-lane highways and edge markings on both sides of highways.

The department last year used 177,315 gallons of reflectorized paint—paint with tiny glass beads mixed-in to reflect light.

This year the department plans to increase highway painting by about 10 per cent, weather permitting, and expects to use almost 200,000 gallons of paint. Center lines on a highway last for about a year under heavy traffic, but in areas of low traffic volumes they last for about three years, as do edge markings.

The paint crews will be working on the highways throughout the summer, until the weather prohibits such painting. The crews do not work during peak traffic hours or immediately before and after a holiday.

WEATHER has been unusual, to say the least, during the first part of spring in northwestern Minnesota. Bob Carlson, left, Thief River Falls, chats with Hallock Police Chief Jerry Jackson after a storm May 16 dropped an inch of hail in 15 minutes. Three inches rain accompanied the hail during the disturbance at Hallock. Hail was said to be small in size but large in volume and Carlson said he considered it fortunate that his car did not sustain any glass breakage. The above photo was taken by Hugh Allan of the Winnipeg Tribune who, like Carlson, was at Hallock to check on a traffic fatality.

State Park Rules Restrict Youths

Overnight Group Campers Must Include One Adult

Minnesota's director of state parks, U. W. Hella, today announced that overnight group visitors at state parks must be accompanied by at least one member 19 years of age or over.

Hella said the policy has been in effect for some time but that many people are unaware of it. The purpose of the policy, he said, is to make adults responsible for the actions of the group.

He also urged that day-use youth groups be accompanied by responsible adults. Use of intoxicating liquor is also prohibited in state parks, Hella said.

He cited a recent occurrence in Whitewater state park where a group of high school seniors, who were apparently drunk, broke all of the windows out of the men's rest room in the camp ground.

Some girls in the same party were found pounding on a coin operated popcorn machine in order to extract the popcorn without paying for it.

"We regret the necessity for this restricting policy," he said, "but it has become necessary, in order to protect public property and the rights of other state park users."

Road Work to Halt for Memorial Day

Highway Department to Clear Way for Traffic

Motorists traveling Minnesota state highways on Memorial Day will find the road ahead clear of highway workers and construction equipment, according to the Minnesota Highway Department.

Work on state highway construction and maintenance projects will be suspended for Memorial Day to ease the flow of heavy holiday traffic. Work will stop Wednesday evening, May 29, and contractors will be permitted to resume work Friday morning, May 31. However, emergency work, if any, will continue or be undertaken where necessary.

Precautions will be taken to eliminate hazards and to minimize inconvenience to motorists due to construction and maintenance, the department reports. Highway department crews will check barricades and detour signs to eliminate any potential traffic hazards.

"There is a fifth freedom, and that is the freedom to compete. The more efficient we are in our professions, the more buoyant is our economy. More Trouble?

The government of Panama is demanding more concessions from us in our operation of the Canal Zone, and wants them in a hurry. A new treaty with enormous economic advantages for Panama is the target.

Ralph Skinner, writing in the Christian Science Monitor, says the United States is unlikely to agree to a new treaty until a decision has been reached about constructing a new sea-level canal. He concludes:

"Informed sources say it may be two or three years before the United States makes a decision on this matter. Panama wants treaty negotiations to start as soon as possible. And, in the meantime, every possible concession will be wrung from the United States, according to reliable local sources."

It looks like this might be another trouble spot in the making, here in our own back yard.

Cooperation Counts

The St. Paul Pioneer Press tells us that criminals fleeing major crimes in the metropolitan area of our state "will not find escape simple or easy in the future." It comes to this conclusion because:

"In a project, unique for the scope of its cooperation, some 60 metropolitan communities will join in a road-block network which will put 350 police vehicles in strategic positions in the area within two minutes after an alert. The plan involves nearly 1,000 law enforcement offcers, including city police, FBI men, sheriff deputies, state highway patrolmen and state crime bureau representatives."

Inter-communication radio has been a very effective aid to law enforcement agencies thruout the state. Law enforcement officials in radio equipped patrol cars are alerted immediately and are kept informed about developments from central stations.

This service is much more effective as larger areas cooperate with each other, and it is good to know that 60 communities in the metropolitan area are organizing to establish an effective road-block network. Actually our police system is now pretty well organized not only on a state-wide basis but also on an interstate and international basis as well.

Our law enforcement agencies here in Northwestern Minnesota are alerted if there may be a need for checks on traffic from other areas of Minnesota, or from North Dakota or Canada. And cooperation among the county and city officials in the area has brought good results on several occasions.

Japan and May 17th

May 17 is recognized hereabouts as the Norwegian 4th of July. It was interesting for us therefore to learn that May 17 is also regarded as an important date in Japan. In the seaside town of Shimoda, located south of Tokyo on the seast coast, May 17 is celebrated as the anniversary of the arrival of an American fleet, under the command of Commodore Mathew Galbraith Perry, who moved in to "request" the establishment of trade relations between Japan and the United States. That was in the year 1853.

That was 110 years ago, but it is interesting to know that Japan now appreciates our military "intrusion." The following report is borrowed from the New York Times, written by A. M. Rosenthal:

"Shimoda, one of Tokyo's weekend resorts, now regards Commodore Perry as a kind of patron saint of commerce who began a plump tourist trade for the town. Once a year, Shimoda bedecks itself in fond and profitable memory of the man who brought Japan into reluctant contact with the world in 1853 by suddenly appearing to request trade relations between Japan and the United States—with a squadron of fearsome looking black warships to give point to his arguments.

"As a result of Perry's persuasive visit, Japan's feudal rulers agreed to open the port of Shimoda to American trade. It was here that Townsend Harris, the New York merchant who made his fortune sailing with his own ship in eastern waters, opened the first United States consulate in Japan.

"Shimoda has industriously made Commodore Perry its personal property. The "black ships" that once so terrified the Japanese have become a friendly symbol. There are Black Ship bars and restaurants in town, Black Ship candies, cakes and towels, Black Ship toys, soap and movies, and even a Black Ship geisha dance. When a railroad spur was opened to Shimoda a year or so ago, it was hailed by the town as the opening of a 'second Black Ship Years'."

It is good to know that the Japanese now look upon the visit of Commodore Perry as a friendly and neighborly act that opened the door for them to a new world. And considering the fact that our two nations now have much to forgive each other, maybe we are well on the way to an understanding of each other that will lead to a lasting peace.

The Wheat Referendum

Wheat growers have rejected the government's ultimatum. They had been told to approve the plan that was being offered to them or they would get nothing. Under the circumstances, the developments between now and the start of next year's planting season should be quite interesting.

Most of our farm program needs a thorough overhauling. It got off to a bad start, favoring tobacco and peanuts and rice as basic agricultural products. The southerners had pretty much their own way when the program was started. Even our present crazy wheat program favored southern states, encouraging wheat acreage in areas where wheat had never been an important crop. Good milling wheat has been the product largely of the northern prairie states, but has received no special consideration. The cotton program has not been in the best interests of the South.

The first step that should be taken would be to get the Department of agriculture out of politics. Under its present leadership it is strictly a political machine, functioning solely for partisan political purposes. In the best interests of all of agriculture this mess should be cleaned up at once.

For the long range future of agriculture the producers should be encouraged to organize by segments and gradually give direction to their own production and marketing problems. The government should gradually get out of the driver's seat. That change must come gradually. But very abruptly and all of a sudden there should be an end to the crack-the-whip tactics, and the orders that are handed down from on high with instructions that "you will take this or you will get nothing."

Possibly the wheat growers' vote will result in a more sensible and realistic approach to the entire problem.

Sugar Price Control

(Wall Street Journal)

It would be hard to label the Government's 29-year-old sugar controls a total flop. Most of the time, rigid regulation of imports has kept prices pretty stable, and that was a large part of the purpose. But it has been a costly stability.

In the first place, it has been costly to American consumers. The controlled U. S. price generally has ranged above the price on the world free market, so consumers have, in effect, been subsidizing sugar producers abroad.

For a long time politicians argued that these subsidies were a form of foreign aid, helping to make friends for the U. S. around the globe. Little more need be said about the effectiveness of this sort of "aid" than to recall that the chief recipient was now-Communist Cuba. All along, in fact, the sugar program has been costing the U. S. friends abroad, as foreign nations have bickered about the import quotas that serve as passports to the lucrative American market.

By last year, everything was in such a mess that Congress decided on an overhaul. But not by returning sugar to a really free market, where the U.S. consumer might get a break, and prices would be set by supply and demand. Instead, the lawmakers passed one of the most complex pieces of legislation ever.

A new "tax" was levied on sugar importers to recapture the subsidy to sugar producers—not for the consumer but for the government. Part of Cuba's former quota was parceled out among other producers, causing tempers to flare both here and overseas. One Latin nation, in fact, was so incensed that it took the odd step of threatening to refuse Alliance-for-Progress aid unless its sugar quota was raised (it was).

Somewhat hesitantly, Congress decided to rely on the free market for the rest of Cuba's old quota. Now, to the horror of a number of Congressmen, a drastic drop in Cuba's output is helping push prices up on the world market. Some other producers, hoping for still higher prices, are holding back on filling their U. S. quotas. The only solution these Congressmen can see is to return to complete controls.

In today's conditions, that might or might not restore stable prices. Even if it did it would be a sugar stability which has long since turned bitter for every housewife.

Thirty-six years ago this week a young man from Minnesota gained the adulation of an admiring world when he spanned the ocean, non-stop, from New York to Paris in about 33 hours. Last week, another young American circled the world in outer space 22 times in just about the same length of time. From Lindbergh to Cooper is little more than a generation but science has made unbelievable progress in that short period.

PIONEERS For TOMORROW
Pioneers are as plentiful today as ever . . . indeed, in this world of ever-new frontiers, you too, are a pioneer.
As such, you bear great responsibility, for defined, "a pioneer is one who goes before, preparing the way for others to follow."
The Church reaches out to you in greatest urgency. It needs you to help, by example and precept, combat the greed and intolerance that today threaten our world.
The Church needs you as another pioneer in Christian example and thinking. You can help prepare the way for others by promoting generosity, kindliness, and love toward all other human beings.
Through the Church you can, as a pioneer, strive most effectively toward generous, tolerant tomorrows for your fellowmen.
THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

152 Diplomas Awarded at Commencement Exercises

Dr. Fjelstad Is Speaker; Mostue Delivers Welcome

Names of 152 Lincoln high school seniors were presented for graduation at commencement ceremonies held Wednesday evening in the Lincoln high school gymnasium in Thief River Falls. Two of the persons whose names were presented by Richard Edlund, senior high school principal, were not present to receive their diplomas.

Absent were Linda Cameron, senior class member who was killed the previous Saturday morning in a one-car traffic accident, and Robert Ihle, driver of the car, who was hospitalized for injuries received in the crash. Edlund made mention of the absence in presenting the class prior to awarding of diplomas by Lloyd Howick, chairman of the board of education.

Dr. Ralph S. Fjelstad, chairman of the political science department at Carleton college in Northfield, delivered the commencement address on the theme, "Ideas Are Weapons". He challenged the students to "be different" and not to conform to a practice simply because it has been done that way in the past.

He urged the graduates to have private convictions and to give and be able to take constructive criticism. Activities in life have a priority pattern, he told the class, and individuals must decide for themselves which activities will be given priority.

Big Gathering at Memorial Rites

Encouraged by ideal summer weather, the largest gathering in recent years, numbering several hundred persons, attended Memorial Day exercises Thursday in the attractive setting provided by the natural amphitheatre in Riverside park.

John Elsbrener, Legion post commander, presided over the program, which was preceded by a parade from the city auditorium to the park, headed by the color guard and Legion municipal band.

The Rev. Reuben A. Wangberg, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, delivered the address, urging his hearers to remember the nation's honored dead, lying throughout the world, for their sacrifices and for their dreams and hopes.

While war is a curse, taking a terrible toll in lives and property, he said, we should not refuse to pay the cost of maintaining our freedoms. He raised the question whether the American people could deserve the blessings of God when so large a proportion of the people remain unchurched, and he counseled his hearers to heed "the still small voice of God."

The exercises opened with the advance of the colors, a selection by the band, invocation by the Rev. Keough Patnode, pastor of St. Bernard's Catholic church and two numbers by the Legion auxiliary chorus.

Following Rev. Wangberg's address, Roy Jorgenson, past Ninth district comander of the VFW, recited the "Tribute to an Unknown Soldier", after which symbolic wreaths were placed by Mrs. Walter Halvorson, past president of the Legion auxiliary, and Mrs. Arnold Kelley, president of the VFW auxiliary.

The program closed with a salute to the colors by the firing squad of Company B of the National Guard, the sounding of taps, the rendition by the band of "The Star-Spangled Banner", and the benediction by Father Patnode.

National President Speaks Here

Nearly 1,000 persons filled the National Gaurd armory in Thief River Falls to capacity Saturday evening to hear Orin Lee Staley of Rea, Mo., national president of the National Farm Organization (NFO). Comprised mainly of farmers from Pennington, Red Lake and Polk counties, the crowd several times broke into applause as Staley told them what they had apparently come to hear.

A robust man with a healthy tan and a voice which would do justice to any traveling evangelist, Staley told his audience that "...the Joes of the industry set the price" on farm commodities. The goal of the NFO is to have the farmers set their own price through collective bargaining. "What is good for other business should be good for us too," he said.

Staley, who was to have appeared at a similar gathering here last winter but was unable to attend due to bad weather, outlined four steps for solution of the cost-price squeeze.

Step I he said was to "organize until you have accomplished all of your objectives". There is no chance of getting a better price by selling individually, he said.

Step II in the program was to bring together enough of the total production to affect the total supply. All agricultural commodities must be controlled in this situation, he said, since a price increase accomplished in one commodity would be an incentive for other producers to start producing that commodity and the market would collapse.

Step III would be to make collective bargaining power felt. "This is where we finally come down to the success of the program," Staley said. "At this point is where we go to the processor and say 'what will you give me' or where we say 'this is the price we want'. In this instance we have only one tool to use, and that is a holding action." This statement met with a thunder of applause.

A holding action would be used only when necessary, Staley said, and then noted that every other segment of business has a holding action every day. "Ther is no other business," he said, "where the price is not set even before

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. GIL SANNES

A new "twist" to the familiar standby, the meat loaf, is this meat roll. Mrs. Gil Sannes, a farm homemaker, and a woman active in many and varied pursuits, calls this a great favorite, listing its palatability and suitability for any occasion as several of her reasons for liking it.

MEAT ROLL

- 2 lbs. ground beef
- 1 egg beaten
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- 3 cups of your favorite bread dressing, unbaked
- 2 onions, chopped fine
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup catsup or chili sauce

Combine egg and milk and add bread crumbs. Soak for ten minutes. Add beef, onions, salt and pepper, and mix well. Spread out on a sheet of greased or oiled wax paper to a thickness of ¾ inch. On top of this meat mixture spread the dressing. Roll up, jelly-roll fashion, and ease into a shallow baking pan. Carefully remove the wax paper. . .this will be easy to do, provided you have oiled the paper sufficiently. Spread catsup over all. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Slice and serve.

Mrs. Sannes likes to prepare this with baked potatoes and-or scalloped corn, utilizing the oven heat to best advantage.

Among the things Mrs. Sannes does for diversion are sewing, upholstering, gardening, canning, and a whale of a job of homemaking. She is also socially active. They have two sons, Gene is married and attending college in Bemidji at present, but soon to transfer to the UND. He is majoring in speech therapy. John, also a graduate of Lincoln high school of this city, and of the AC at Crookston, assists his father in operating the farm. They are located four miles north of town. The elder Mr. Sannes owns the farm jointly with a brother, who is employed by the Soo Line as an engineer and who makes his home with them.

Reserve District Is Moving on 'Even Keel'

The Ninth district economy appears to be moving along at about an even keel, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis in the current issue of its Monthly Review. Although little evidence exists yet to show a strong upthrust, such as various indicators have suggested at the national level, district business men in general are expressing optimism about current prospects.

Automobile and farm machinery dealers, particularly, have been enjoying favorable sales in recent weeks. Total nonfarm employment and personal income continue to expand at modest rates, while department store sales and total bank debits both have recorded substantial gains from spring figures a year ago.

The district crop production season is off to a good start. The bank reports unusually favorable surface and subsoil moisture conditions thus far, and heavy spring rains are reported to have improved irrigation water supplies to near-record levels for the western areas of the region.

Farm incomes thus far in 1963 have managed to exceed those of early 1962, but drastic price declines for cattle have hurt. Many feeders report losses in their operations, which means heavy production credit requirements in the feeding areas to finance seasonal farm operations this spring and summer.

The first quarter of 1963 continued to show substantial strength on the district financial scene. Member bank credit expanded at a rate above seasonal expectations, altho even this marks a slowdown from the rapid rate of increase experienced in the final months of 1962. Time deposits also showed a significant extra-seasonal growth in the first quarter of 1963. Despite a rise in the loan-deposit ratio, district banks did not appear hampered by liquidity needs over the quarter. Excess reserves increased by a little more than $2 million, and the level of member bank borrowings from the Federal Reserve bank continued to be negligible. April offers some evidence of a slight drop in district bank credit and demand deposits, both of which declined relative to normal seasonal expectations, the bank concluded.

TODAY is graduation day for Miss Carol Nesland, who this morning received her bachelor of science degree in business education from Concordia college at Moorhead. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Nesland of this city, she will teach next fall at Central high school in Pueblo, Colorado.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

I thought that you would be interested in knowing that Charles (Chuck) Rambeck arrived in Colombia and will be working with me here in Jardin. I think it is rather by coincidence that two home town boys happen to be working in the same pueblo.

While here Chuck will be my partner and will assist me with the projects we are now working on. These projects will consist of forming citizen councils, building schools, bridges, roads and working on reforestation and conservation projects.

So far he seems pretty happy and I don't think it will be long until he catches on to the hang of things.

I will send some pictures later on, also a report of our activities.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

Get Freezer Ready for New Crops of Vegetables, Fruits

Defrosting the home freezer is one of those jobs most homemakers put off as long as possible .. but done now it's quality insurance for the crop of spring and summer vegetables and fruits you plan to freeze.

Allowing too thick a layer of frost to accumulate reduces the efficiency of operation and utilizes too much space. Another reason for defrosting and cleaning out the freezer in the spring is to take inventory of foods that are stored, use those that have been stored longest and organize the freezer for the new crops of vegetables and fruits.

When frost becomes 1/3 inch thick, it's time to scrape it from chest-type units. When the frost is thicker, the chest should be defrosted complety. Since scraping the frost is not as easy with upright models, complete defrosting may be necessary.

For quick methods of defrosting the freezer, here are some suggestions.

Disconnect the freezer. Remove the food, placing it in a paper carton and covering it with a thick blanket to prevent the food from thawing. Place large bath towels in the bottom of the freezer to catch the ice and absorb water. Direct an electric fan into the freezer to loosen the ice and then scrape it off with a wooden spoon, plastic scraper or rubber spatula. Thawing may be hastened by placing pans of hot water in the freezer and closing the lid or door for half an hour or so.

After defrosting the freezer, wash the inside with warm baking soda solution (3 tablespoons to 1 quart water) or with a synthetic detergent solution. Wipe dry, turn on the electricity and return the food to the freezer after remaining moisture has frozen.

Covering shelves of upright freezers with aluminum foil will make frost removal easier next time.

ASSISTANCE to a resident of one of six nursing and boarding care homes in Thief River Falls is being provided above as he leaves the mobile x-ray unit of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association. About 150 persons in the six homes were x-rayed as well as other "high risk" persons in the area. The mobile unit will be in the area two weeks, serving nursing and boarding care homes, positive reactors to mantoux tests and migrant workers, according to Kenneth Taylor of Thief River Falls, regional manager of the Christmas Seal organization.

The Library Corner

Summer time, with its lazy ways, is such a good time for reading, isn't it?

Lucky for Thief River Falls citizens their reading pleasure is assured so long as they have a public library card, . .a sure-fire ticket to vacation pleasures, whether the heart's desire is a flight through space or a trip deep into fairytale country, or a drive through wooded wonderland.

Vacation time is a time of change and meeting new faces, of revisiting old scenes and seeking new ones. . .and where can you see more, do more, or enjoy more, be it people, places and things, than you can through borrowing volumes from your library? No distance is too far to travel, no map too complicated, no people and customs so strange that you can't visit them and get to know them, intimately, through reading about them.

Unfortunately, with the closing of school doors, young people frequently close their minds, too, for the summer and stash them away, apprently, to let them simmer in the knowledge acquired through the winter months. Parents, perhaps, should occasionally remind them that summer time is not mental stagnation time, but a period to develop new thoughts about new subjects untouched upon during the past school year; and explain a widening of their horizons does not mean the type of broadening such as is frequently caused from sitting too long in too comfortable a chair, doing absolutely nothing.

Your library has a long, carefully evaluated list of reading material which is compiled especially for the college-bound student; however, it is available for all to use whether college-bound or rocker-bound. There are other available lists, too, such as the "Good Reading" and the "Basic Books" catalogues, not to mention the elementary list provided by the ALA (American Library Association.).

However, it is not necessary to read a list before you choose a book! The shelves are so full of excellent volumes it is pretty safe to say a book could be selected with shut-tight eyelids and outstretched arm and the choice would be enjoyable, for one literary reason or another.

For some of us, summer-time is hobby-time, too. For the budding artist, most especially the china painter (a nearly lost art, by the way, once again coming to the fore) there's a new selection which is as lovely to look at, with its white and gold cover touched with pink roses, as it is interesting to read, even though you've no intention of dabbling in paint, except maybe the fence-whitewash or the barn-red-buckets. The name of the volume is "Painting China for Pleasure and Profit" and it is written and illustrated by Ruth Little. You'll enjoy reading it. . . whether you do it carefully or casually.

If making money (the usable kind, not the artistic counterfeiting kind) is your favorite passtime, (whatever the season of the year), then "How to Make Money in the Commodity Market" is for you! Written by Robert L. Gardner, the factors and fundamentals are interestingly, intelligently and comprehensively put into the book.

If snooping and reading other people's mail (for shame!) is on your list of "things I am interested in". . .or if you're a fan of Herbert Hoover, or if you like to know about children and the things they have on their minds. . .then read "On Growing Up" compiled by Mr. Hoover from his letters to and from America's young. It is a different kind of a book and one you're sure to like.

If you are one who likes to look up facts and figures then by all means spend some of your summer hours gleaning tidbits of knowledge from the brand new, up-to-the-second "Collier's Encyclopedia" now gracing your library's reference shelves section. See you browsing around soon!

NW Bell To Change To 7-Number System

Effective with publication of the 1963 directory, Northwestern Bell Telephone company will change all remaining two-letter, five-numeral phone numbers in Thief River Falls to the seven-numeral numbering plan. The change was announced last week in letters to subscribers.

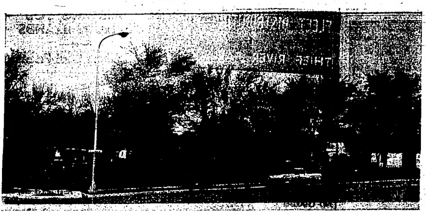
"In effect, the only change will be to translate the two letters of the present prefix (M and U) into their corresponding numerals on the dial (6 and 8). For example, the number MU 1-3031 will be shown 681-3031," the letter states.

"Since mid-1961, we have been assigning seven numeral numbers here to everyone who applied for new service or made some change in a directory listing," stated James Wilson, local company manager. "As a result, many Thief River Falls telephone customers now have seven numberal numbers. When the remaining two-letter, five-numeral numbers are changed next December, it will result in a uniform numbering system."

While numbers will change in appearance only, the telephone company reminds business subscribers to keep the change in mind when ordering printed material which will be used after the change becomes effective. This includes painted signs or printed letterheads, envelopes or business forms.

"At this time we can see that future telephone growth will require more phone number combinations that our present system can provide," Wilson added. "An arrangement using seven numerals increases available combinations by nearly 50 per cent and this is why we are changing our numbering system now. It is the system of the future and changes are being made throughout the nation as rapidly as possible."

PLANS for an all-purpose farm building are available from the Department of Agricultural Engineering, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1. Plan No. 5874 may be modified to suit cattle, sheep or hog feeding or use for a poultry house or machine shed. The structure shown above is 26 feet deep, front to rear, and can be made any length in multiples of 12 feet. It is shown being used as a shep shed but the plans are also adaptable to the other uses suggested.



CHANGES are taking place in the city park located between Second and Third streets and Knight and Duluth avenue in Thief River Falls. As a result of action taken by the city council at the last regular meeting, the east third of the park is being prepared for use as a public parking lot. In previous action, the council voted to provide public parking space on the west side of the city. Use of the park property is expected to provide parking for more than 80 cars, and at present is an alternative to condemning private property and moving houses to provide parking area. Four trees are being left in the parking area and the lot will have entrances from Second and Third streets. Aldermen Elmer Benson and Dr. A. E. Jacobson opposed the resolution to proceed with the project with Alderman Arthur Christianson Donald M. Olson, Milton Reierson, Roy Lee and Roy Jorgenson approving. D. H. Stewart, city engineer, presented the sketch of the proposed project. The council also plans to provide other facilities for the park to make it an improved and useful park area.

DAIRY MONTH DIGNITARIES by virtue of their selection as Minnesota's official 1963 June Dairy Month Farm Family are members of the Herbert W. Filk family of Hutchinson, Minn. The Filks are the third family unit named by the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee to typify modern dairy farming and dairy farm life. The annual selection is part of Minnesota's traditional observance of June Dairy Month. The McLeod county family produced more than a half-million pounds — or some 70,000 gallons — of grade "A" milk from their herd of registered purebred Holstein cattle last year. Family members shown with Mr. and Mrs. Filk are Bob, 24, a partner with his father; Kathy, 16, a Hutchinson high school junior; and Beth, 6, a kindergarten pupil. The Filks also have two married daughters, Joan and Judith. Members of the family will take part in special June Dairy Month activities. The scene below shows part of the Filks' farm.

Hutchinson Family Shares in June Dairy Month Observance

A family headed by a man of outspoken faith in both his industry and country has been named Minnesota's official 1963 June Dairy Month Farm Family.

Chosen to represent the more than 78,000 dairy farm families of Minnesota during the state's 27th annual June Dairy Month observance are Herbert W. Filk and family of Hutchinson, Minn.

The third annual selection was made by the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee, state unit of American Dairy Association.

MDIC Manager L. H. (Lew) Conlon hailed the Filks' selection as "an excellent choice of a family to typify the integrity and 'will-to-do' that have made dairying a great industry in Minnesota."

Families selected previously were the B. Dean Fisks of St. Paul Park, in 1961 and the Lincoln Schroeders of Rochester, in 1962.

First official appearance of the 1963 June Dairy Month farm family was as honored guests and featured speakers at the annual Minnesota June Dairy Month kick-off luncheon in St. Paul's Hotel Lowry, May 21. The Filks also will participate in a number of other June Dairy Month observances around the state.

Members of the family are "Herb and Ella", as the senior Filks are known to neighbors and friends throughout the state; an adult son, Bob 24; and four daughters, Joan, (Mrs. Michael Jorgenson) of Annandale; Judith (Mrs. William Graham) of St. Paul, Kathy, 16, a Hutchinson High School junior; and Beth, 6, a kindergarten pupil.

The "at home" members of the Filk family live and work on a 360-acre farm five miles southeast of Hutchinson just off state highway 22. Their operation includes 100 head of registered purebred Holstein dairy cattle.

With 40 cows in production, the Filks marketed more than a half-million pounds—or, roughly, 70,000 gallons— of grade "A" milk during the past year.

Rich in tradition both as a family farm and as a registered Holstein breeding establishment, the Filks continue to make changes with the times. They currently are expanding from a 40 to a 50-cow milking line.

"We feel that is the optimum size for efficient operation as a family enterprise with Bob, myself and one hired man," says Filk.

Every animal on the farm has been registered with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America since 1920 making the herd one of the oldest continuous breeding lines in Minnesota.

secular and the spiritual in our living, Dr. Fjelstad said, adding that democracy thrives best where religious conviction is strong. He urged the students to play an active part in politics and to do jobs which must be done so that they are not left to be done by someone else who would not do them as well.

Reminiscing about his days spent in Thief River Falls, he recalled that his commencement exercises from Lincoln high school 30 years ago were held in Trinity Lutheran church because the city auditorium had burned. Adding that he liked to recall items from his past he said that we can't think back to "the good old days" but must have a futuristic outlook.

Brian Mostue, one of the top ten scolastic students in the class, presented the welcome. Vocal selections were furnished by the concert choir and school orchestra with the latter providing the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" during the processional and recessional. Bryant Ulseth directed the choir and James Solsten directed the orchestra. M. R. Hankerson, superintendent of schools, introduced the speaker.

Lancaster Youth Drowning Victim

Darrell Lyberg Drowns Thursday in Two Rivers

Darrell Lyberg, 16, of rural Lancaster, drowned Thursday evening in the north fork of the Two Rivers near Lancaster, where he apparently had been swimming.

The body was recovered early Friday after an all-night search by sheriff's officers and volunteers.

The youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lyberg, had gone to the stream to fish. When he failed to return home a search was begun and his clothes were found on the bank of the river.

Dennis Collins, a skin diver and former resident of the area who is vacationing there, found the body in about 10 feet of water.

NFO President Speaks Saturday At Armory Here

saying 'this is the price, take it or leave it'. If that is not a holding action, then I would like to know what it is.

"If you don't believe it, stop for a sandwich and a glass of milk on your way home ... pay what you think is a fair price for it— and then go home. But you better hurry or the sheriff will be there before you will. And do you know what they'll charge you with?" Staley queried with increased fervor. "Stealing! And this is what has been done to farmers for years! They say they will take care of your business for you but they will give the business to you just as they have in the past.

"Step IV is that of signing contracts with processors," the national president stated. He noted that a number of such contracts had been signed and added that work is being done to divert "what is now commonly called surplus" into other markets so as to maintain prices.

Commenting on a holding action held last September, Staley said it would have been successful with a united effort. Members of the NFO stood solidly in the holding action, he said, but non-members sold cattle at a price increase of $4 per hundredweight. "They didn't sell cattle," Staley said. "They sold out their neighbors at $4 a hundred."

Greeted with a standing ovation, Staley opened his talk by thanking county leaders for their voluntary donation of time and services. He then launched his hour-plus talk by saying, "We have a job that has to be done. If we are businessman and proud of our business, then we must do the job to remain in business. We farmers have a large investment in land, livestock and machinery but the man carying a lunch bucket has more security than we do."

Commenting on the oppositions remark that the NFC would "price itself out of a market", Staley said "What else is there to eat besides food? We are not asking for something we never had. We are fighting to get back something that we had and lost .. a fair price for our product and a fair return on our investment and labor."

Hosting the meeting, which was preceded by a sausage supper, were NFO organizations in Pennington, Red Lake and Polk counties. Respective presidents are Don Erickson, Plummer; Irving Beyers, Red Lake Falls; and John Wahlin, Fertile.

Prowler Ball Team to Enter Regional Today

Jack Leedahl's drive into center field, scoring Rick Jensen, capped a seventh-inning three-run rally by the Prowlers and gave coach Ralph Skay's club a 4 to 3 win over the Red Lake Falls in the finals of the District 31 high school baseball tournament held at Warren.

The Prowlers will participate in the Region Eight tourney at Fosston, and this afternoon, Monday, at 5:00 p. m., the locals will meet the Warroad Warriors of District 32 in a first-round-game. At 8:00 p. m., the Fertile Falcons of District 30 will meet the winner of the Park Rapids vs. Bemidji game (which is being held this morning at Cass Lake, and will determine the District 29 entry). On Tuesday evening, June 4, at 8:00 p. m. the Region Eight finals will be played.

In Saturday afternoon's district finals at Warren, the Prowlers, giving up two runs in the first inning, on four walks by Leedahl and a sacrifice fly; and a single run in the second inning, trailed by a 3 to 1 score entering the last half of the seventh inning. The Prowlers, on a single by Paul Klungness and a double by Jensen, scored their lone run in the second inning.

In the game-winning seventh inning, after Dave Erickson had struck out, Dick Johnson drew a walk. Wayne Smith, who had entered the game in the third inning when John Aune doffed the catching equipment and took over the Prowler pitching duties, slammed a single to right field. Don Mathieu re-entered the game as a runner for Smith. Jensen singled, scoring Johnson, and sending Mathieu around to third base. Jerry Erickson's infield single scored Mathieu with the game-tieing run. Jensen stole third, and scored the winning tally on Leedahl's solid smash.

Aune, who hurled five innings for the Prowlers, giving up but three hits and no runs in relief of Dick Johnson, who relieved starter Leedahl in the second inning, was the winner. Lanky Bernard Demarais went the route for coach Mike Hajostek's Eagles.

Bemidji Winner in Region 8 Meet

Winning seven events, and setting four records in the process, coach Ron Campbell's Bemidji Lumberjacks squad scored a total of 42 points to win the Region Eight track and field title in the tournament held in Bemidji on Saturday. The defending champion Prowlers, without the services of Paul Klungness, who was sidelined by a leg injury, scored 24 points for runner-up honors.

Park Rapids totaled 22 points for third place. Littlefork, with Don Parmeter winning the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, the 180-yard low hurdles, and gaining a third place in the broad jump, scored 21 points for fourth place. The Roseau Rams had an 18-point total for fifth place. Other team totals were: East Grand Forks and Bagley, 10; Ada, 9; Hallock, 8; Hendrum, 6; Fertile and Baudette, 5; Walker and Twin Valley, 4; Northome, Greenbush, Newfolden, and Gonvick, 2; Nevis, Crookston, Middle River, and Mahnomen, 1.

The first and second place winners in the individual events, and the winning relay teams, advance to the state high school tournament to be held in the Memorial stadium on the University of Minnesota campus on Friday and Saturday. The Prowlers qualified three entries in the state meet. Brian Lofberg won the discuss throw; Rolf Wangberg gained a second place in the mile run; and Art Koglin gained a second place in the 880-yard run.

Six new records were set in Saturday's meet. Gary Lyons of Baudette ran the mile in 4:38.1 to better the mark set by the Prowlers' Rolf Wangberg last season, a 4:40.4. Bemidji's Don Lang, with a leap of 12 feet 11¼ inches, bettered the old mark of 12 feet ¾ inch set by Dick Patten of Bemidji in 1956. Fred Dierks of Park Rapids set a new high jump mark with a leap of 6 feet, surpassing the mark of 5 feet 10¾ inches set by Bemidji's Jim Patten in 1953.

Bemidji's Bob Warford, in the 120-yard high hurdles, set a mark of 15.4 to pare the old mark of 15.5 set by Bemidji's Don Thoreson in 1951. And the Bemidji relay teams, in the 880-yard relay and mile relay, set new marks. Roger Johnson, Dennis Aguiar, Gary Lockner, and Jerry Phillips posted a time of 1:35.4 to peel two-tenths of a second off the old mark held by the Prowlers relay team of 1962. And the Bemidji mile relay squad of Bill Bohn, John DeWald, Gary Lockner, and Dennis Aguiar, set a mark of 3:37.5. In this race, the Jacks barely edged the Prowler team of Joel Headley, Rolf Wangberg, Orrin Joppru, and Ron Olson, with some discussion being held as to the ultimate winner.

Littleforks' Don Parmeter, a junior, scored a total of 18 points to be the meet's high-point performer.

Bjornaraa Again Elected Director of Insurance Firm

Delegates to Lutheran Brotherhood's 16th general convention May 18 in Chicago elected W. P. Langhaug to a 12-year term on the board of directors and renamed four other directors. Mr. Langhaug, 44, is vice president and director of marketing and research of the Minneapolis-based fraternal life insurance Society.

Renamed to the board for an eight-year term was John W. F. Lienemann, vice president and director of agencies, and for 12-year terms A. Herbert Nelson, Dreng Bjornaraa, and Russell Matthias.

The five successful candidates, members of a pro-management slate, decisively defeated three men who had filed by petition with the support of an anti-management group. The three are Cyrus Rachie and Judge Luther Sletten, both of Minneapolis, and the Rev. Joseph Simonson, Eden Prairie, Minn.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

On to the Regional

Coach Ralph Skay's baseball Prowlers, with another of their come-from-behind efforts, scored three runs in the last half of the seventh inning of the district championship finals game at Warren on Saturday afternoon to edge out coach Mike Hajostek's Red Lake Falls Eagles, winning by a 4 to 3 score. It marked the eighth time since the 1953 season, when Skay took over the Prowler coaching duties, that the blue-and gold have taken the district title. In that 11-year stretch, the Prowlers gave up the championship in 1958, '60 and '61.

But this year's win was perhaps too the toughest to gain. The Prowlers were trailing a good Red Lake Falls team, 3 to 1, with one man out in the last half of the seventh and final inning. But the Prowlers exhibited that knack of reaching down and getting those vital base hits, and it was Wayne Smith, Rick Jensen, Jerry Erickson, and Jack Leedahl, with four successive safeties, that gave the Prowlers their hard-earned win.

Do you realize that in the eleven years that coach Skay has been directing the Prowlers, and this record includes this season, the locals have racked up 150 wins and dropped but 41 decisions! And never have the Prowlers experienced a losing season. The closest to a losing season was back in 1958 when the Prowlers had 13 wins and 6 losses.

And now it is into the Region Eight play at Fosston, with the Prowlers meeting the Warroad Warriors at 5:00 p. m. this afternoon, Monday. The Warroad club won the District 32 title by defeating the Roseau Rams, 3 to 1. The second game of the Region Eight's first-round will pit the Fertile Falcons, installed as the tournament favorite, against the District 29 champion. The District 29 tournament, plagued by rain and wet grounds, will play its championship finals this morning, Monday, at Cass Lake, with the defending district and regional champion Bemidji Lumberjacks meeting Park Rapids. Fertile, with a well-rested Rol Olson ready for pitching duty, should prove a tough opponent for either Bemidji or Park Rapids. This game will be played at 8:00 p. m.

Would Have Made a Difference

If an able-bodied Paul Klungness had been on hand for the Region Eight track and field meet at Bemidji on Saturday, it's probable that the team title would have hinged on a point or two. As it was, Bemidji won the team title by scoring 42 points to the Prowlers' 24 points. Paul, on the form that he exhibited last season, would have won the dash events and the broad jump, and perhaps finished one-two in the low hurdles. But, of course, Paul wasn't there, and it's fortunate enough that he can hobble around in right field for coach Ralph Skay's baseball Prowlers.

That was a fine meet at Bemidji, and the Bemidji State college officials are to be complimented on the efficient manner in which they conducted the tournament, and the dispatch with which the events are moved along.

And the track buffs who attended the meet saw some interesting duels, and some exhibitions of personal courage and will-to-win. The mile run proved to be somewhat of a surprise, with Gary Lyons of Baudette, with a fine effort on the last lap, coming up from sixth place to win the event in the record-breaking time of 4:38.1. And to gain this win, Lyons had to beat the Prowlers' Rolf Wangberg, who had set a record of 4:40.4 in winning the event last year. Rolf finished second to Lyons, and he, too, had mark under 4:40, running the mile in 4:39.2.

Mile Relay was Thriller

The most thrilling race on the 14-event program was the mile relay. And the result of this race will be discussed for a long time. It was Bemidji and Thief River Falls in the lead, and as the anchor leg was started it was the Jacks' gritty Dennis Aguiar against the Prowlers' Ron Olson. Aguiar held a one-yard lead coming into the home stretch, but Olson's strong finish appeared, to many fans, to carry the Prowler runner to the tape in the lead. It was so close that a dead heat would have been the logical call, but a winner had to be declared, and Bemidji, in the record-breaking time 3:37.5, was declared the winner. It's a fact, though, that the Bemidji four-some entered the race under a handicap as Gary Lockner and Dennis Aguiar had, a short while previously, engaged in some gruelling competition. It was evident that the two runners were tired.

Miscellany

Ron Campbell, who must be given credit for lifting the Bemidji high school track team to the Region Eight title, will be leaving the Bemidji school this season. Ron, a native of Oak Park, Illinois, has accepted a position at Skokie, Illinois. . .Another coach who is making a move is Howard Emerson of Plummer. Emerson has posted a fine record at Plummer, having turned out some exceptional football teams, and next season he will be coaching the Warren Ponies. . .It is reported that Bemidji Dennis Aguiar, who has been star for the Jacks in football, basketball, and track the past several seasons, will enroll at Gustavus Adolphus next fall. . .This week's issue of the "Sporting News" carries a two-column picture of the Detroit Tigers' Frank Lary. Lary, having arm trouble, has been sent down to the Knoxville team of the Sally league, a Detroit farm club. And the catcher, shown in the picture with Lary is non other than Fertile's Arlo Brunsberg.

Five Oklee Girls Complete 50-mile Hike Recently

"Never again!" moaned five tired Oklee girls who finished their 50 mile hike at 11:45 p.m. Saturday, May 25. Eighteen girls, their physical education teacher Carol Hince, and a dog belonging to Fred Festler met at the Oklee post office at 4:30 a.m., full of pep and energy and anxious to be on their way. The dog was a self-invited guest.

Some of the girls had planned to only walk as far as Brooks and return home again. The rest continued cheerfully on their way stopping at the intersection by Red Lake Falls and turning around for the last half of their journey. By the time they reached Terrebonne, they were footsore, weary and ready to drop. They decided that they had accomplished something with a walk of 37 miles and the blisters weren't very comfortable either, so they took the first ride back to Oklee. Even the dog was glad to climb into the car. Five freshman girls, lacking somewhat in the original energy but full of determination were left to finish. They were Charlene Bergeron, Wanda Mack, Regene Radniecki, Sandra Lambert and Marlene Boucher.

Poole Holds Pirates to Two Hits in Semis

The Prowlers' Tony Poole and Crookston's Pete Mickelson, both righthanders, hooked up in a pitching duel in a district high school baseball tournament semi-finals game at Warren on Thursday afternoon, and coach Ralph Skay's, with a three-run cluster in the fifth inning, won the game, 3 to 0. In the other semi-finals game, played between the Goodridge Huskies and the Red Lake Falls Eagles, the Eagles of coach Mike Hajostek, with a run in the last half of the seventh inning, edged out the Huskies, 3 to 2.

In whitewashing the Pirates on Thursday, Poole gave up but two hits, one being a misjudged fly ball into left field, and the other being a solid triple to right-center by pinch-hitter Mike Paulson in the seventh inning. The veteran Prowler righthander had some anxious moments, though, and in the fourth, fifth, and sixth inning the Pirates had men in scoring position. In the fourth, Tony retired Jerry Kraft for the side retiring out with Pirate runners on second and third. In the fifth, Crookston had the bases loaded with two out, and Poole retired Chris Myrold, pitcher to first, to snuff out the rally; and in the sixth, Crookston again had the bases loaded, but Poole got out of the jam by taking Walt Erickson's high pop foul for the third out. In the seventh inning, with two men out, Mike Paulson tripled to right-center, but Jim Brolsma ended the game by bounding to Poole, who made the toss to first base for the game-ending out.

The Prowlers scored the game's runs in the fifth inning. Dave Erickson opened with a walk, moved to second on a low throw to first base by Pete Mickelson, attempting a pick-off play. Dick Johnson struck out; Don Mathieu drew a walk; Rick Jensen drove a ground single past second base, scoring Dave Erickson. And with runners on second and third, Jerry Erickson drove a sharp single into left field, scoring Mathieu and Jensen. And those three runs proved sufficient as Poole, given good support by the Prowlers' defense, kept the Pirates off the scoreboard.

Advises on Methods of Garden Spraying

Sprays and dusts can be safely used to control insects and diseases in the garden if proper precautions are taken.

John Lofgren, extension entomologist at the University of Minnesota, lists a few of the do's and don't's to follow for safe use of garden chemicals:

..Store all pesticides in a special place not readily accessible to children and preferably in a place that can be locked. Never store them near food, feed or clothing.

..Store chemicals only in the original containers and keep the latter tightly closed. When the containers are empty do not re-use them, but dispose of them according to instructions on the label.

..Be sure labels and instructions remain on chemical packages and are not mutilated. If chemicals are marked "Poison" be certain that instructions for the antidote remain on the package.

Read all labels and precautions carefully and follow instructions exactly.

..Do not allow small children to be present when you are mixing or applying chemicals. Teach older children proper respect, precautions and care.

..Always use only the recommended rates of application. Chemicals may possibly injure plants if you use more than the recommended amount..and are not any more effective.

..Avoid spilling chemicals on the skin or clothing. Wash hands immediatly after spraying, being careful not to touch the face or to eat before your hands are clean.

..Avoid inhaling dusts or sprays.

..Never smoke or eat while applying dusts or sprays.

..Delay spraying or dusting if the day is windy.

..Don't apply chemicals to vegetables immediately before picking. Follow instructions on the minimum interval for use before harvest.

State to Get U.S. Wildlife Payment

Sum of $409,698 Has Been Allocated to Minnesota

On July 1, Minnesota will receive $409,698 in federal aid for fish and wildlife restoration projects, the Conservation Department announced this week.

The allocation is part of the state's share of such federal aid for fiscal year 1964. Balance of the appropriation will be made this fall, however, the U. S. Department of the Interior has not indicated what this total will be.

Source of the funds is a federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition and on fishing rods, reels, creels, and artificial lures. Distribution of the funds is made on formulas based on the number of paid license holders in a state and the state's size.

Minnesota will receive $108,557.80 for fish restoration projects and $301,140.22 for wildlife restoration projects.

The Department of the Interior reports that altogether a total of $12,600,000 will be apportioned to the states on the July 1 distribution.

4-H'ers to Attend State Health Camp

Annual Event Slated at Itasca Park June 9-13

Nearly 100 4-H'ers from every Minnesota county will attend the 11th annual State 4-H Health Camp June 9 - 13, in Itasca State Park at the University of Minnesota's forestry and biological station.

The delegates are selected from each county on the basis of their personal health achievements as well as their contributions toward health conditions.

Donna Johnson, Pine City; Bonnie Gustafson, Maple Plain; Don Sandborg, Butterfield; and Mike Kennedy, Albert Lea, 4-H members of the Health Camp continuation committee, helped plan the camp program. They will also act as chairmen for the various assemblies at camp.

Highlights of the camp program include workshops and discussion sessions covering mental attitudes and outlooks and health surroundings. These sessions will be led by personnel from the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service and the Minnesota state department of health.

A new feature of the health camp this year is a career exploration assembly in the fields of health, including medicine, nursing and mental health.

The health camp program began in Minnesota in 1953. It is sponsored by the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service with financial assistance from the Folger Coffee Company of Kansas City, Missouri.

Shearing School Set at Greenbush

Scheduled for Sheep Days Tuesday and Wednesday

Fundamentals of sheep shearing will be stressed at the Greenbush Sheep shearing and wool preparation school June 4 and 5 at the Sheep Palace, Greenbush.

According to R. E. Jacobs, extension animal husbandman at the University of Minnesota, the schools will start at 9 a. m. and will last two days.

Ed Warner, Chicago, a shearing instructor of national reputation, will direct the teaching. Warner has instructed more people in the art of shearing sheep than anyone else in the world.

Anyone interested in taking the course is invited. There is no charge. William Provance, county agent, Roseau, and a local Greenbush committee are making arrangements for the school which is being held in connection with Greenbush Sheep Days, June 4, 5 and 6.

Those planning to take the instruction should bring or wear their work clothes, be on time and stay for the duration of the school.

Sheep growers who do not wish to learn shearing themselves are invited to survey the young farmers or older boys in their community and encourage likely prospects to enroll in the sheep shearing school.

Lobbyists Blamed for Sugar Prices

Langen Urges Expansion of Domestic Production

The folly of having sold American sugar producers down the river in favor of the foreign sugar lobbies is now evidenced in the higher prices American housewives are now paying, declared Congressman Odin Langen last week.

"I have pointed out repeatedly in recent years that we should have reversed the unwise policy of increasing the foreign quotas substantially more than domestic quotas," said Langen, "and I have warned that the situation could seriously affect the future supply of this strategic commodity."

"It was just last year," explained Congressman Langen, "when I and others pointed out how the foreign lobbyists were sweetening their pockets by millions of dollars and of the failure by the departments of State and Agriculture to respond effectivly to the problem."

"Now is the time for action, to protect the American consumer from unreasonably high sugar prices and possible future shortages of this commodity," said Langen in noting that Republican members of the House agriculture comittee have asked the Committee Chairman to re-open hearings on the matter. "I consider it a most appropriate move under existing circumstances."

Langen added that this seems to be the opportune time to provide for further expansion of domestic production of sugar. "Of course, it should have been done two or three years ago, so the plants needed to process the sugar could have been in operation by now, and growers could have had their sugar beets in the ground. Even a green light at this moment would take time before our domestic growers could realize their desire and right to contribute their fair share of our sugar needs."

Doctors Advise Use of Deodorant

Say Use of Product Now Has General Acceptance

Deodorants intended for personal use have gained general acceptance as good grooming aids for men as well as women, advises the Minnesota State Medical association.

No longer is it considered a breach of masculinity or feminine daintiness to combat offensive body odors with an acceptable personal deodorant.

Perspiration is normally odorless when it reaches the surface of the skin. The accompanying odor is caused by the deteriorating action of bacteria on the surface of the skin as they come in contact with the perspiration.

Research has shown that soap and water alone will not do a thorough job of combating this action because the few remaining bacteria multiply rapidly and once again the odor is going strong within a few hours.

The effectiveness of a deodorant may be judged by its ability to constantly inactivate the action of the bacteria.

Greater caution is recomended when anti-perspirant deodorants are used because the skin structure is altered in the perspiration checking process.

Additional precautions listed by the assolation when anti-perspirant deodorants are to be used include:

—Avoid applying anti-perspirants over sores or areas of skin lesions.

—Discontinue use of anti-perspirants if redness or itching results. Switch to a simple deodorant.

—Keep clothing dry cleaned or laundered—free of stale perspiration.

—Remove underarm growth of hair which acts as a catch-all for perspiration and bacteria.

State Knights of Columbus Elect Staff of Officers

Howard A. Hommes, Robbinsdale, was elected State Deputy of the Minnesota Knights of Columbus at their annual convention in the Hotel Lawry, St. Paul, last week. He succeeds John Simonett of Little Falls, who has held the top office for the past two years.

Hommes moves up from the post of State Secretary and was a district deputy for five years previous to this assignment.

Use Care in Packing Fish for Freezer

'U' M. Authority Offers Suggestions for Storage

If you plan to freeze some of the fish you catch this summer, wrap it well to preserve its quality and don't keep it too long.

These suggestions were given today by Mrs. Shirley T. Munson, in charge of the University of Minnesota's food processing laboratory at the University of Minnesota.

Since fish has a relatively short storage life, fatty fish especially—like walleyes—should be used within six to nine months. Nonfatty fish like sunfish, crapples, bass or pike may keep satisfactorily up to a year. Fatty fish, however, including lake herring, lake trout and pink salmon, lose quality after about 4 months when stored at 0 degrees F. A temperature of —10 degrees F. is much better.

Mrs. Munson gives these directions for freezing fish:

Prepare fish for freezing as for table use. Scale, eviscerate, remove head and fins, wash thoroughly and drain. Freeze small fish whole; fillet or steak large fish. Package in heavy duty aluminum foil.

Small fish and fillets may be kept successfully by freezing in water. A disadvantage of this method, according to Mrs. Munson, is that you are freezing extra bulk. But if you wish to use this method, put the fish in a pan, fill pan with water and freeze. Then remove the block of ice from the pan, slip the block into a plastic bag or wrap it in locker paper.

Be sure to label and date all packages of fish. Store fish in the coldest part of the freezer—near the bottom of chest types or directly on refrigerated shelves of upright models.

Editorials . . .

"Surely a warm sympathetic understanding of other people and a tolerance for the views of others, even when they differ radically from our own, is a mark of good breeding and good manners. For once these qualities have been developed, the inevitable consequences of their development is a kindliness, a goodwill, a courtesy and consideration of and toward other people which is of the essence of the life of a free and enlightened people."

—Judge Harold R. Medina

Africa Unites . . .

Heads of 32 independent African states have agreed to unite in an association similar to the Oroganization of American States sponsored by President Kennedy. The charter provides for:

An assembly of heads of state to meet annually and pass resolutions by a two-thirds majority.

A council of ministers to meet every six months and approve resolutions by a two-thirds vote.

A secretariat headed by a secretary general.

A commission of mediation and conciliation established to settle disputes "by peaceful means."

Moderates prevailed in the forming of the organization and it is off to a good start. Which way it will move as problems develop is anybody's guess, but under pressure it is not likely that the moderates will always be in control.

Now would be a good time for our country to serve notice that we regard the Western Hemisphere as our primary responsibility and expect the European countries to assume primary responsibility for the problems of Africa and Asia. We have been too willing to assume responsibility for the problems of all of the nations of the world, and now would be a good time to make a start at least in minding our own affairs. If interference becomes necessary it should be only as a joint effort along with our friends and allies.

The new association of African nations will be easier to get along with if its leaders understand that their member nations must look to European countries for guidance and help.

Worse Than Wasteful

An educator thinks that the $20 billion the administration wants to spend to put a man on the moon might better be spent for educational facilities in backward areas here on earth. He estimates that $20 billion would build and endow a university, complete with faculties of medicine, engineering and agriculture, in every country that has joined the United Nations since it was founded.

Which brings the following observations from the Financial Post of Toronto:

"The real trouble with the proposed lunar expeditions is not that they are costly but that they are competitive.

"Washington frankly admits that the U. S. is engaged in a crash program to get there first. "Crash" could be a painfully true word. The emphasis on speed is likely to mean a waste of lives as well as materials, engineers say. They advise that it would be a lot safer and more scientific, though slower, to start with manned earth satellites and space platforms.

"There is another point. Suppose the race continues and is eventually won. What then? A race to be first on Mars? These celestial Olympic Games could go on indefinitely without any results more useful than a scoreboard tally.

"As it seems to be generally agreed now that the moon has no military value, the competitors should put it, and the rest of the extra-terrestrial solar system, out of bounds for the cold war.

"This is not a Utopian proposition. The two big powers have already signed an agreement for joint "space exploration". All they need to do is extend its scope out to the Milky Way."

Middle East Smouldering

Israel is concerned about the growing Arab unity under the leadership of Egyptian President Nasser, and wants our government to serve notice on Nasser that if he alone, or any group of Arab powers, attacks another Middle Eastern nation, the United States will come to the aid of the nation attacked.

There are many trouble spots in the world but this Middle East situation probably is the most dangeroust from the standpoint of our involvement. On the question of Arab intent we are sure the fears of the Israelis are justified. The hatred is unbelievably bitter.

The appeal to our government is understandable. It was President Harry Truman who sponsored the movement in the United Nations to establish a Jewish nation. Britain abstained from voting on the question. In our country the issue was decided on the basis of domestic political considerations.

What President Kennedy would do with this issue in a campaign year is not certain. It is a fact that the Jews are much more influential in our country than are the Arabs. But President Kennedy could be helpful in this situation if he would give leadership to a demand for a new impartial study of the problem, with the view of working out compromises that would make possible a reasonable solution of the basic differences.

From our knowledge of the historical background, and from our personal observations in visiting the area and hearing at close range the views of the people of both sides who are at war with each other, we are satisfied that the people of Israel are just as much at fault as are the Arabs.

Israel has been reprimanded by the United Nations for its failure to deal fairly with the people who were dispossessed. President Kennedy could be very helpful in giving direction to a program that would establish Israel on a sound and honest basis with the natives of the area that was occupied, and with the neighbors of that area. It will not be an easy assignment.

The Savannah Won't Sail

The Savannah, built by our government at a cost of $80 million, was to be the world's first atomic-powered, passenger vessel. She would be a showpiece of United States resolve to harness the atom for peaceful purposes.

But the Savannah will not sail. The government has decided to postpone the sailing because of a dispute over wages for her 29 engineers. As commented on editorially by the New York Times, this seems to be the situation:

"The present difficulty stems from an arbitrator's award establishing a tandem relation between wage rates for the ship's deck officers and engineers. The engineers, who were not a party to the proceedings, considered the award unfairly restrictive. After the stubbornness of the conflict impelled the Government to deactivate the Savannah, a settlement was patched together; but the Government saw little prospect that the accord would provide any assurance against more inter-union battles and more strikes.

"Now the operating contract has been canceled, and Federal authorities are trying to decide how they can get the ship out of the mothball fleet.

"The Atomic Age has come to the high seas, but the maritime unions are mired in the mud puddles of their ancient feuds. The A.F.L.-C.I.O. has done much in the last two years to eliminate bickering among its affiliates in other industries. A new attempt to establish cooperative relations in the merchant marine would be a national service. The alternative is a compulsory arbitration law of the kind now being pressed in Congress by Chairman Bonner of the House Merchant Marine Committee."

Well, it does seem a bit confusing. As we understand it, the government does have more authority, under the provisions of the Constitution, than do the labor unions. But maybe that now is just another old fashioned theory of government by the people, for the people.

Russian Scientist Speaks

A leading Soviet scientist told an American television audience last week that both East and West were equally obsessed with the distrust that stands in the way of disarmament.

As reported by Walter Sullivan in the New York Times, the speaker was Dr. Igor E. Tamm, who in 1959, shared the Nobel Prize in physics with two of his countrymen. As a participant in the 1917 revolution, he has been free to criticise the leaders of Soviet science with impunity. According to Sullivan:

"Dr. Tamm also speaks with a freedom that rests on his international prestige, and perhaps on his indispensability as a theoretical physicist. He has attended a number of the meetings at which leading scientists from East and West have explored ways to avoid nuclear war.

"Dr. Tamm has a reputation as a spokesman for the conscience of Soviet science. However this is the first time that he, or probably any other Soviet scientist of distinction, has spoken thus to a mass audience of Americans.

"Last night, on the Columbia Broadcasting System's program "CBS Reports," he spoke in what was said to have been an unrehearsed and uncensored interview. The achievement of disarmament is being blocked, he said, by mutual distrust and suspicion, 'which are almost the same—identical—on both sides'."

It is encouraging to know that this broadcast came from Russia and, we presume, with the approval of Soviet authorities. Dr. Tamm's criticism was directed at the crack pots and war mongers in both Moscow and Washington, and, coming from the other side of what once was the Iron Curtain, such criticism is quite revealing as to what is in the background of Russian scientific thinking.

The thinking of most of the politicians and the militarists probably is much the same there as here.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

It was lunchtime. The elderly worker opened his lunchbox, looked in, and growled: "Cheese sandwiches! Cheese sandwiches! Always cheese sandwiches!"

"Why don't you ask your wife to make some other kind? asked a fellow worker.

"Wife? Who's married? I make these myself."

TOO GOOD TO LET GO BY was this item which I found in an exchange paper. This was quite a controversial issue in Congress during the last session, and probably will be in the next one also, so the following story seems somewhat apropos: A man feeling the need of medical care went to the building arranged for that purpose, and upon entering the front door found himself faced with a battery of doors each marked with the name of an ailment such as appendicitis, heart trouble, cancer, etc.

He felt sure his trouble would be diagnosed as appendicitis so he entered the door so marked. Upon entering he found himself faced with two doors, one marked male and the other female. Of course, he entered the door marked male, and found himself in a corridor where there were two doors, one marked Protestant and one marked Catholic.

Since he was a Protestant, he entered the proper door and found himself facing two more doors, one marked White and one marked Colored. He entered the White door and again was faced with two more doors marked Taxpayer and Non-taxpayer. He still owned an equity in his home, so he went through the door marked Taxpayer and found himself still confronted with doors marked Married and Single.

He had a wife at home, so he entered the proper door and once more there were two doors, marked Republican and Democrat . . . He was a Republican, so he entered the proper door and fell nine floors to an alley.

"What about the powerful interests that control you," shouted the angry politician at his opponent in the heat of debate. "You leave my wife out of this," the opponent replied.

At age sixty-five, he knows he'll never live long enough to know anything at all.

How Important Is Rural Electricity?

Ask the Appliance Dealer in Minnkotaland!

* Rural electricity is important to your appliance dealers in Minnkota-land. Here are statements from six typical appliance dealers in this area.

NESTOR J. METZGER,* LANGDON, N. DAK.
"I'd lock the place up if I didn't have the rural business coming in my store," says Nestor J. Metzger of Langdon. "A great share of the appliance business I do comes from the farmer, and it's business I wouldn't have if they didn't have electricity."

JIM FISH,* WARROAD, MINN.
"Without rural electrification I would find it pretty hard to stay in business," says Jim Fish of Warroad. Jim is a combination appliance dealer and electrical contractor. He says that the business he gets from the rural area comprises a big share of his overall business.

CHARLES GOODMAN,* GRAND FORKS, N. DAK.
"Back in 1935, Goodman Farm Electric started business in Grand Forks as a Delco Light Plant Dealer. Later, we handled the Kohler Light Plant and it was a big part of our business. But, the happiest time of all was when the rural cooperatives began to supply this area with electricity. We have seen our sales of home appliances constantly climb since electricity extended into farm homes. It's been a real important factor in our business growth and we are confident that rural electricity will play a major role in the future expansion of our trade area."

H. V. CARLIN,* FOSSTON, MINN.
"Rural electrification has been good for my business," says Hilding (Red) Carlin of Fosston. Red started in the appliance business in 1937 with refrigerators, but it wasn't until after World War II that he expanded in other appliances. "I get about 50 per cent of my business in appliances from the rural areas."

CHARLES NAYLOR,* BEMIDJI, MINN.
"The fact that the farmers have electricity has sure boosted our business," says Charles Naylor of Bemidji. "Many of our customers come from the rural areas, and if it weren't for REA they wouldn't be in our store buying electrical appliances."

HAROLD MORRISON,* FARGO, N. DAK.
"I've spent many years in Minnesota and North Dakota as a Division Manager for Frigidaire, and I've personally seen the importance of rural electricity to hundreds of appliance dealers. Now that my own retail store is open in Fargo, I am even more aware of rural electricity, as many of our customers will be living on area farms. Frankly, without rural electricity, I just wouldn't have started a business!"

Graveling Be Saturday

Volunteer Project To Aid Pennington Fair Grounds

Final details for one of the largest scale volunteer help projects here in many years are being completed this week, according to Jon Metusalem, secretary of the Pennington County Fair Association, Inc. The project involves the hauling and spreading of 4,800 cubic yards of gravel on the fairgrounds in Thief River Falls.

According to Leonard Furuseth, who has been making arrangements for volunteer labor and use of equipment, there will be no problem in securing 50 trucks with hoists to haul gravel to the work site. Payloaders have been secured from the city and county and a road patrol from the city to accomplish the gravel spreading and leveling.

Gravel is being donated by Floyd Hallan of rt. 1 and will be hauled from his farm located three miles west of Thief River Falls. Use of trucks and other equipment for loading gravel and spreading is being entirely donated, Furuseth said, with individual volunteers even paying for their own gas. Seven or eight trucks will come from city firms, he added, with the remainder of the 50 trucks expected coming from area farmers.

Drainage Completed

Prior to the spreading of gravel, survey work and drainage has been accomplished with the cooperation of the Soil Conservation Service and the Pennington County Soil Conservation District. A considerable amount of landscaping work has been done by George Baker.

Under the direction of Mrs. Adam Lendobeja with the cooperation of the Thief River Falls Curling Club auxiliary, lunch will be served to volunteers in the morning, at noon and in the afternoon. A considerable amount of the food is also being donated by business firms.

Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., was formed to assume operation of the county fair upon dissolution of the Pennington County Agricultural Society, Inc. With the Society now in a period of receivership, the newly-formed association will operate the Pennington County Fair on July 8, 9, 10 and 11 but will have no official status other than an agent of the receiver.

Premium lists have been printed and contributions made toward their preparation and distribution by local merchants. Firms contributing $10 each toward the cost were Consumers Cooperative, Thief River Co-Op Creamery, Land O'Lakes, Union State Bank, Tunberg Motors, Piggly Wiggly, Osborne-McMillan Elevator, Farmers

Peace Corps Tests Given Here June 8

This spring's last Peace Corps placement test will be given Saturday, June 8, at 815 civil service testing centers throughout the United States, including the Thief River Falls postoffice.

This is a revised version of the Peace Corps placement test, and it has been cut to about one-fourth the original length. It is composed of a one-half hour general aptitude test and a one-half hour language aptitude test.

Applicants are not permitted to take the new test if they took the old one.

The tests will comence at 8:30 a. m., but applicants are advised to be at the testing centers at least 20 minutes early. Extra time is needed for instructions and filling out forms.

Applicants should bring with them a completed Peace Corps questionnaire—available at the postoffice. Applicants without completed questionnaires may take the test, but will be asked to stay and fill them out before leaving.

The Peace Corps placement test is non-competitive. There are no passing or failing grades, and scores will not be released to applicants. The test is used to help the Peace Corps in assigning applicants to the most appropriate projects in accordance with their ability to learn a foreign language, to teach, and the like. Anyone may take the test, regardless of his educational level.

All Peace Corps applicants must be U. S. citizens at least 18 years of age. There is no upper age limit. Married couples without dependents under 18 may qualify to take the test.

OUT OF TOWN

CONVENIENCE to postal patrons in Thief River Falls is provided by these drive-in mail boxes now located at the curb in front of the post office in this city. A yellow curb has been provided to create a no parking area in front of the boxes so that they may be readily accessible. Mail may be deposited in the boxes from either street or sidewalk side and boxes are designated for local or out of town mail. For fastest service it is still best to mail inside the building, according to R. J. Dryden, postmaster, but for convenience patrons are encouraged to use the new boxes.

Premium Lists for County Fair Ready

Many Revisions Made To Provide for More Exhibits This Year

Premium lists for the annual Pennington county fair are now available to area residents, according to Ray Oen, president of the Pennington County Fair Association, Inc. A special effort was made to get the books out early this year so that anyone wishing to exhibit may review the classes and decide what they would like to enter, Oen said.

A number of revisions were made in the books and should prove interesting to both new and experienced fair exhibitors. Books are now available at the Northern and Union State banks, extension office and the deputy registrar of motor vehicles office in Thief River Falls.

Major revisions have been made in the women's departments of the premium list. Classes have been added in embroidery, cross-stitch, tatting, applique, cut work, textile painting, Swedish darning, weaving, knitting and crocheting. In the Art division a class has been established for photography with four different lots where various types of photos can be shown.

A new division has been arranged for senior citizens in which any area residents over 65 years of age can exhibit rugs, quilts, pillow cases, crocheted towels, aprons, and other items. Senior citizens are urged to review the premium book to determine what items they have that can be entered.

Entry blanks for 4-H club members are included in the back of the premium books and must be completed and brought to the extension office. Where there are more than three members of a family who will be entering 4-H competition, an additional premium list will be needed. All entries not included in the 4-H program must be made with Jon Metusalem, secretary of the fair association.

The board voted to call for bids on rebuilding a section of County Aid Road No. 9 from one mile north of Goodridge to a point two miles east.

Acting under the provisions of a law enacted by the 1963 legislature, the board voted to raise the salaries of the county auditor and county treasurer to $6,500 a year from the present figure of $5,812.

David M. Brown, superintendent of schools at Goodridge, was reappointed to the post of county rural school administrator at a salary of $800 a year, with an additional $100 for clerk hire.

The session is open to all area persons interested in learning more about the program.

The committee is a volunteer organization formed to assist qualified young men who are interested in farming to get established. While its members include a number of representatives of state agencies, the committee is not sponsored or subsidized by any of them.

Pope John XXIII Succumbs Monday in Vatican City

Pope John XXIII known as the Pope of Peace, died in a coma at sunset Monday in Vatican City, the end of his fourth day of pain and suffering.

"The supreme pontiff, John XXIII, is dead," the Vatican announcement said. "The inexorable illness . . . has snuffed out the strong fiber." This was a reference to the pontiff's resistance to death since his condition took a turn for the worse last Friday.

He had a gastric tumor which caused anemia and then massive hemorrages. Toward the end his condition was complicated by peritonitis, but his sturdy heart kept beating through crisis after crisis.

With Pope John's death, the duties of the pontiff automatically went to 83-year-old Bendedetto Cardinal Aolsi Masella.

A conclave to elect a new pope must start within 18 days. It could start soon.

The Pope's death automatically terminates the major undertaking of his reign—the second Vatican Ecumenical Council. One of his successor's first major decisions will be whether to continue the SUMMER weather is straw hat time in northwestern Minnesota. For years women have talked of going downtown "to try on a few hats." Aware of the fact that men are always busy at this time of year, the proprietor of a local clothing store took Lloyd Bennes of Thief River Falls at his word when he said he wanted to try on a few hats. Selection at all clothing stores in the city is still good and a summer straw may be just what you need to beat the heat.

Elaine's

CHATTER

It is funny how stories remind you of certain things. As we were working in the stock room the other day, we thought of a recent one we heard.

It is about the frustrated mosquito. He was buzzing high about a nudist camp, looked down at all the juicy anatomies and knew what he wanted . . . but didn't know where to begin!

Corny as this may seem, you will have a similar feeling when you look at all the new summer dresses. Honestly, a person hardly knows whether to select cotton, dacron, silk, orlon or one of the mixtures. The fabrics people have presented us in this modern age is amazing . . . and unless you are allergic to everything (in which case, watch out for that mosquito!) it is simply a matter of choice. . . .

Lew Conlon Is Rated Top Dairy Spokesman

Lew Conlon

Minnesota's dairy industry has a runaway team of horses to thank for the leadership and service it has received from manager L. H. (Lew) Conlon of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee. Conlon assisted in organizing Northwest Dairy Day—the original Dairy Day—at Thief River Falls 14 years ago.

Known throughout the state as "Mr. American Dairy Association" Conlon's work with the national dairy promotion organization began 18 years ago in Wisconsin. He took over the reins of the Minnesota ADA unit two years later and has plower a straight furrow in the interests of dairy farmers and processors ever since. He has never missed Dairy Day in Thief River Falls and serves as ringmaster during the day.

Conlon says he probably still would be farming himself if it hadn't been for a back injury (which still causes him considerable pain occasionally) sustained when his team bolted as he was working with a grain threshing crew on Wisconsin's Arlington Prairie.

The injury made it impossible for him to perform some of the heavy physical work involved in dairy farming as it was to an even more marked degree in those days.

But it didn't stop him from literally milking his way through the University of Wisconsin (hand milking test cows three times a day for expense money) and going on to become a pathfinder in the promotion facets of dairy agriculture.

Gifted with a resonant voice and dynamic delivery, Conlon is recognized as one of the nation's foremost spokesmen for dairy agriculture. His counsel also is sought often in problems of production and processing as well as in sales and promotion.

Conlon also is known as an unstinting worker on behalf of rural youth. It is with these young people in mind, as well as the promotional value of the events, that he established the Princess Kay of the Milky Way contests and the Dairy Day cattle shows for 4-H and FFA members. He has been cited with special awards from both organizations for his contributions.

Frank to admit that he never outgrew his first love — for fine dairy cattle and all other classes of livestock — Conlon is apt to be found at a cattle show, calling on one of hundreds of dairy farmer friends, or enjoying a horseback ride when he catches a few rare hours away from his work.

Bemidji Trims Locals to Keep Region Title

The Bemidji Lumberjacks successfully defended their Region Eight high school baseball title by defeating the Prowlers, 5 to 0, in a regional tournament finals game played at Fosston on Tuesday night. The Bemidji club will now represent the region in the state tournament to be played on June 12, 13, and 14.

In Tuesday night's championship finals, only one base hit was garnered by the two teams, and this hit was a first-inning single inside the third-base line by Bemidji's Marv Hanson. The hit did not figure in the scoring of any runs. The Prowlers were held hitless and scoreless by the three Bemidji hurlers, Bill Barthelemy, John Dow, and Bob Dressen. Barthelemy pitched 6 and two-thirds innings, and then was forced from the mound because of the fourteen-inning rule. Barthelemy had pitched seven innings against Park Rapids in a district tournament finals game on Monday morning, and Tuesday afternoon, as Bemidji edged out Fertile, he was called in to pitch to one batsmen. In the finals game against the Prowlers, Barthelemy, according to state rules, was ineligible to pitch six and two-thirds innings, and that he did. Dow pitched to one batsmen, and gave up a walk, and then Dressen came in and he closed out the game by getting Wayne Smith to ground out to first base.

Bemidji scored their first cluster of runs in the third inning, getting three tallies. Jack Leedahl, who started for the Prowlers, walked Barthelemy to open the inning. Steve Dale sacrificed, pitcher to first base. Bob Shadlow, Hanson, Dow, and Jerry Fossand drew walks, and two Bemidji runs were scored. Aune came in to pitch, and on a passed ball, Hanson scored, giving the Jacks a 3 to 0 lead.

In the sixth, three Prowler errors, all on throws, gave Bemidji two runs and a solid 5 to 0 lead.

The Prowlers had runners on base in each of the four first innings, but were unable to get these runners across the plate as Barthelemy threw strikes past the Prowler batsmen. He whiffed two batters in the first inning, notched three strikeouts in the second inning, added a pair of strikeouts in the third inning, and had three strikeouts in the fourth inning.

In the semi-finals game between Bemidji and Fertile, and which was played earlier on Tuesday afternoon, the Lumberjacks scored three runs, on three hits, off Rod Olson in the first inning to win 3 to 2. And those three runs held up as the Falcons were unable to overcome that deficit, although coach Chuck Johnson's club did pick up a pair of runs to narrow the winning margin to one run. Fertile's Olson was driven off the mound early in the first inning. He struck out Dale to open the game, but Shadlow sent a ground single through the mound, Hanson belted a triple to the fence in right-center; Dow drew a walk, and then stole second; Fossand singled to left field, scoring a pair. Paul Sannes took over the Fertile pitching duties from Olson, who was handicapped by a foot injury.

Like Old Times

That softball game played on the East Side diamond on Monday night, between the Hamm's Beer and the Bridgemen's, with Bob Carlson pitching, edged out the Hamm's, who had veteran Milt Reierson back on the mound, by a 1 to 0 score. And this lone score was marked up in the seventh inning.

In the seventh, John Drury drew a walk, stole second, and when the throw from the catcher got away from the second baseman, John moved on to third base. It was a squeeze play situation, and Milt, realizing that batter Irv Wilson would attempt to bunt, rushed in to cover the tap. But Irv popped a short fly over Milt's head, and Drury raced in with the game-winning run. That's the kind of softball that the fans enjoy watching.

A call has been made to all softball enthusiasts, and to the members of the teams playing softball, to report to the Fair Grounds on Saturday evening and aid in the building of the softball field that is being constructed out there. Lots of muscles are needed.

Please Return

If some fortunate angler, fishing the Lake of the Woods waters in the vicinity of Pine Island, should hook a stringer containing six walleyes and a sauger, would that angler please notify Stan Cockrell. Stan says that the fisherman can keep the stringer, and the walleyes, but that he, Stan, would like to have the sauger.

All this came about last Thursday, when after a successful fishing trip, Stan forgot to fasten his stringer to the boat. Stan, you know, is one of those fancy anglers who has a pair of reels, a free-spool and a spinning outfit, a self-line with a treble hook, and other refined accessories. He has a live-net of which he is proud, and he was putting the walleyes he was catching in this live net.

Having a limit of walleyes, and the sauger, Stan was transferring the fish from the net to the stringer, and getting assistance from Ed(Pickerel) Nelson, who, like Stan, is a Soo Line brakeman. They put the fish on the stringer, and then tossed the stringer overboard. But there was an open switch, they had forgotten to fasten the stringer to the boat.

They Were the Better Club

Coach Horace May's Bemidji Lumberjacks won the Region Eight baseball title on Tuesday night, and on their play they deserved the championship. It was an oddity, though, that in the championship game there was only one base hit made, and the lone safety was a first-inning ground single by Marv Hanson of Bemidji.

The Prowlers, in their two regional tournament games, against Warroad on Monday, and Bemidji on Tuesday, could collect but one hit. That lone hit was Jerry Erickson's two-run double on Monday.

It was surely a pitcher's series, for in the Fertile vs. Bemidji semi-finals game on Tuesday afternoon, Fertile could get but two hits off Bemidji's Jerry Fossand, and Bemidji had only four hits off Rod Olson and Paul Sannes, the Fertile pitchers. It was unfortunate that Fertile's Olson, perhaps the finest pitcher in the region, was below par for Tuesday's game. It seems that Olson, who is employed by a nursery at Fertile, was up in a tree, doing some limb-pruning on Monday and took a tumble. He injured his left foot, and it was evident that he could not take a full stride off the mound. The Jacks raked his offerings for three hits and three runs in one-third of an inning. And that just isn't being done to a pitcher of Rod Olson's caliber.

Harold (Pinky) Kraft, the personable University of North Dakota baseball coach, was in attendance at the regional tournament. Pinky expressed great interest in the Prowlers' John Aune, who is undoubtedly the best high school catcher in these parts. He was told that John is headed for Carleton college in Northfield. And Fertile's Olson, who also attracted Kraft's attention, appears to lean toward Concordia college.

Prowler Nine Defeats Warroad with Rally

The Prowlers capitalized on four bases on balls, a two-run double by Jerry Erickson, and an error to score four runs in the last half of the seventh inning to defeat the Warroad Warriors, 4 to 3, in a Region Eight semi-finals game played at Fosston on Monday afternoon.

For six innings, coach Ralph Skay's club had been held hitless and scoreless by the lefthanded slants of Art Blackburde, and holding a 3 to 0 lead entering the final inning of play, it appeared, that coach Tony Stukel's Warriors, the champions of District 32, would defeat the Prowlers of District 31.

In this believe-it-or-not seventh inning, Blackburde struck out Paul Klungness, the Prowlers' first batter. Dave Erickson drew a walk, as did Dick Johnson, Wayne Smith, and Rick Jensen, forcing in a Prowler run. Jerry Erickson slashed a double down the left-field line, scoring Dave Ellingson, who was running for Johnson, and Don Mathieu, who was running for Smith.

Jensen, attempting to score the winning run, was out at the plate, Tougas to Blackburde to Jaros. With Jerry Erickson perched on second base, Jack Leedahl drove a ground ball to shortstop, and when the ball eluded Allen Kostynyk and trickled into the outfield, Erickson scampered home with the game-winning run.

Warroad moved into a 1 to 0 lead in the first inning when they tagged starter Jensen for four singles. Dick Heppner led off with a looping single over shortstop; Herb Trimborne singled to center field; Kostynyk bounced into a double play, Jerry Erickson to Dave Erickson to Paul Klungness, with Heppner advancing to third. Blackburde singled, scoring Heppner. After Jim Jaros had singled, Jensen stopped the threat by striking out Vern Hodgson.

The Warriors added two runs in the fifth inning, with two walks, a force play, an error, and a passed ball accounting for the tallies. John Aune took over the pitching duties for the Prowlers after Jensen had walked Charles Marvin to open the fifth inning, and the Prowler captain gained credit for the come-from-behind win.

Look out for Military Convoys on Highways

June brings annual field training exercises for thousands of civilian soldiers who pour into Camp Ripley, near Little Falls, for two weeks of active duty. These movements bring problems to Minnesota motorists as they result in a heavy increase of military traffic on the state's highways.

Convoys of trucks, jeeps, military equipment, and artillery will be moving toward Camp Ripley on regular schedules throughout the summer beginning with Sunday, June 2. That day, 1,000 National Guardsmen crossed the state from South Dakota as the 147th Field Artillery Group moves by truck and bus to the training center, towing their heavy howitzers.

The following Saturday, June 8, the first units of Minnesota troops will move into the reservation as all of the Gopher state's armored units, including motorized cavalry, begin their training. There will be no tanks on the roadways, however, as a pool of these heavy vehicles is kept at Camp Ripley for field training.

The bulk of Minnesota troops will be moving into Camp Ripley, Saturday, June 15, from all directions as the guardsmen travel from home armories to the field training site. Nearly 8,000 members of the 47th Viking division, from all corners of the state, Virginia, Winona, Luverne, and Thief River Falls, and 62 other communities, will move in convoys beginning at sunrise and lasting until early afternoon.

Return movements will be made two weeks later at the completion of training.

Military commanders are concerned about the interference with civilian traffic these convoys may cause. Routes and schedules are arranged for the best manner of blending the convoys into regular traffic. Motorized equipment will be spaced to permit other cars to pass individual units without the necessity of making long passing movements to get by the entire convoy.

Principal highways carying convoys on Saturdays during the next three months include THs 10, 52, 23, 238, 71, 61 and 65 as they converge on THs 371 and 115.

Maintenance Job Let in Kittson Co.

Maintenance awards on ten projects have been made totaling $802,000 for work in 41 counties to be done on about 500 miles of trunk highways, the Minnesota highway department announced this week. The projects consist mostly of stockpiling of aggregate and other materials for work on numerous highways.

The projects listed by maintenance area, trunk highways, work involved and successful bidders, include Maintenance Area 2B. (Headquarters Crookston). TH 11. Plant - mixed bituminous surface and gravel shoulders on this highway in Kittson county, Jay W. Craig, Minneapolis, $118,338.

Colored Oleo Due in State July 1st

Will Pay Special Tax of Ten Cents Per Pound

Even though state tax stamps may not be ready, Minnesota houswives still will be able to buy yellow oleomargerine on July 1, the date set by the legislature.

That was the promise last Tuesday of Duane Wilson, commissioner of agriculture, following a conference with oleo manufacturers.

In lieu of the stamps, Wilson told the group their initial shipments into the state might be hand-stamped or imprinted with the information that the 10-cent per pound levy had been paid.

Wilson said the first order, for 2 million revenue stamps has been placed, representing when sold a $200,000 income for the state. He said as many as another five million probably would be ordered in the near future.

The commissioner also told the oleo makers that a new plant to manufacture their product within the state would also be most welcome.

Many Campers to Go to U.S. Square Dance Convention

Over 650 camping units from the fifty states will converge on St. Paul June 20-22 for the 12th annual national square dance convention, acording to general chairman Gordan Pierce, Elbow Lake, Minn.

The large contingent of campers is a unique feature of a national square dance convention, Pierce pointed out.

"Campers" include house trailers, overland campers, tents, and all trailer-type vehicles, he said.

Facilities for the campers will be made at Lorraine and Kaposia parks in South St. Paul, Harriet Island in St. Paul and the Volunteers of America camp in Forest Lake.

The camping committee will make up specific locations for camp sites, reserve spots, and handle all physical details for the campers.

Minnesota square dancers can obtain information by writing National Square Dance Convention, Box 3330, St. Paul, Minn.

Highway Signs to List Population of State Towns

The Minnesota highway department plans to put the population on all town name identification signs erected at the entrance of municipalities on the state's trunk highways.

The changeover won't be immediate but will occur gradually over the next few years. As it becomes necessary to recondition or replace a town name sign, the new sign will bear the official population of the community.

Population figures used will be restricted to those listed in the 1960 federal census.

The average life of a reflectorized town name sign is about four years, with some signs lasting up to 12 years, according to the department. The highway department erects and maintains town name identification signs for all incorporated municipalities on the trunk highway system.

Republicans to Open Convention June 14th

Minnesota Republicans will converge on Alexandria by the hundreds for a two-day convention Friday and Saturday, June 14-15, it was announced by state GOP chairman Robert A. Forsythe.

Highlight of the two day session will be the election of officers for the coming two years. The ten top party officers are elected by the 266 member state central committee.

The elections will take place Friday, June 14 at the Viking Motel ballroom.

The convention proper will be held Saturday beginning with 8 a. m. registration at the Jefferson high school gymnasium. The convention will be called to order at 9 a. m.

"The program for the two days calls for a combination of business and fun," Forsythe said. "Delegates will come away from this convention ready for the job that lies ahead—victory in 1964."

Friday's events, in addition to election of officers, include a panel discussion on state issues by legislators, a fish fry in Alexandria city park, and a party at the Algon Ballroom with dancing and entertainment.

Saturday's agenda features a congressional Paul Revere panel, presentation of newly elected state officers, reports from the present state officers and from auxiliaries, a box lunch, addresses by State Auditor Staff King, State Treasurer Val Bjornson and former Governor Elmer L. Anderson. There will also be adoption of resolutions.

WHEN a dairy farmer selects a herd sire, he checks the record-of-performance. He wants to know how the sire has performed... what he'll do for the herd's production and type.
Farmers today are also concerned about finding the best possible market for their products. And the vast majority of dairy farmers—using record-of-performance as their guide—market their milk through cooperatives!
Let's check the record-of-performance of dairy co-ops:
1. Dairy co-ops, almost without exception, have paid highest possible prices for milk and butterfat.
2. Dairy co-ops have constantly worked to lower the cost of marketing milk and other dairy products.
3. Dairy co-ops... because they are cooperatives... return the earnings to the farmer-patrons, who actually own the co-op!
4. Dairy co-ops have been leaders in developing new, profitable markets for dairy products.
One point stands out: This record-of-performance was established by farmers themselves... because they own the co-ops. That's why it's a shining record!

$175 Million

Hearings on the Civil Defense shelter program started last week when a congressional study-committee brought in a report that was anything but encouraging for those who supported the administration's proposed expansion plan that would cost $175 million. The report charged that the shelter program was technically and morally unsound.

The Civil Defense organization recently suffered another reverse, in the state of Oregon where the legislature voted to abolish the program, following similar action by the Council in the city of Portland. Federal Civil Defense officials received no support from Senator Wayne Morse, Democrat of Oregon. In answer to a Pentagon appeal, he charged that the national program was senseless, wasteful and unrealistic.

But a couple of reverses may not be enough to assure a sane solution for the problem. The spenders have a lot of power when they start throwing their weight around.

Victory in Japan

Astronaut John H. Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, spent 25 days in Japan recently and apparently his informal visit was an outstanding success from a public relations standpoint. Reporters seem to think that as a result of his visit the Japanese think better of us.

Sharp contrasts were noted in the manner in which our Lieutenant Colonel Glenn and Russia's Major Gagarin, an earlier visitor, conducted themselves.

According to an Associated Press report the Japanese were pleased with Gagarin, but he was kept under close wraps by accompanying Russian officials.

Glenn travelled casually. He talked with groups ranging from school kids to scientists and high officials. He was accessible to almost anyone who wanted to ask him a question.

The contrast led one of the influential newspapers to comment editorially as follows:

> "Maj. Gagarin was in uniform from the beginning to the end of his visit . . . His replies to questions were reserved and he skillfully dodged the most important points.
> "In contrast to this, Lt. Col. Glenn was dressed informally in a civilian suit wearing a bow tie of his liking. He was active and decisive in his attitude, giving the impression of dauntlessness. Everything about him was openly candid."

If this editorial comment is typical of the Japanese reaction generally then Glenn did score a significant victory. There is no doubt about the American performance. There is some room for doubt about the truth of some of the Russian claims.

Inflation

In the year 1955 the federal government spent $64.4 billion. The estimated expenditures for the year 1964 is $98.8, and some authorities think they will exceed that total substantially. The estimated deficit for the period from 1955 hrough 1964 is $46 billion.

Dr. Harley L. Lutz, professor emeritus of public finance of Princeton University, writing in the Wall Street Journal, cites these figures in pointing out reasons why our federal government should have a firm debt limit. He states that our government's failure to live within its means has seriously weakened the government's credit, and continued mismanagement could result in a serious threat to that credit.

Long term government obligations no longer are popular. Dr. Lutz states that in 1946 the average maturity of federal debt was a little more than nine years. As of December, 1962, the average maturity had dropped to less than five years. That trend can be attribued to a lack of confidence in the government and a fear of inflation. He offers four reasons why there should be a firm debt limit:

1. The absence of a debt limit would tend toward even less compunction regarding debt financing and an even greater readiness to resort to it than now exists.

2. Debt limitation is widely regarded as visible evidence of fiscal integrity, that is, the honesty and sincerity of the Government's intention regarding the value of the currency and of all fixed investments. The rigamarole of a debt limit which always moves upward just one step ahead of spending is a kind of lip service to the concept of fiscal integrity but it is of no avail as a protection against the perils of unlimited debt increase.

3. A firm debt limit would be a powerful source of confidence among investors with regard to the stability of the public debt as a long-range investment.

4. While a firm debt limit would not necessarily prevent increased spending, it would indirectly operate in that direction. The limit would involve the obligation to pay cash on the barrel head and this would tend toward a more careful public appraisal of the utility of spending programs as against the disutility of the additional taxes required to support them.

In conclusion he offers the following good advice to the members of the very important House Ways and Means Committee:

"A final point: It is not generally realized that the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives is, in a real and important sense, the key to our problem. This committee has original jurisdiction over revenue measures and the debt limit. It thus occupies a unique position in the area of fiscal policy determination. While its recommendations on taxes and other matters have not been accepted by the Congress in every case, its influence is great.

"In the past this committee has initiated many of the tax policies which are now so generally under attack, and its complaisant attitude on the debt limit has, to say the least, not discouraged deficit spending. This financial course has not contriubted to satisfactory economic growth.

"The Committee now has the opportunity — and the challenge — to change direction, to exert its influence toward reducing and limiting the drag of Government on the economy, and to exercise its powerful leadership for the growth of the economy rather than the growth of government. Sound tax reform and a firm position on the debt limit are essential steps to this end."

Man and the Machine

Few of the good things in this world are unmixed blessings. There generally is some evil closely associated with what is good.

We know, for instance, that our higher standard of living is due largely to machines that have multiplied the productivity of man's labor. We also know that, during periods of adjustment, machines reduce the need for manual labor. It is the period of adjustment that brings hardship to individuals and creates social problems.

We now are in such a period of transition. Production is high, but unemployment also is high. Perhaps the thing that is different about this particular period of transition is the fact that it comes close to being worldwide. It is world-wide to the extent that it is a problem in that part of the world that is industrialized and that, now, is a large part of the world, certainly a very important part.

Throughout the world there are social problems, and where there are social problems there are political problems. Political problems create an abundance of promising politicians who add to the confusion. And too often the confusion leads to dictatorships, replacing freedom as we understand it.

It is during periods of adjustment such as that which we now are experiencing that a calm and reasonable restraint is essential to progress. The machine is good. Mechanization is good, automation is good. Gradually these developments will raise the living standards of the people of all nations.

For many peoples it will be a slow process. For some nations centuries of progress probably will be required. Experience is always an important factor in progress, and experience cannot be made available in the form of pink pills or patent medicines.

A perfect world is still a vision enjoyed by the many who are gullible and by a few who are sincerely hopeful.

(Sleepy Eye Herald Dispatch

If the federal administration wishes to provide jobs for young people just out of school or drop-outs, boys who are not planning to attend college, there is a better way than "made work" financed by government.

Those old enough to remember the "made work" in the 1930's recall that it helped to tide families over a rough spot, but that the work, itself, was half work or even one-third work—very poor training for anyone.

If teenagers are recruited to work on public-financed conservation programs, they will get the same kind of training.

If the administration wishes to help young folks find jobs, it will repeal laws and union-dominated rules and regulations which prevent employers paying learners only what they are worth until they get a little experience.

Admittedly, we need laws to keep grasping employers from taking advantage of youth, as happened in bygone years. At the same time, common sense should be used in setting up rules providing for the training of young men for a useful occupation.

Mrs. Ed [illegible]

Friday afternoon a false alarm was sent in to the Karlstad fire department saying there was a fire in the home of Supt. Bjornstad. This is a very serious offense and we did give our young people a little credit for having more brains than to do a thing like that! During the afternoon telephone calls had been received by local residents which were answered by some foolishness like "Cha Cha Cha" etc.

Vandals destroyed the lawn furniture of Claude Johnson Saturday evening. The store was still open when the destruction was going on. Five of their newly painted hardwood chairs were completely demolished and the boards had been ripped off the table top when they must have been frightened away. Can you account for behavior like that?

Groceries have also been stolen out of the school so maybe "the apples haven't fallen far from the tree" as the saying goes.

Friends and relatives again gathered Memorial Day to honor veterans by attending the program in the school auditorium. The veterans and band, followed by by a long line of cars also went out to the cemetery and conducted a service there.

Monza Spyder Club Coupe

Come hill . . . or high water
Vacations go smoother in a Chevrolet Corvair
Bring on those mountains! They're not so high and mighty when you've got Corvair's gutty six and rear-engine traction working on them.
You scurry up the meanest grades. You move with sure-footed agility on wet pavement, muddy lanes, gravel and other would-be miseries.
And with most of Corvair's weight on the rear wheels, you have easy steering, too. Fact is, the handling's so light and responsive we don't even offer power steering for the car.
And there's more to feel good about. No problems with your radiator boiling over or going dry, because there's no radiator. Corvair's engine is air cooled. No concern about brake adjustments, either, because the brakes adjust themselves. Nothing much to think about at all except the good time you're having.
Like to do that in a sporty bucket-seated Monza Club Coupe or Convertible? Like to spring into summer with a 4-speed stick shift* and Spyder package* with its 150-hp Turbocharged engine? Your dealer's got just the Corvair and the Trade 'N' Travel deal on it to put you in a holiday mood.

FARMING TODAY

Alfalfa Winter Killing

Many county farmers report serious winter killing of alfalfa stand, and especially the older stands. For those who will need hay next winter, it would be well to consider one of the following:

Oats will make good hay or pasture. When used for hay the crop should reach late milk stage before harvest. For pasture graze when 10 to 14 inches tall. Strip grazing will increase grazing from oats and vie increased use of this crop.

Rape pasture for sheep, hogs and beef cattle is good. It grows rapidly and continues growth very late in the season. Graze when 10 inches tall. Rape taints milk so it should not be used for dairy cows.

Sudangrass of the Piper variety produces hay or silage. It is low in prussic acid and yields very well if the weather is warm. Grazing should be done after sudan grass is 18 inches high. Sorghums may also be used for hay or silage but varieties like Waconia, Rox orange, Black Amber and others are high in prussic acid. Sorghums require even warmer weather than millet.

Peas may be mixed with oats or millet, to increase protein. Oats at 2 bushels per acre plus one bushel of peas makes excellent silage in this area.

Underseed any of the above crops with alfalfa for next year. This will work especially well if you take the crop for silage and leave the field to the legume to a longer period in the fall.

Plan now for your forage and pasture needs. Sheet No. 7 available at the extension office will give you more details on seeding rates, time of planting, etc. Call us at 681-2116.

Wild Oats

This old pest is back in full force this year. If your crop is planted and wild oats is coming in flax, barley, or wheat, use Barban (Carbyne) to control wild oats. Spray in the two-leaf stage, 4 to 10 days after the wild oats comes up. Use 4 to 6 oz. of barban per acre.

If you are still seeding flax, wheat, or barley you can use Avadex effectively by putting it on right after drilling. Use 1¼ lbs. per acre.

If you underseed a crop with legumes it's O. K. to spray with barban or Avadex anyway.

A wide variety of land use adjustments are being made on farms throughout Minnesota. A study of 88 examples reveals 32 per cent reduction in cropland on those farms with a 51 per cent increase in grassland. Woodland acreage increased 62 per cent and wildlife and recreation acreages increased 262 per cent. Conversions included such diverse projects as farmer-managed golf courses, tree and shrub nurseries, Christmas tree plantations, wild life areas, hunting preserves and cropland changed over to beef cattle pasturage.

..Contour stripcropping in the Sand Creek Watershed in Rice County is on the increase. Aldis Johnson, SCS work unit conservationist at Faribault, says requests for 1963 layout appear above the average for earlier years. The landscape and scenery of the area indicates growing public awareness to soil and water conservation needs. Elmer Vikla, Rice SWCD cooperator and a contour strip cropper for years, says, "We are beginning to see what our problems are."

Old permanent grass pasture can be a big feed reservoir for dairy herds. In northeastern Minnesota fertilized grass on 15 farms produced as much total digestible nutrient per acre as would have been derived from 89 bushels of corn.

..A quarter million fish fingerlings have been raised during the last nine years on a farm pond Alvin Arvidson, Parkers Prairie, provided the Miltona Sportsmen's Club. Arvidson was named Otter Tail county's farmer-sportsman of the year. He has provided wildlife shelter wherever he could on his 210-acre farm. He leaves corn and sorghum standing for pheasant feed each fall and has a grove of trees to give protection for other wildlife.

Water Contamination Hearing Conducted

The Minnesota water pollution control commission conducted a hearing on Thursday, May 23, into clean-up measures being undertaken by the Richards Oil Company at Savage to prevent further oil pollution of the Minnesota and Mississippi rivers.

Last winter over one million gallons of oil escaped through a broken pipe line into swamp areas and ditches adjacent to the company's oil storage facilities. Much of the oil found its way into the river.

At about the same time a soy bean oil storage tank collapsed at Mankato discharging about three million gallons of the thick substance onto streets, railroad tracks and nearly residential and business property.

In an effort to dispose of the material a considerable volume was released into the Blue Earth river which drains into the Minnesota river at Mankato. The Minnesota joins the Mississippi at Fort Snelling in the Twin Cities.

Additional quantities apparently ran out of a ravine into which it had been dumped into the Blue Earth river before the ravine could be sealed off.

At the hearing Thursday, the commission heard Myron Richards president of Richards Oil company explain the steps his company is taking to clean up the oil still lying in ditches and marshes on or near his property. It was reported that recent heavy rains had caused additional discharges of the oil into the river.

Richards said he has had plans to remove the oil and that he intends to adopt the safety standards of the American Petroleum Institute concerning the storage of oil in order to prevent reoccurrence of the incident.

Thousands of ducks as well as beaver, muskrat, fish and other wildlife were killed in the waters of the Mississippi river as a result of the pollution.

Beaches and other shore line recreation areas were also damaged by the oil. For a time it was feared that down-river communities depending on the river for water for domestic use would encounter a health hazard from the pollution.

The state has also received a certain amount of unsavory nationwide publicity questioning the value of the state as a tourist meca when it is apparently unable to prevent contamination of its rivers and streams.

Health Insurance Benefit Payment Total Rises in '63

Health insurance benefit payments by insurance companiest during the first three months of 1963 exceeded $1 billion, the Health Insurance Institute reported today.

The Institute said insurance companies paid $1,001,265,00 in health insurance benefits to the public through the end of March, and said the sum was 8.2 per cent higher than the $925 million distributed in the first three months of 1962.

In all of 1962, an estimated total of $7.1 billion in benefits were paid by insurance companies, Blue Cross-Blue Shield, and other health care plans. Nearly $3.8 billion of these benefits came from insurance companies, including some $906 million to persons covered by policies which replace income lost through disability, the Institute declared.

Benefit payments this year by insurance companies are running ahead of last year for all five types of health insurance-hospital expense, surgical expense, regular medical expense, major medical expense, and loss of income.

Give Suggestions to Drivers Using State Freeways

Courteous driving pays a dividend in safety on freeways as it does on any street or highway. Courtesy is necessary for the safe, unimpeded flow of traffic on the freeway.

Over-courteousness, however, can create hazardous situations and impede the flow of traffic.

The most important act of courtesy on the freeway is to provide ample space, whenever possible, for any vehicle to merge safely from an entrance ramp with the main traffic stream.

If you are in the right-hand lane and you observe a vehicle about to enter the main flow of traffic, slow down as much as safety permits to allow that vehicle to merge without danger.

Over-courteousness can be a greater danger than lack of courtesy. The driver who stops suddenly to permit another motorist to enter from a ramp—the driver who pulls over to the shoulder or from an inside to an outside lane, without looking, to permit another motorist to pass—the driver who stops on an entrance or exit ramp—these drivers are a great danger on the freeway, and aften are responsible for accidents and traffic jams.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo North Dakota.

Q — As a peacetime — or "cold war" .. veteran, am I entitled to treatment in a Veterans Administration outpatient clinic or by a private doctor and have the VA pay for it?

A — You are entitled to outpatient treatment, or treatment by an approved private physician as well as medicine and bandages ONLY if you are a veteran (either peacetime or wartime service) with a disability incured or aggravated in service.

Q — I understand that if someone else assumes my GI home loan mortgage I am still personally liable for repayment of the debt. Can that be ?

A — The sale or transfer of property subject to or by the assumption of a GI loan generally means that the purchaser does NOT become personally liable for the repayment of the debt. However, in certain cases the lender, with prior approval of the VA, may consent to the release of the veteran's personal liability. Consult your lender.

Q — Is a veteran who was drafted and served only a two-year hitch and saw no actual wartime service eligible to be buried in Arlington or any other National Cemetery?

A — Yes, any veteran who has a discharge other than dishonorable is eligible for burial in a National Cemetary. Application should go to the superintendant of the National Cemetary in which burial is desired. Any VA office will provide assistance. Application should be made at time of death for grave sites are not reserved.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson

Manager Chamber of Commerce

The Minnesota dairy industry is the largest industry in the state. This has been proven many times and is a fact that most people in this area realize and understand.

It is no secret that Thief River Falls is nearly the largest dairy center in Minnesota and it is no secret that the granddaddy of all dairy days, Northwest Dairy Day, originated here.

Next week the 14th annual Northwest Dairy Day will arrive on Tuesday, June 11. As usual, we hope for another beautiful day.

Northwest Dairy Day is the highlight of the dairy year in this area as 300 boys and girls participate in the cattle show and the princess contest. Over $3,000 in prizes are awarded to the 4-H and FFA youngsters which is quite an incentive to participate. Area banks, creameries and businesses contribute all of the money to sponsor the 14-year-old event.

This year Kathleen Hjelle of Argyle, our last year's dairy princess, who became Princess Kay of the Milky Way, will crown the new Northwest Dairy Princess to highlight the day. The new princess will, of course, lead the famous Parade of Champions.

All in all, it's going to be a great day that nobody should miss so why not come in and enjoy yourself, here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

Each year for this service an offering for Scholarships and Student Loans is taken, as part of the regular budget for missions.

Last year 2,930 Methodist students borrowed from the fund an amount of $967,000. 475 youth received National Scholarships. Over the 90 years of this fund nearly 84,000 students have had help from loans and scholarships. A student need not attend a Methodist school in order to make use of this fund. Loans can be made to students in any accredited college or university who fulfill the requirements. We feel the theme for this special day's service for 1963 is especially good, "Students Are the Church's Business". Plan to attend and take part in this nation-wide observance in our church.

This week the Jr. and Sr. MYFs will have an outing at the I. Muzzy farm. You will be notified by phone. Plan to come for work-fun.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Bim is a clown—that is his business. He can always do the wrong thing at the right time.

But Bim is no fool. Out of the circus ring he always tries to do the right thing at the right time. Those winter Sundays in Florida, before the show goes on the road, you might sit next to Bim in church, and never know he is a clown.

And even though on the road, when Sunday is moving day, Bim gets out his old worn Bible and his teacher's guide, and with his own kids, and with all the other "show" kids gathered 'round him, there is Sunday School on the circus train.

You see, Bim is a Christian, living his faith through all the complications of a strange occupation. He is not a mask—he is Bim. He is the Churchman of a circus train—the Sunday School teacher of show business. He knows when to put fun and frolic aside, and turn to the Truth by which we live!

The Church invites you and your family to worship next Sunday and every Sunday.

Country Style Music Invades City Tuesday

Grand Ole Opry Performance Set At Lincoln High

Plenty of good, old-fashioned guitar picking and singing will be in store for area residents who attend the Grand Ole Opry performance in Thief River Falls on Tuesday evening. Under the sponsorship of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, the show will be staged at 7:30 p. m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium with a dance to follow at 10 p. m. in the National Guard armory.

Tickets are still on sale for the reduced price of one dollar, but admission at the gate will be $1.50. Tickets in advance are available at Chamber of Commerce office, Union State Bank, Northern State Bank, First Federal Savings & Loan association, Thief River Pharmacy, J & B Drugs, Parkins Corner Drug, Stan & Otto's Red Owl, Larson Music company, Hartz Supermarket and Piggly Wiggly supermarket.

Tickets may also be purchased at special area offices arranged at business places in 32 area communities. They are available in a general area south to Erskine, east to Oklee and Grygla, north to Roseau and west to Hallock and Warren.

Minnie Pearl, billed as America's foremost country-style comedianne, will be the feature attraction of the program. A longtime favorite on Grand Ole Opry, "Cousin Minnie" has appealed to audiences throughout the United States with her homespun humor. From her opening "How-dee! I'm just so proud to be hyere!" to her parting words she is guaranteed to please her audience.

Red Sovine, a veteran of the country music field, is a radio, television, stage and recording artist. He has been with the Grand Ole Opry for nine years and also spent five years prior to 1954 with the Louisiana Hayride. His first real start came after he won an amateur contest. Now a featured artist, he will serve as master of ceremonies at the Tuesday night program.

Carl Belew is a newcomer to the country music spotlight but has gained a large following in a short time. A master of the guitar, Belew also has a rich voice for folk singing and has written a number of songs.

Connie Hall has been described as "a country girl from Corbin, Kentucky, who wanted to sing." She has recorded for Mercury and Decca records and was recently voted one of the "most programmed" females by Billboard and Cashbox magazines.

For country music and humor at its best, area residents are urged by the sponsoring organization to attend the program at 7:30 p. m. and-or the dance at 10 p. m. Tuesday.

Man Is Indicted in Murder of Former Greenbush Pastor

Robt. Chapman, Albert Lea, Charged In Slaying Rev. B. E. Nyjordet, 43

The Freeborn county grand jury at Albert Lea Saturday returned a first degree murder indictment against a young Albert Lea man accused of killing an Iowa minister.

The grand jury had eight witnesses in two days before bringing in the indictment against Robert E. Champman, 22.

Chapman was arraigned immediately in district court, but his court-appointed attorneys asked for additional time before entering a plea. He is being held in the Freeborn county jail on $50,000 bond.

Chapman is accused of the stabbing-shooting death of the Rev. B. E. Nyjordet, 43, Lutheran minister from Silver Lake, Iowa whose body was found in a remote game refuge area east of Albert Lea May 24.

Mr. Nyjordet previously had served as pastor of a Greenbush church.

Freeborn county sheriff Everett Slovern previously had reported that Chapman, a parolee from St. Cloud State Reformatory, had signed a statement admitting the crime.

Chapman said in the statement that he shot and stabbed the minister near Hayward, Minn., then drove the victim's car around for a while, dumped the body, parked the car and walked home.

RETURNING to Thief River Falls for an engagement at Northwest Dairy Day Tuesday will be Kathleen Hjelle of Argyle, Princess Kay of the Milky Way. Miss Hjelle was a contestant from Marshall county in last year's competition, and this year will crown her successor as Northwest Dairy Princess. The coronation will take place Tuesday afternoon as one of the highlights of the 14th annual Northwest Dairy Day in this city. In recognition of her contribution to the dairy industry and the manner in which she has represented Region I, the board of directors of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association will honor Princess Kay at a special gathering this evening.

Kathleen Hjelle, Argyle Returns To Home Grounds

Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Kathleen Hjelle of Argyle, will return to her home region Tuesday to crown her successor as Northwest Dairy Princess. The coronation will be one of the highlights of the 14th annual Northwest Dairy Day, one of the state's outstanding salutes to the dairy industry, which will be held in Thief River Falls—home of the nation's original Dairy Day.

Stuart McLeod, president of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, sponsor of Dairy Day, states that he has again ordered clear and sunny weather for the annual event. In the 13 previous years that Dairy Day has been held in Thief River Falls, bad weather has never threatened the outdoor dairy show or princess contest. Dairy Day officials are knocking on wood and crossing their fingers that good weather will bless the event again.

With nearly 300 dairy animals expected for the dairy show, unloading will begin about 7 a. m. Tuesday when the first trucks begin to arrive. Cattle will be cleaned and prepared for showing in the parking area just south of the city arena and be led through the alley between Main and Knight avenues to the show area. Second street from Main to Knight avenues will be blocked at both ends and covered with wood shavings to form the show area.

County Grouping

As a new innovation in the procedure this year, all animals entered in the show will be tied in county groups, according to Marian Augustine, chairman of the placement committee. While the tie-up is in progress, early comers will receive their awards in the city auditorium. A total of $3,000 in prizes is offered to competitors in the Dairy Day activities.

Princess contestants who will be seeking the Northwest Dairy Princess title will be interviewed by the judges at the Elks club rooms beginning at 9 a. m. Coronation of the new princess will be the "crowning event" of the afternoon awards program and will take place in the dairy show area.

103 Calves in Class I

According to Roland K. Larson, secretary of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, all indications point to another successful Northwest Dairy Day. Dedicate Redlake Hospital Saturday

Congratulations to the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians for "remarkable achievement in health service" were extended Saturday by Dr. Carruth J. Wagner, chief of the Division of Indian Health, Washington, D. C. Dr. Wagner was guest speaker at dedication ceremonies for the new hospital addition at Redlake.

"Evidence of the effectiveness of the health program is in the children here today," Dr. Wagner said. "The health service is proud of the fact tht 97 to 98 per cent of all children born on the reservation are now born in our hospital and they receive health care, as they grow.

"Since we operate under very limited resources, the excellence of your hospital is due mainly to the dedicated duty of your staff. Their extra hours and extra duties make this level of achievement possible. While you have greater care per patient required than most community hospitals, you have less than two-thirds the employee-patient ratio that they have," he said.

Roger Jourdain, chairman of the Red Lake Tribal Council, served as master of ceremonies for the event. In his welcome he noted that members of his tribe must have good schools and a good hospital. Speaking in Chippewa, he thanked the Indian people for coming and noted that the delegation of visiting dignitaries had made a tour of the reservation.

Jerome Morelock, superintendent of the bureau of Indian affairs at Redlake, stated that very few reservations in the United States have as fine a hospital and that few anywhere have as dedicated a staff.

Following the speaking program, conducted tours of the hospital facility were held. The 26-bed addition and remodeled space in the adjoining old hospital provide a modern medical center for the

Judy Anderson Speaks Vows with Ron D. Arnold

Miss Judy Lee Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Anderson of rural Thief River Falls, and Ronald D. Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Arnold of Plummer, were united in marriage May 25, at the Rosewood Covenant church. Reverend Walter Blackwood performed the double-ring ceremony before a large number of relatives and friends. The altar was lighted with tapers in candelabra.

Mrs. Blackwood played the traditional wedding music at the organ, while Mrs. Walter Rafteseth played the accompaniment for her husband's singing of "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, wore a moderately full-skirted gown of lace and net over satin, which fell into a full-length train. Her veil was fashioned of the same lace as the gown, and was enhanced with pearls. The only jewelry worn was a necklace of pearls, a gift of the groom. Her cascade bouquet was of pink roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Larry Schneider was matron of honor, with Misses Vivian Copeland and Shirley Anderson as bridesmaids. They wore lavender blue and pink gowns respectively. The gowns, of nylon taffeta, matched their hats, and were all fashioned, as was Miss Anderson's bridal gown, by her sister, Mrs. Larry Schneider. The bouquets carried by the attendants were pink roses and white carnations.

Larry Gene Schneider the ring-bearer, carried a pillow of white satin covered with lace matching that of the bride's dress.

Darlene Johnson, the flower-girl, carried a crocheted basket with pink roses and white carnations.

Richard Anderson served as best man, with Jerry Nelson and Wayne Konickson, Minneapolis, as groomsmen. The men of the party wore black suits.

The bride's mother chose to wear a sheath of white lace over beige taffeta. The mother of the groom wore a beige and brown sheath. Their corsages were of pink roses and white carnations.

Serving as ushers were Robert Anderson and Gerald Manning.

The reception for the newlyweds was held in the church parlors. The four-tiered bridal cake, baked and decorated by the bride's mother, was decorated with pink roses and green leaves. The top was adorned by a miniature bride and groom encircled with lace.

Mrs. Laurence Dargus, aunt of the groom, poured and Mrs. Wayne Konickson cut the cake. Attending the guest book was Miss Linda Arnold. Mrs. Richard Anderson and Mrs. Robert Anderson were in charge of the gift table. Misses Caroline Lambert, Marion Copeland, Jeannie Steinhauer and LuAnn Lubitz served as waitresses.

The couple spent several days honeymooning at Kansas City, Kan., and upon their return are making their home in this city.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. ORVILLE D. LARSON

To make "snack-time" health time, for the kiddies and their elders as well, these peanut butter bars are a wonderful choice, what with oatmeal, peanut butter and butter and eggs among the main ingredients in the recipe. They will transport well to a picnic, or to the patio or backyard, where, at the grill, the man of the house is preparing "burnt offerings" for the family he adores.

Mrs. Larson assures us that these bars are not too sweet, and adds that they are great favorites at her house. They've been child-tested there: the Larsons have three cookie-testers, all small-fry, but with ample capacity. They live on a farm, where there is plenty of opportunity to work up appetities. The farm is located near Holt.

PEANUT BUTTER FINGERS

Cream together:
½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
½ cup firmly-packed brown sugar

Blend in:
1 unbeaten egg
one-third cup peanut butter
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
vanilla

Stir in:
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats. Mix well.

Spread in greased 13x9" pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Remove from oven. Sprinkle over the baked mixture 1 six-ounce package chocolate chips. Let stand five minutes until chips soften, then spread the chocolate evenly over the surface. Drizzle over this the following mixture:

½ cup sifted powdered sugar
¼ cup peanut butter
2 to 4 tablespoons evaporated milk.
Cool. Cut into bars.

Our homemaker says that the chewiness and softness of these bars improves if they are left to stand, covered, for a day or so.

Mr. Larson is a rural mail carrier at Holt. The children we mentioned earlier . . . the cookie-testers, are Craig, 6; Jerold, 5, and Tonia, 3. Their mom likes sewing, reading, and playing the piano, she says, adding that she does these when there is time, which isn't too often. With three children in those age-ranges, there's not much question as to what demands are made on her leisure hours.

4-H Club Work Helps Develop Citizenship

What is the role of a citizen in a constantly changing society? Although this question may never be fully resolved, there are many avenues of development a young person can follow to become a mature and well rounded citizen.

Participation in 4-H club work assists young people with their development through a variety of projects and special activities. 4-H'ers put their slogan "learning by doing" into practice as they organize, plan and run their own programs in their local 4-H club. Members serve as officers and as junior leaders. The junior leadership project provides experienced older 4-H'ers with a variety of leadership opportunities. They act as project leaders, teaching and helping the younger members plan and carry out work for their projects.

Often, clubs select a special citizenship activity such as health, safety or recreation and carry it out at the community level by entertaining at hospitals, assisting with health campaigns or conducting drives to reflectorize machinery and bicycles.

Through the 4-H radio speaking contest, 4-H'ers take a look at their relationships with others at home and abroad. In addition to developing an inquiring mind about human relationships, the members learn to organize their throughts and to communicate their ideas effectively. Two special projects emphasize citizenship at the national & international level. Approximately 30 4-H'ers who participate in the annual Minnesota-Maryland exchange see how 4-H'ers live and work in another state and attend a citizenship short course at the National 4-H Center, Washington, D. C. The International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) program gives American young people an opportunity to live and work with a family abroad for periods from three months to one year. 4-H families in the United States also act as hosts to IFYE delegates from other counties.

The national citizenship program recognizes club members who participate in community and civic affairs and in good citizenship work. National award winners in this project have developed understanding, interest and knowledge of the responsibilities of a citizen.

Slow Down and Live!

by Virginia Gjernes

Golf courses, tennis courts and archery ranges. . .did you ever think of looking for those items in your public library? Probably not, and you're right! Your local bookery does not have a one of them, but it does have volumes describing the "Do It Yourself" methods involved in participating in each of the sports carried on in those designated areas.

Now and then arguments are touched off when friends or families play games, and rules and regulations need to be examined and interpreted in order to settle the disagreement so the contest can progress. Your library has just such books on the shelves, available to you.

Perhaps you want to improve your strokes in golf, tennis or swimming. . .there are volumes within reaching distance which describe the approved methods. If baseball is your kettle of fish, there are books and more books to give you scores of games-long-since-played and pictures and text to tell you how to improve your batting average and which mitt to wear on what base when, and which hand to wear it on, even if your name is "Lefty".

Perhaps you'll be having lots of family gatherings this summer, too, and want to plan a little something different for the aunts, uncles and cousins. . .if so, you've lots of different volumes of "Games" to choose from to select the pastimes most befitting your family's interests and abilities. Summertime is fun-and-family time and your library has volumes and volumes to help you help the others make the most of their "sum-fun days".

Eating is a great pleasure for most of us, especially during the back-yard chef's enthusiasm carries him up and away to the barbecue grill. Cook books on the shelves of your library are equipped with recipes to carry you through the most simple or the most elaborate of outdoor banquets. Then, too, there are magazines with ideas and menus accompanied by colored photographs to show you what the buffet-table will look like before the first family member or the first guest reaches out and spoils the picture.

If your littlest ones haven't yet learned to read the big words, remember there are juvenile books on the north side of the library covering each and every one of these same subjects. It's an excellent idea, isn't it, to let Junior or Sissie figure out games and rules and regulations, as well as recipes, for themselves and their friends?

Let the youngsters get in the habit of "looking it up" for it is a good habit to be developed and one which will be used more and more, throughout school years and on into the business, technical or professional world, whichever field of endeavor is pursued. And remember, there is no better place to "look it up" than in one or more of the volumes of the shelves of your public library.

Speaking of sports, it has been rumored that "Gone Fishin" signs are getting to be quite obvious around these parts. Remember, you anglers, the library has books on fishing, too, with contents ranging from "how to do it" to "what will I do with it now that I've got it?"

After you've tired yourself out playing the game, how about curling up, or stretching out, and reading a true-life story about the greatest athletes or a not-true episode about sports-minded authors' characters. Your library shelves are stocked with both kinds. . so the choice is yours. Then, too, there are periodicals catering to the various sports-minded, which are available for your use and amusement.

One last word. . .summertime is flower gardening and vegetable growing time. There are any number of books placed on the shelves just for your use. Read them and you'll be the greenest-thumbed on the block!

Will you be heading for the Library Saturday, June 22? That's the date your Friends of the Library have set for their annual Flower Show and Silver Tea. You are all invited to attend, you know, anytime during the hours from 2 to 4 p. m. If you're of a notion to have an entry, contact the library or The Friends. We'll see you soon, when you come in for your books.

Bill Introduced for Federal Aid to Great River Road

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey last week introduced in Congress a bill to help construct the "Great River Road, a scenic parkway running the full length of the Mississippi River.

The legislation would help the ten states bordering the Mississippi to purchase rights of way for construction of roads, recreational facilities and rest areas and to improve existing roads to parkway standards.

It authorizes an appropriation of $2 million for each of the next two fiscal years.

Humphrey noted that the Great River Road will "enhance the beauty of the Mississippi River Valley by preserving the unspoiled countryside and by restricting roadside development."

"When completed, the Great River Road will be one of the most scienic and historic routes in our national highway system," Humphrey said.

Kathleen Hjelle . . .

Princess Kay Is 'Something Sweet'

It's quite reasonable to expect something sweet from a girl who pronounces her name "Jelly" — and there's been no disappointment in Kathy Hjelle of Argyle, Minnesota's ninth Princess Kay of the Milky Way, according to the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee.

Kathleen Hjelle
Princess Kay

Her name notwithstanding, Kathy has concerned herself primarily with butter — promoting the sale and consumption of the more than 350 million pounds Minnesota produces annually — since she received her title and crown at the 1962 Minnesota State Fair. She also represents Northwestern Minnesota Dairy farmers as Northwest Dairy Princess—first being crowned last June at Northwest Dairy Day.

During the current June Dairy Month, she has had what she calls the "glad-sad" duty of participating in the ceremonies which mark the selection of 11 finalists for the 10th annual statewide Princess Kay of the Milky Way contest. One of the girls Kathy helps crown at the regional Dairy Day events this month will receive the Princess Kay crown on opening night of the 1962 State Fair. One of these candidates will be crowned Tuesday at Dairy Day in Thief River Falls."

Kathy explains her seemingly contradictory feelings this way:

"The work I do for our industry and state as Princess Kay has been and is so satisfying that I'm naturally reluctant to think of giving up the title. But at the same time, knowing what a wonderful year she has ahead of her, I can't help feeling excited and happy for the girl who will take my place."

Such candid sincerity and willingness to do what must be done have come to be recognized as Kathy's outstanding personal contributions to the Princess Kay title, crown and total image.

With some 40,000 miles of travel and hundreds of appearances already behind her, the brown-eyed brunette from Minnesota's fabled Red River Valley still will meet thousands of Minesotans during the remaining days of her reign. Many of those days will be devoted to representing the dairy industry in the traditional round of summer festivals, fairs and parades thruout the state.

After she hands the crown and title to her successor, it will be back to the books for the pretty and personable Kathy. She completed one year of college work as a home economics major before becoming Princess Kay and will resume her studies in September —probably at the University of Minnesota.

Her after-college ambition is a career as an extension home agent.

SLOW PITCHES

— by —

Bill Herzog

With two weeks of action past, it seems to me the power in the City Softball league this year will be the Bridgemen's team. With steady pitching from Bobby Carlson and timely hitting by the "old pro", John Drury, they seem to be in front for the season.

Several other teams will leave their mark before the season is over, however. Hamm's, with strong pitching from the "old man" Milt Reierson, will give the other six teams a real run for second place. And if Wally Grovum can continue to baffle batsmen with his slower than slow pitch, they too, should be in the race all year.

This year has marked the return of Milt Reierson, who seems to be in true form, recording 20 strike-outs in two games thus far. It's been a lot of fun to see so many young men in the league this year. Del Seefeldt's Western Oil team is loaded with high school boys this year and it is my bet that the league will be hearing a great deal from them this year and in years to come. Rasmussen Insurance also has several youngsters playing for them. What they lack in experience, they sure make up in desire and ability.

Dale Seefeldt has taken an early lead in the race for league batting honors. Dale has five hits in eight at bats for a nifty .625 batting average Leading the league in strike-outs so far is Dick Williams of Bridgeman's. Fans watching the ball games will not have to worry about mosquitoes when Williams is at the state.

One Grand Slam home run has been hit so far this year. Dave Bakke performed the feat for the Rasmussen Insurance team during their rout of the National Guard. WANTED: Hitters—See Duane Glass.

Schedule, Thursday, June 13th

Times vs. Coast-to-Coast.
Ekeren Pharmacy vs. Custom Motors

The Thief River Trap Shoot league with six squads participating this season began competition on its 1963 schedule on Thursday evening. The Times, Coast-to-Coast and Ekeren Pharmacy squads were winners in their opening-round matches.

The Coast-to-Coast squad posted the evening's highest team total, marking up a 124 to 113 win over the Custom Motors. For the Coast-to-Coast team, Erling Torgerson had a 24-5, George Mickenroth a 23-5, Ike Hoglin a 21-6, Frenchy Cloutier a 19-8, and Reuben Carlson a 2-2. For the losers, two "25's" were posted, with Orvis Olen having an 18-8 and Walt Fischer a 23-3.

In what was perhaps the "feature" match of the opening round, the Times, by a one-bird margin, edged out the Wilson Bros., scoring a 121 to 120 win. For the Times, Henry Granum had an 18-7, Leif Erickson a 24, Bob Mattson a 2-2, Clarence Mattson a 2-2, and Bill Dahlquist a 17-6. Wally Vagle, with a 21-5, and Orv Ferragen, with a 19-8, had "25's" for the Wilson Bros. squad.

The Ekeren Pharmacy team, with but five shooters at the posts, defeated the Bjorkman's, 112 to 93. The Bjorkman's had but three shooters on hand for the match. For the winners, Ray Thyren had a 2-4, as did Ted LaCoursiere.

This week's matches will find the Times meeting the "high gun" Coast-to-Coast squad; the Wilson Bros. meeting the Bjorkman's; and the Ekeren Pharmacy against the Custom Motors.

TRF Legion Juniors Win First Two Games

The local American Legion junior baseball club, coached by Ralph Skay, began play on its Northwest American Legion junior baseball league schedule last week, and scored a pair of victories. Playing at Warren on Wednesday evening, the locals, in an extra-inning tilt, defeated coach Maynard Ranstrom's Warren squad 13 to 4. And on Thursday evening, in a game played on the Fair Grounds diamond here, the locals, with Tommy Cummings coming on in relief in the first inning and hurling five-hit balls in the six and one-third innings he pitched, defeated the Roseau juniors, 11 to 7.

This week's schedule will find a pair of important games on the slate, and both games will be played on the Fair Grounds diamond. On Tuesday, June 11, coach Rod Olstad will bring his Crookston juniors here for a league game; and on Thursday, June 13, the Warroad juniors will play here.

Warren found the locals erupting for seventeen hits, with John Aune leading the attack with four hits in six tries. And the locals scored nine runs in the eighth inning to break up the extra-inning tilt. Rick Jensen gave up but three hits, and for five innings the locals' righthander had a no-hit and no-run game.

In Thursday evening's tilt here, Roseau scored five runs in the first inning, with the visitors getting three hits, including a triple, three walks, and taking advantage of an error, to score their runs. The locals scored four runs in the fifth inning, and seven runs in the sixth inning to overtake the visitors and score a 11 to 7 win.

The Presthus Sweepstakes

News reports last week gave the information that the University of Minnesota was the winner in the Paul Presthus sweepstakes, and that the talented Rugby, North Dakota, athlete will become a Gopher this fall. The six-foot five-inch all-round athlete had been the subject of intense pressure by a number of colleges, and it is a compliment to the Minnesota officials and recruiters that he selected the Gopher school.

I only hope that Paul is capable of becoming a Big Ten basketball player, and that he has the career that is expected of him. There are, and have been, many tahletes who have enrolled at Minnesota, carrying reputations of varying degrees, and they have become lsot in the shuffle down there and have left the University being disappointed and disillusioned.

Jack Nielson's Case

One case is Baudette's Jack Nielson. Nielson, one of the finest all-round athletes to be produced and developed in Region Eight, is now, after spending his freshman year at Minnesota, attending Bemidji State college. Jack holds three Region Eight track records, having set marks in the 100, 220, and 440-yard dashes in the 1961 Region Eight tournament. He entered Minnesota with great expectations, but the competition down there is terrific. Jack is expected to be one of the stars on next fall's Bemidji Beavers football team, and in the annual alumni vs. varsity game played last week, he ran well from the left halfback position. Oh yes, and playing a strong game at corner linebacker and at fullback for the alumni in that contest was Prowler wrestling coach Al Shaff.

And this past week it was announced that Paul Pederson, a former North Dakota all-state basketball tournament selection, and who has seen some action with the Minnesota cage squad, is transferring from Minnesota to the University of North Dakota.

Another Region Eight athlete who, although he proved to be a fine Big Ten basketball player, did not benefit too greatly by attending Minnesota, is Bemidji's Ray Cronk. Cronk had scholastic troubles during much of his Gopher career, and he is now completing his education by attending Northland college. It isn't every boy who can take the distractions that are generated by a school as large as Minnesota.

From what I have seen of Presthus, and the reports I have heard from his friends, the Rugby athlete is a level-headed youngster who will be an asset to Minnesota and coach John Kundla's cagers.

Fish and Fishing

There has been quite a flurry of activity by the city's anglers the past week, and the fish have, for the most part, been responding to this activity. Web Maves, Tommy Fuller, Wendy Olson and the others in their party, returned on Thursday from a 640-mile trek to The Pas, Manitoba, and Clearwater lake. As Web reported, "the fishing was fabulous". The party returned with a limit of lake trout, and that was the fish that the boys were seeking. They didn't bring back any "monsters" as far as size was concerned, but 15-pound lake trout, and they had several in that category, are worth bragging about. Web added that it is the fishing that is the attraction up there, the scenery isn't worth the trip, being scrub-brush and semi-tundra.

Action at Lake of Woods

And the fish have been hitting closer to home, too. The other afternoon, Chuck Emanuel, Vern Nelson, and Bill Herzog drove up to Birch Point on Lake of the Woods, going through Sprague, Manitoba, and taking the Moose Lake road to the lake. And they had plenty of action in the few hours that they fished that afternoon. Bill was using an eight-pound monofilament line, which he believed was ample for the fish that he would catch, but he hooked a large northern pike that snapped the line. And the northerns in that area are, for the most part, good-sized fish. There are increasing numbers of fishermen who are fishing the Buffalo Bay area of Lake of the Woods. This part of the lake is in Manitoba, and consequently a Manitoba license, which permits eight walleyes to be taken, is required.

The road from Sprague to Birch Point is quite rough, and during and just after a rain it can be very heavy. That area of Lake of the Woods is attracting a number of Winnipeg anglers, so its probable that the road will be given some extra treatment. Many of the American fishermen, those with cruise-type boats and high-horsepower motors, can reach the Buffalo Bay by water, launching their boats at Warroad or Springsteel Island.

Golf Activity

That the local golfing season is on at full and three-quarter swing can be judged by the fact that the City golf league schedule will begin on Wednesday, June 12, and that a shortstop tournament will be played here on Sunday, June 16.

"Never" is quite a dangerous word to use, but I will risk the term in describing the course this year. Never has the local course been in such excellent condition as it is at present. Out-of-town golfers who have played the course are lavish in their praise of the greens and the fairways. Fact is, Thornton (T. P.) Anderson, Minneapolis lawyer and who was a Prowler athlete some years back, plays the famed Minnikahda course in Minneapolis, played the local course the other afternoon, shooting a 38, and he was impressed by the fairways and greens.

And a couple of others who are impressed by the fairways and greens are Al Holzknecht and Ray Kiland, two old-time Prowler athletes who are taking up the game of golf. And doing pretty well, too. They realize that golf is a fine game, and that it can be "carried over" into the retirement years. With mandatory retirement becoming the rule rather than the exception, and medical science extending the life-span, there will be many, many hours of leisure time available. And one of the wholesome ways to spend some of these leisure hours is to play golf.

And if you don't believe that golf is a wholesome and healthful pastime, just ask Anton Hall. It's a couple of years ago that Anton gave up ice-skating, but he continues to play golf, and to enjoy the game.

Prowler Golf Team 5th in State Meet

Minneapolis Roosevelt Wins High School Tourney

The Minneapolis Roosevelt high school golf team, with a three-man total of 483 strokes, won the 1963 state high school title in the tournament that was played over the University course in Minneapolis last week. The St. Paul Central squad, with a total of 487 strokes, gained runner-up honors. Coach Bob Ganrder's Prowler squad, with a total of 524 strokes, gained fifth place in the team standings.

The Prowler individual scoring found Ron Kvikstad turning in a first-round score of 45-42 for an 87, Rick Thompson had a 43-47 for a 90, and Bob Stordahl had a 48-54 for a 102. The local trio turned in much lower scores in their second round of play, with Kvikstad having a 37-37 for a 74 (which tied the low score posted by Tom Huber of Minneapolis Roosevelt). Thompson carded a 35-43 for a 78 on his second round, and Stordahl had a 48-45 for a 93.

Kvikstad's 161-stroke total gave the Prowler player 28th place in the individual standings. Roosevelt's Huber and Tom Dickie of Rochester shared medalist honors with 148's.

Jr. Golf Lessons Opened Here Today

To Be Given at Golf Club Each Monday and Friday

The local junior golf instruction program, for interested students in the Thief River Falls schools, started today, Monday, at the Thief River Golf club. These group instruction sessions will be held twice a week, on Mondays and Fridays, and continue until late in August. These sessions, which will begin at 9:00 a. m. and conclude at about 11:00 a. m., are being conducted under the sponsorship of the local golf course, the city school system, and Professional Golfers' Association of America.

Although regular attendance at the sessions is recommended, a student may join the group whenever he wishes. There is no age limit, but a participant in the program must be enrolled in the local school system. Membership in the golf club is not required, and the students may play the course, following the instruction sessions, until 1:00 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays.

Instruction in the rules and courtesies of golf will be taught in addition to the fundamentals of golf. Some instruction in caddying will also be offered. Students should provide their own golf clubs, although a limited number of clubs are available for use from "pro" shop.

June is Dairy Month

DAIRY MONTH, Minnesota-style, was kicked off in St. Paul's Lowry Hotel ballroom May 21 with 303 persons and one cow. Shown with Minnesota's official June Dairy Month Mascot Cow, "Ayr-Line Fashion Pat," are members of the Minnesota dairy industry's official June Dairy Month Farm Family. Family members are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Filk of Hutchinson, Kathy, 16, Beth, 6, and Bob, 24, shown at the halter of the purebred Ayrshire cow. The cow was scheduled for several appearances around the Twin Cities at the outset of Minnesota's 27th annual observance of June Dairy Month. The Farm Family will participate in several Dairy Month events around the state.

1962 Firearm Report Shows 187 Accidents

Minnesota's firearm casualty record for 1962 shows that 187 persons were firearms casualties last year, including 25 fatalities. In 84 of the cases the person injured or killed shot himself in some manner and in 103 of the cases another person did the shooting.

In a special letter to the Times, D. J. Murray, assistant chief warden in charge of firearms safety, commented on the Youth Firearms Safety Training program which has been functioning through volunteer instructors under state supervision for the past several years.

"Prior to the time the program was started," Murray said, "47 per cent of the accidents were occurring in this age group. In 1961, 28 per cent of the accidents were in this age group and in 1962 it dropped to 21 per cent. Needless to say, the program is doing the job it was designed to do. . ."

The report notes that 30 cases occurred from the intentional discharge of the weapon while 130 people were shot as a result of the weapon discharging without intent on the part of the shooter to pull the trigger.

Horseplay and handling guns that were thought not to be loaded accounted for more casualties than any other category. Also high on the list were cases where the trigger caught on a branch or other obstruction or where the shooter was aiming at wild game.

Most accidents were recorded in the 16 to 29 age group—probably because this group includes the largest number of hunters, target shooters and other firearms handlers. In 113 of the 187 cases, the victims were no farther than 10 yards from the muzzle of the gun when the shooting occurred.

Age of shooters (149 reported) in which accidents were involved was as follows:

Under age 12—13; 12 and 13—13; 14 and 15—17; 16 through 19—40; 20 through 29—42; 30 through 39—10; 40 through 49—10; 50 through 59—3; and 60 and over—1.

Sixteen mishaps occurred where it wasn't known that the gun was loaded and 12 resulted from fast draw. Of the 25 fatal accidents, 10 occurred while hunting game and 15 while otherwise handling firearms.

Elderly Are Frequent Victims of Accidents

A total of 516 persons over 65 years of age died as the result of accidents in Minnesota during 1962, out of a total of 1,634 deaths for all ages. Slightly more than half of the 378 home accident victims in Minneota in 1962 were persons 65 years of age and over, according to provisional figures recently released by the Minnesota department of health. Eighty per cent of these 188 deaths were due to falls.

An additional 163 persons over 65 years of age died as the result of accidents in public places. This represents 43 per cent of the 378 deaths in this category. As was true of the home accident fatalities the majority of these deaths (66 per cent) in older persons were caused by falls.

Motor vehicle accidents took the lives of 142 persons over 65; in all, there were 741 motor vehicle deaths. Only 124 deaths occurred as the result of accidents at work, including 17 persons over 65. Of the 13 deaths in which the type of accident was unknown, six persons were over 65.

The 1962 statistics point out the importance of a safe environment and safe personal practices for everyone but particularly for the older person. In addition to falls, other main causes of death were due to poisonings, fire and explosion.

Twice as many deaths were due to falls from one level to another as from falls on the same level. Stairways should be well lighted and litter free. All stairs should have handrails. Store articles in easy to reach, convenient places. Use a ladder or step stool instead of a chair to get supplies off shelves.

Wear well-fitted shoes which tie securely, rather than slippers, around the house. Highly polished floors are hazards to the elderly, especially if the floors have throw rugs on them which may wrinkle and cause the person to slip or trip. Wall-to-wall carpeting or non-skid rugs are best. Tears of holes in rugs should be mended immediately and loose ends tacked down to prevent a fall. Check linoleum and wood floors for rough spots. Removing door sills gets rid of a possible tripping hazard.

Night lights or recessed lighting near the floor in the bedroom and hallway are recommended. A flashlight on the bedside table is a good idea. To cut down on the chances of bumping into furniture, avoid frequent rearrangements as much as possible.

Grab bars next to the tub, shower, and toilet may prevent a bad fall. A non-slip rubber mat in the tub is a good safety feature.

Income from Auto Licenses Rises

An increase of almost a million dollars in motor vehicle receipts was reported late last week by Secretary of State Joseph Donovan for the period ended May 31.

Revenue totaled $41,529,214 compared with $40,591,953 on May 31, 1962.

Of the total $29 million came from passenger car registrations, and $11.5 million from trucks. The remainder was from trailers, mobile homes, motor buses and motorcycles.

Life Insurance Benefits Rising

State Families Collect Twice Total Paid in 1953

Minnesota families received $15,700,000 in life insurance death benefit payments under 7,300 policies during the first three months of this year, compared with $15,600,000 under 7,100 policies in the corresponding period of last year, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

"This first quarter total compares with $7,900,000 under 4,300 policies in the corresponding period ten years ago," the Institute commented. "The 100 per cent rise in amount paid in the decade is a reflection of the widened and increased ownship of life insurance, however, and not an increase in mortality, as the death rate among policyholders is relatively unchanged from that of a decade ago. For the nation as a whole, the ten-year rise in death benefit payments has been 114 per cent."

For the nation as a whole, $1,093,400,000 was paid as death claims under 637,400 policies in the first quarter of 1963, compared with $994,800,000 under 590,200 policies in the corresponding period of last year.

More Building Set for Camp Courage

To Add Facilities to Care for 350 More People

Camp Courage near Annandale, Minnesota's only camp for physically handicapped and blind children and adults, is soon to be expanded as a result of action taken by the executive board of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., which owns and operates the camp, according to W. B. Schoenbohm, executive director.

The proposed expansion program to be built as funds are made available will consist of facilities for an additional 60 campers and will be planned and operated as a separate unit.

Because of the great need existing for concentrated summer speech programs for children with severe communications problems, as well as for facilities to increase recreational and rehabilitative services to handicapped and homebound adults, the new unit will be designed to fill these needs.

Plans call for erection of six cottages to house 10 campers each, a dining hall-recreation center, a speech center, an activities building, and a council ring building. The council ring building has been underwritten by the Minneapolis Mrs. Jaycees. It will be constructed immediately and will serve both camp groups as will a number of other existing facilities.

Completion of these additional facilities, according to Mr. Schoenbohm, will enable the Minnesota Society to enlarge its program with the physically handicapped and to reactivate the summer speech program formerly conducted by the Society on the St. Croix River. Last summer 583 campers were served at Camp Courage in two-week sessions. The new facility will enable 350 additional handicapped persons to receive a similar opportunity.

Beef, Dairy Items Are Good Food Buys

'U' Consumer Marketing Specialist Makes Report

Foods appropriate for backyard barbecue meals are being featured in markets this week. Good meat buys for barbecuing include steaks, hamburger and beef roasts, according to Mary Ryan, extension consumer marketing specialist at the University of Minnesota. The large beef supply this year continues to make beef a good value during June she says. Many markets continue to offer weekend specials on various cuts or grades of beef.

Milk, ice cream, cottage and other cheeses will be plentiful all during June Dairy Month. They are among the oldest and finest convenience foods, Miss Ryan says, and in Minnesota these foods are always good buys. In fact, 15 percent of your food bill spent for milk will supply 25 percent of your nutritional needs.

Melons, an easy answer to the desert problem for outdoor and indoor meals, are beginning to come to Minnesota markets in good supply. June, July and August will be the peak months for cantaloupe and watermelon. Many Twin City markets are featuring cantaloupe this week.

Since melon quality is not always easy to detect, Miss Ryan gives some guides for shoppers to follow. First, smell the cantaloupe. A fragrant, sweet odor denotes ripeness. Next, look at the stem end. A slightly sunken, calloused scar at the stem end shows that the melon was mature when picked. Select watermelon that is firm to the touch. It may be solid green to gray, depending on variety. The underside may be yellowish, but if it is white or pale green the melon is probably immature.

Chevrolet Shows 50-millionth Car

Chevrolet division of General Motors Corporation recently marked another mileston in automotive manufacturing by producing its 50-millionth car at the division's Tarrytown, New York, assembly plant.

An exact duplicate of the 50-millionth car, an Impala Sport Coupe in a special anniversary gold color, will be on display at Northern Chevrolet Co. starting today and continuing through June 30. "It's really quite a success story," said Arnold K. Kelley, sales manager. "The first full year of Chevrolet's production totaled less than 3,000 cars. Last year there were nearly two and a quarter million Chevrolets produced. Equally interesting is that there are now more than 21 million Chevrolets serving owners on the highways of the world.

Limit Up Again

Congress rushed through a measure last week that raised the debt limit from $305 billion to $307 billion. Later on similar action will be taken for another increase. It is estimated that by the end of this session the total debt will be in the neighborhood of $320 billion.

We like the idea of having a debt limit, not that it actually limits the debt, but because it makes Congress look foolish every time the limit is increased. Each increase under normal conditions is a testimonial to incompetence and, to some extent, dishonesty.

Dairy Day

Northwest Dairy Day is the most successful area promotion that we have. It remains young because primarily it is a youth promotion. It maintains area interest because it serves the most important industry of a large portion of its eleven-county membership.

Northwest Dairy Day is the oldest dairy day in Minnesota, the first to be organized, and, thanks to the leadership of Lew Conlon, it was organized on a sound basis that served as a pattern for others. Many of the boys and girls who participated in those early contests are now the mothers and fathers who operate dairy farms of their own.

And more and more they will contribute to enlightened leadership within the industry, resulting not only in better producing herds on the farms but in the more efficient handling of their dairy products in the marketing process.

In the area that is served by Northwest Dairy Day dairying is the most important industry, maintaining the largest payroll and providing the most dependable source of farm income.

We salute the industry. And we salute Northwest Dairy Day.

There Still Is Time

Referring to a recent proposal for an amendment to the state Constitution that would reapportion the House of Representatives according to population only, and reapportion the Senate according to population, area and distance from the state capitol, limiting the number of Senators from the five-county meropolitan area, Art Suel of the New Prague Times states:

> "The United States Constitution provides similar checks and balances for the election of the national Congress. Such a plan should have been incorporated in the original State Constitution."

Editor Suel recognizes the possible evils and the threat to good government if both houses of the legislature were controlled by the voters living in a small area of the state. That is what a future generation will have unless our Constitution is amended to assure outstate control of one of the two lawmaking bodies.

The pattern that was established by the founding fathers, giving to each state equal representation in the Senate, should have been written into our Constitution as Mr. Suel suggests. Such an amendment could still be adopted if the need for the change were adequately publicized.

Racial Hatreds

J. B. McGeachy, writing in the Financial Post (Toronto), suggests that racial hatred is a world-wide problem and that our problems of segregation are basically the same as those that exist in Africa and Asia. Especially interesting is his conclusion that racial hatred is the main factor in the inability of the Red Chinese and the Red Russians to agree. He refers to a recent book by Hugh Seton-Watson, an eminent British scholar, stating:

> "The principal historical factor in the Russo-Chinese schism, says Seton-Watson, is Chinese pride. "The survival of the belief that China is 'the Middle Kingdom' and that the rest of the world consists of outer barbarians.'
> "The Chinese, whether Communist or non-Communist, Seton-Watson goes on to explain, deeply resent the humiliations inflicted upon them in the past 200 years by barbarous Europeans. This is pretty familiar history; but most of us, no doubt, have gone along supposing that the barbarians most resented in China were possibly the British and the French.
> "Not so, according to Seton-Watson. The Russians, who of course count as Europeans from China's point of view, are the "outstanding" barbarians on the list. Why? They live next door."

McGeachy is convinced that "the virus of race hatred is spreading". Recognizing it as a serious threat to peace, he says race friction has been covering the front pages with gore and threats of gore; and news about it, as usual, has excited a lot more emotion than thought. He states:

> "Nothing is easier, especially in a country like this, than to work up a fine lather of indignation against the anti-Negro fanatic and exhort him to behave better. But this doesn't do any good at all because race feeling is not just, as some of the exhorters appear to believe, a mild, local and sporadic human aberration like measles or a bad cold.
> "On the contrary, it is one of the most powerful, lasting and probably universal of all the emotions. It is a dominant, perhaps the dominant, factor in contemporary world affairs.
> "Race conflict, as it seems to me, is now one of the most dangerous elements in world affairs, becoming more dangerous as the planet gets more crowded. And merely expressing virtuous indignation about it doesn't do any good at all."

Situation Normal

High school graduates may have some difficulty in gaining admission to the college of their choice next September but there will be room for all who plan to continue their education, according to a national survey conducted by the Student Admission Center of New York City. A total of 810 colleges were checked.

G. James Hechtman, director of the Center, estimated a total of 65,000 vacancies when the school year starts. That total probably will be increased substantially, at the last minute, he said, as students who have applied to six colleges fail to appear for registration at five of them.

There is no justification for panic, he states. The situation is normal.

Generous Hubert

Good old Hubert Humphrey is getting a little impatient with some of his colleagues who occasionally disagree with him on the question of spending our dollars. He exploded a little the other day when he said we should "quit quibbling" about paying our share of the United Nations cost even if other member nations don't pay theirs. In a prepared statement he said:

> "A nation which is willing to spend billions to send the first man to the moon cannot retreat from making generous payments to the peace-keeping operations of the United Nations."

It seems that the Senator has not been informed that there is strong opposition to that proposal to be first with a man on the moon, estimated to cost from 20 to 40 billion dollars. Many scientists doubt that the venture is of sufficient scientific value to justify a costly race. Military men seem to agree that a man on the moon would be of no real military value.

Silver Certificates Out

Congress has passed a bill that will put an end to the use of silver as a base for our paper currency. Its most important provision authorizes the replacement of $1-denomination silver certificates with Federal Reserve notes, which are partially backed by gold.

According to a Wall Street Journal report, silver certificates in circulation total $1.8 billion, and:

> "Most of the certificates are one-dollar bills, with a small amount of five and ten dollar bills still outstanding. Under the new law the Treasury intends to retire these silver certificates gradually at a pace of about $105 million a year. The silver metal thus freed will be enough to meet coinage requirements for 18 years, according to Treasury estimates."

The monetary value of silver remains pegged by law at $1.29 an ounce. Until 1961 the price had been maintained over a period of many years at 91 cents an ounce. What effect the new law will have on the government's gold supply is debatable. The Journal states:

> "Replacement of these silver certificates with newly authorized Federal Reserve notes in one and two dollar denominations will require earmarking some $450 million of gold reserves to back the additional notes. Western opponents of the Administration's silver bill argued this would place a new burden on the Treasury's dwindling gold supply and pose new dangers for the dollar. The Treasury has said, however, that gradual retirement of silver certificates would mean only a slow increase in earmarked gold, at a rate of between $35 million and $40 million annually."

Speaking about the "unskilled jobs of yester-year" now replaced by automation, Secretary of Labor Wirtz said: "Shocking unemployment now occurs among the young members of the work force. Almost one-third of the 14 to 24 age group is unemployed—unless something can be done to train them for our world today, a permanent dole may have to be provided."—Yet, state and federal restrictions operate to make it competitively unprofitable if not impossible for industry to train learners in the skilled trades.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor
KARL ROLVAAG

A couple of weeks ago I made some comments in this column regarding the civil rights climate in our state. As you remember, most of my remarks and recommendations dealt with the problems of discrimination in employment, housing and public accommodations. At the time I did not advance any remarks on the problems facing Indian citizens because I feel these merit special consideration. I am pleased to report now that not only are these special problems and need of the Indians being recognized, but a significant step has been taken to meet and resolve them.

Delegation Calls

Last April 24 I received a delegation of citizens who were concerned that legislation to create a new coordinating state commission on Indian affairs was languishing and appeared to be doomed to failure. The creation of this new commission was one of many recommendations made last February by a special subcommittee on Minnesota Indian problems, Department of Christian Social Relations, Minnesota council of Churches. The delegation felt that perhaps if more public attention could be directed toward the need for this legislation the chances for its success might improve. I agreed to give my full support to this effort and I indicated to members of the legislature why I felt there was an urgent need for the new commission.

Very Special Problems

There is no question that the Indian in Minnesota has very special problems which cannot be resolved adequately or satisfactorily with existing organs of government. Their problems are complicated by the fact that they are members of a tribe, "wards" of the federal government, and members of a racial minority. Off the reservation, they are subject to the same denials and deprivations of rights as are the members of other minority groups; on the reservation they are the victims of a vacillating federal policy and a state policy handicapped by lack of original thought, lack of money, and vigorous coordinated program of assistance. In addition to all this, the Indian is forced to live under conditions of abject poverty experienced by no other element in our society.

Thoughtful Action Needed

The problem has been studied and restudied. Scores of reports and findings have been published with plan upon plan for the economic rehabilitation of the Indian population. What is needed now is thoughtful, deliberate action. Such action must include a consideration for Indian views, as expressed by their own leaders and representatives; infusion of capital and credit through government loans or private investment; economic plans geared to the resources of the Indian areas; coordination and expansion of existing aid programs; adequate police protection for areas now abandoned by federal policy to state jurisdiction.

A Significant Step

As I pointed out last month, if the Indian is to be helped out of the labyrinth into which circumstance and society have thrust him, a special commission is necessary to perform full-time liason between the Indians themselves and the various state and federal boards, departments and bureaus currently working in the area of Indian affairs. Today such a commission is a reality, a small but a significant step in the direction we must travel if we are to bring some order out of chaos.

The New Commission

The new commission on Indian affairs will have 15 members. Five will be from the Executive Department, three members will be Indians, two members each from the House of Representatives and the State Senate, and three members at large. The Minnesota Legislative Research Committee will coordinate activities of the new commission and secure the cooperation of relevant units of federal, state, and local governments. The primary duties of the new commission will be to aquire information in the fields of employment and housing, civil rights, education, health and welfare, and law and order. This information will be useful in helping the Indian become generally self-sufficient and aid immeasurably in developing future legislation for the Indian's benefit.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES comes more than Pablum. When the babes of yesterday become the elementary students of today, their grasp of the world's intricate facts make interesting reading. Prior to touring the Times office and printing plant recently, the second grade class of Mrs. Roland Larson at Knox School produced "The Second Grade TIMES". Some excepts from this first (and last) edition follow with authors in parenthesis;

(Leigh Ann Harris) "Mrs. Jackie Kennedy is just about going to have a baby. They're first two babies were called Caroline and John, Jr. They all live in the White House in Washington, D. C."

(David Etter) "On Cooper's 19th orbit he had trouble until his 24th orbit, I think so. Cooper got back safely. Cooper went around the earth 24 times. We are glad that Cooper got back safely."

(Robert Skoglund) "The Russians are making trouble for Red China. Last night Cooper saw his Boy Scout letter on the news. The Russians are bad people to have a war with."

(Oscar Corneillie) "We are learning about birds. We had bluebirds and robins."

(Wendy Swanson, Fashion Editor) 'Fashion in women's dresses have changed many times since the Sivil War. At that time, women wore hoop skirts. They had long and narrowed trains that had become popular. The dresses of the 1800's had a tight-fitting, deeply pointed bodice and a bustle. Around the 1900's women adopted the hourglass silhoute. The flapper style of the 1900's were simple lines and short skirts. They showed natural lines of the figures."

(Debra Flattum) "The new summer dress they are selling now are very nice. They are a little better than last year. . ."

(Julie Noel) 'Mrs. Kennedy is going to have a baby. The other kids will like it. The kids will play with the baby. Kennedy will like the baby. I hope that the baby is a girl. Mrs. Kennedy will have the kids."

(How's this for a TV review?) "I, Richard Farmes, saw the Wizard of Bagdad. It was on the TV show. It was good. I had popcorn and candy and I got a stomach ache and I had to go home."

Another newsworthy note from Debra Flattum) "Baby ponies are not hatched in eggs. They are born. When they are born they are called colts. But when they are as big as their mother, they are called horses."

(Donald Dicken) 'Last night the Twins won the Red Sox eight to two. The Twins won two games off the Red Sox. The Twins won fourteen games. The Twins play one more game to the Red Sox. Last night was a no-hit home runs for the Twins but we won anyway. Bob got on three bases."

(Richard Farmes) "The is the best car. It is better than any other car there is. My Dad has a . It has gone 17,700 miles and it is still good!

Shawn Melander) "Brand new washing machines. Fourty inches high and twenty inches across. The speeds are high and medium and low. It's top loading. It's all white. The top of it is blue. It is very pretty. Come in and see it."

This literary gem, written from apparently true experience, by an anonymous author, relates the hopes, ambitions and accomplishments of

THE DIETEERS

In our little town we have a club
It is called Tops Dieteers.
We get together to lose those pounds,
We have added with the years.
We meet once a week to get weighed in,
To see what each has done,
It is hard to stay on a diet alone,
But together it can be fun.

A visit to the doctor first of all,
To be sure losing weight is wise,
Then, Take Off Pounds the Sensible way
With diet and exercise.
We count the calories in all our food,
Exchange recipes when we meet,
We eat only foods that are good for us
And pay fines when we overeat.

Then Monday night is here again,
It's time for the weighing in,
We give three cheers, just come and see
We're down in weight again.
We have a queen crowned once a month
And a pal, to help us win.
So thanks to Tops, our diets club,
You'll see us slim again.

Mrs. Race Reports on Dental Care in TRF Grade Schools

Only 55 per cent of the elementary pupils in the Thief River Falls schools had dental checkups with the necessary follow-up care during the past year, Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, stated in her annual report to the dental section of the Minnesota department of health.

As of the last day of the school term, Knox school, with 60 per cent, had the highest percentage of dental card returns, followed in order by Northrop school, 56 per cent; St. Bernard's school, 55; and Washington school, 51.

Two grades tied for the highest percentage of card returns, with 81 per cent being registerred by both Miss Ruth Mickelson's morning kindergarten Northrop school and Sister M. Rose's seventh grade at St. Bernard's. At Knox school Roger Dorn's sixth grade class led with 78 per cent; and at Washington Gale Halvorson's sixth grade class was high with 67 per cent.

Mrs. Race urged parents to have their children's teeth checked at least once a year, and pointed out that summer is an excellent time for dental appointments. Boys and girls, she said, who did not have dental care during the school year should do it now, and should return their pink report cards to school next fall to be included in the next annual report.

One of 15 day camps being sponsored in Minnesota by the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults is being held in Thief River Falls, according to Oral Johnson and John Ziegler, counselors at Lincoln high school and camp directors. Handicapped youngsters in the area and between the ages of 6 and 14 years are invited to share in camp experiences.

Camp will be in operation through June 21. "Day camping is an organized daytime activity conceived to provide a creative, educational, out-of-door experience in cooperative living," Johnson said. "Natural resources are used to help the child to have fun, learn new skills, adjust as a member of his group, to accept his limitations and to gain self-confidence and a degree of independence."

A typical day's program might include such things as a nature hike, craft project, softball game, singing session, treasure hunt and cook-out. Campers and staff meet at the tourist park behind the armory each morning at 9:30 a. m. and bring sack lunches.

CORONATION of the new Northwest Dairy Princess Tuesday afternoon was the sad but joyful task of Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Kathleen Hjelle of Argyle. As 1962 Northwest Dairy Princess, Kathleen this year passed her crown on to June Walter, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Walter of Plummer. At left is Sandra Kitchell, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kitchell of Ada. At right is Shirley Rowland, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rowland of Fosston. Miss Walter is the eldest of nine children and a graduate of Bemidji State college, majoring in elementary education. She was a 1960 graduate of Plummer high school and was one of the Red Lake county entries. Her parents own two quarter sections of land five miles north and one mile west of Plummer on the Red Lake and Pennington county line. The family has a herd of about 70 Holsteins of which about 30 are milking at the present time.

Plummer Girl Crowned N. W. Dairy Princess

PUREBRED champion at the 14th Annual Northwest Dairy Day Tuesday was this yearling Holstein heifer shown by 10-year-old Jerry Muzzy of rural Thief River Falls. Daleford Comre Daisy, a product of the parental James Muzzy herd, was also the champion purebred last year as a calf. Two purebred championships, plus Holstein breed championships, in two years of showing is a record for Northwest Dairy Day. Again this year Jerry's parents considered him too young for the trip to be awarded instead to Mary Rantanen. Mary is the daughter of Mrs. Betty Rantanen of Middle River and she showed the reserve champion purebred with a Brown Swiss cow.

GRADE champion at the dairy show held in connection with Northwest Dairy Day Tuesday in Thief River Falls was this aged Holstein cow shown by Clark Erickson of Badger. For the first time in the 14-year history of Dairy Day, the grade showman chose a calf of a different breed than that with which he won the contest. Clark elected to receive a purebred Ayrshire at the 15th annual Dairy Day. He won the Ayrshire breed championship this year with a cow which had been given to him as a calf by Lew and Doris Conlon of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee after the Erickson barn burned several years ago.

June Walter, 20, Selected Tuesday At NW Dairy Day

Pretty June Walter of Plummer, a brown-haired beauty with a degree in elementary education, was crowned Northwest Dairy Princess Tuesday at the 14th Annual Northwest Dairy Day held in Thief River Falls. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Walter of Plummer, 20-year-old June is a 1960 graduate of Plummer high school and a 1963 graduate of Bemidji State college. She won the event over 34 other contestants from 12 counties.

Showing the purebred champion for the second successive year in as many years of competition was 10-year-old Jerry Muzzy, son of rural Thief River Falls. His Holstein yearling, which won last year as a calf, was named outstanding purebred of the show. The Dairy Cattle Congress trip was awarded to Mary Rantanen, Middle River, reserve champion with Brown Swiss.

Grand Champion grade animal was an aged Holstein cow shown by Clark Erickson of Badger. Clark also showed the grand champion Ayrshire with a registered animal given him some years ago by Lew and Doris Conlon of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee after the Erickson herd was lost in a fire. He chose a registered Ayrshire heifer as his prize for showing the champion grade.

Elaine's CHATTER

Not long ago we heard one of the fellows remark, "My wife is a human dynamo . . . she charges everything."

Evidently this can be interpreted more ways than one, but we think there is nothing more convenient than a charge account. You know to the penny exactly what you have purchased and where, it is a simple way of letting someone else keep books for you. Some time ago we read an article about the most expensive dress of all times. Some of the details as we recall were: The gown was worn by the Queen of France and it cost 19 million dollars. It had a plunging neckline, full skirt, and a stand up collar. Scads of genuine pearls were used for trimming and 3,000 diamonds! If you had the strength you could really throw your weight around in this dress . . . it weighed fifty pounds. Imagine trying to look slim in that!

At present we do not have a 19 million dollar dress in stock but from the looks of our Spring and Summer stock we do have 19 million dresses (more or less). They are made of the finest fabrics there are and the whole kit and kaboodle wouldn't add up to fifty pounds.

We have three racks of these beautiful dresses, Jrs., Misses, Petites and half sizes, all reduced to ½ off.

We have taken some of our regular $1.35 nylon hose and reduced them to 78c. No there's nothing wrong with them, they are discontinued styles and colors and the best way we know to get rid of them is to tell you of the tremendous savings, and what woman can't use nylons?

PARADE of champions climaxed activities for the 14th Annual Northwest Dairy Day on Tuesday in Thief River Falls. As if to add a ray of blessing to a cool day which was free of rain, the sun broke through a layer of clouds to shine for most of the parade. Included among the parade units were the Northwest Dairy Princess float, Lincoln high school and Red Lake Falls Lafayette high school bands, Bridgeman Half Pints, German band, princess contestants, dairy show winners, and Thief River Falls Saddle club. A special attraction was "Cousin" Minnie Pearl, star of Grand Ole Opry, who was among a troupe performing Tuesday evening at the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

Farmers in Northern Clearwater SWCD found that cooperation in community development is a necessity. Several of them decided to do something about their drainage problems and requested help from the district. The Soil Conservation Service prepared a plan for the 6,300-acre problem area. But before the plan was put into action eight different agencies and organizations were involved. These included the local people, township supervisors, county board of commissioners, the REA, FHA, SCS and the district board of supervisors of the SWCD.

Fertilizer has paid off in more beef per acre in beef-grassland projects at the Rosemount Experiment Station. Unfertilized pastures produced 302 pounds of beef per acre compared to 461 pounds per acre in some comparisons. Average daily gain per steer ranged from 1.97 pounds on the unfertilized pasture to 2.15 on the fertilized ground. After deducting fertilizer costs, return per acre was $114, where the pasture was fertilized compared to $81 where fertilizer was not applied. In short, investment of $15 per acre in fertilizer produced nearly $40 additional beef per acre.

Eleven out of twelve acres of agricultural land in Lincoln county need conservation practices to control water and soil losses according to Arnold Claassen, county agricultural agent. He says that the Conservation Needs Study shows that one-fourth of the county cropland needs contouring. About 92 per cent of the county's land is suitable for agriculture.

Climate affects the soil and the plants which grow in it. Soil scientists at the Institute of Agriculture of the University of Minnesota are studying temperature and other factors in the soil. For example, they are measuring the amount of solar energy the soil growing surfaces receive. This will give useful information about evaporation of moisture and photosynthesis of plants.

Yard 'n Garden

Transplanting and Planting in the Garden

One of the steps to success in gardening is good soil preparation before planting. Organic matter such as well rotted manure, peat or compost should be applied at the rate of 3 to 4 bushels per 100 square feet of area. When this is spaded or plowed down, you will have better tilth and soil structure.

An application of a complete fertilizer each year is necessary to supply nutrients for the plants. Work this into the top few inches of soil at planting time.

A good vegetable transplant should be stocky and have a healthy green color. Spindly or overhardened plants seldom do well.

Late afternoon is the best time to transplant. There will be less chance for the plants to wilt at that time after setting them in the garden.

Always keep a damp cloth or wet newspaper around the roots when moving plants to the garden. Scrape the dry soil away from the place where the plant is to be set; then dig a hole sufficiently large and put the plant in place. Water with a transplanting solution made by dissolving ½ cup of any complete fertilizer in a gallon of water. Apply a half cup of this solution to the soil around the plants.

An application of dieldrin or chlordane granules to the soil will control soil insects like cutworms, control soil insects like cutworms, grubworms, root maggots, and wireworms.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Tuesday will be a big day for the people interested in dairy. Thirty-three girls will be participating in the Region I Dairy Princess contest at Northwest Dairy Day.

County fair time is fast approaching and are you planning to exhibit? This year there are several special prizes being awarded. There is a complete list of these awards in the paper, so do check to see if you would like to try for one or more of these special awards.

Premium books are available so you can pick one up at the following places: extension office, the two local banks and the motor vehicle license office.

Better diets, along with higher incomes and better medical care, have produced sturdier and taller Americans. Today's nine-year-old boy is an inch or so taller than his father was at the same age.

At manhood he stand 2 inches taller than the average young man did at the turn of the century—5 feet 10 inches compared to 5 feet 8 inches. His wight is about 20 pounds more.

Women, too, are taller. They average about 5 feet 4 inches today compared to 5 feet 2 inches in 1900. But the women, watchful of their calories, wigh less for their height than their grandmothers did by some six to eight pounds.

The rising percentage of six-footers among college freshmen is a reflection of increased average height of the U. S. population. In 1883 only about four per cent of the young men entering Amerst and Yale were 6 feet and over. By 1915 the percentage had risen to 10 per cent, and in 1956 and 1957 nearly a third of the freshman classes at both schools measured at least 6 feet.

Comparisons of college women with their mothers show that the younger generation in recent years has averaged about an inch taller than the older generation.

The gradual increase in stature of the U. S. population, U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists believe, is due to a combination of many factors, including improved knowledge of nutrition, abundance of food in this country and steady improvement in the economic condition of most of the people, with the result that diets are better. Advances in medical care and sanitation are also making it possible for more people to achieve their inherited growth potential.

$12 Million Road Jobs to Be Awarded June 28

The year's biggest state highway construction letting, and one of the largest in state history, will be held June 28 in the St. Paul central offices of the Minnesota highway department, it was announced today.

Chester Myrom, Native Son, Is Conferred Degree

Receives Honorary Dr. of Laws Degree from Wagner College in N.Y.

Dr. Chester Myrom

Chester A. Myrom, son of Mrs. Sigurd Myrom of Thief River Falls was recently honored in New York state by being presented with an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Wagner college. He received a diploma symbolizing the award at the college's commencement exercises on June 2.

He conducted a wholesale and retail grocery business in Minnesota and Nebraska, but in 1950 entered full-time church work as an associate secretary of the Department of Stewardship in the United Lutheran Church in America.

Part of the citation read by the president of Wagner college is as follows: "Imbued with a deep sense of religious obligation, you left a profitable commercial enterprise to employ your rare talents in carrying out a nation-wide stewardship and benevolence program for the church. Your brilliant and pain-staking devotion to the vital task of finding financial support for the great works of the church has paid inestimable spiritual dividends in the Christian life of our country."

PUBLIC OPINION

10,000 ducks were killed this year by landing in oily waters in Minnesota.

10,000 or more people will be killed this year in the U. S. A. by drinking drivers. 10,000 were killed last year, and the year before, in the same way.

We had a lot of action to save the ducks and to prevent such a situation from happening again. We fined the drinking drivers that were caught alive but did nothing to stop drivers from getting drunk. We siphoned off the oil for the ducks but we didn't . . .

Are ducks really worth that much more than human beings?

Gross Weight Table for Trucks Amended

Operation of commercial trucks and trailers on Minnesota highways, on and after July 1, will be subject to revisions in the "gross weight table" enacted by the 1963 Legislature, according to information released today by the Minnesota highway department.

The revisions, among other changes, liberalize allowable axle weights and increased loads as a temporary measure for the next two years for certain vehicles and combinations. These vehicles, which fall into three classes, have been operated by authority of a highway commissioners memorandum which will expire on June 30.

Therefore, effective July 1, all such affected commercial trucks and trailers will be required to bear a special identification denoting authorization to be operated in Minnesota. This regulation applies to out-of-state trucks as well as to Minnesota licensed trucks.

Application blanks may be secured at any of the 16 highway department maintenance area headquarters throughout the state or at room 315 in the State Highway Building, St. Paul. A fee of $5 must accompany each application. The identification stickers will be issued only by the St. Paul office.

Trucks subject to the provisions of the law include:

Type A. Single unit vehicles having three axles, with an axle spacing of less than 18½ feet, with a gross weight of not more than 32,000 pounds on the tandem axle, and not over 50,000 pounds gross weight on all three axles, if bought by the present owner on or before April 29, 1957.

Type B. Combinations of vehicles having five axles and a spacing of less than 28 feet between the second axle from the front and the rearmost axle, of the semi trailer with a gross weight of not over 30,000 pounds on each tandem axle and a gross weight of not over 73,280 pounds on all five axles, also if bought by the present owner on or before April 29, 1957.

Type C. Combinations of vehicles having five axles and a spacing of between 28 feet and 31½ feet between the second axle from the front and the rearmost axle, with a gross weight of not more than 32,000 pounds on each tandem axle and a gross weight of not more than 72,280 pounds on all five axles, if bought by present owner on or before March 31, 1963.

Trucks chiefly affected in the Type A group include ready-mix trucks, dump trucks, and some stock, grain and tank trucks. In the Type B and C categories are included among other, van type semis, tankers, grain stock and ready-mix semis, low boy trailers, flat bed semi-trailers and dump semi-trailers.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of our dearly beloved son and brother, David, who was taken from our family circle June 11, 1960.

A ray of sunshine
Has gone from our home,
And a place is vacant today,
And the little boy
That we loved so well,
Seems so far away.
But we are trying to live
Just day by day,
Trusting the Father for light,
Knowing some day
He will be with us again
In the Home in the City of Light.

Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Nordhagen, Leslie, Bruce, Richard, Steven and Shirley. 1t47p

Bemidji Is Disqualified; Prowlers in State Meet

Coach Ralph Skay and his Prowler baseball squad left town at mid-morning Tuesday and will participate in the Minnesota state high school baseball tournament that gets under way this afternoon, Wednesday. The Prowlers, who were runners-up to the Bemidji Lumberjacks in the Region Eight tourney, gain a berth in state tournament when, after a poll of the members of the Board of Control of the Minnesota State High School League, Bemidji was disqualified as an entrant in the state tournament.

Bemidji's disqualification was based on the fact that Bill Barthelemy, the Jacks' stellar right-handed pitcher, had, according to state rules, pitched fifteen innings of baseball in two days. The state league rules provide that a pitcher be limited for fourteen innings of pitching in three consecutive days.

The Prowlers, as representatives of Region Eight, will meet the Hibbing Bluejackets of Region Seven at 2:30 p. m. this afternoon, Wednesday, in St. Paul's Midway stadium. Other first-round games will find Springfield of Region Three playing Anoka of Region Four; Fairmont of Region Two playing Minneapolis Washburn of Region Five; and Austin of Region One playing Brainerd of Region Six.

According to coach Skay, it is probable that Tony Poole, who has been nursing a blistered finger, will get the starting assignment against the Hibbing club. Captain John Aune will do the catching; Rick Jensen will be at first base, Jerry Erickson at second base, Dave Erickson at shortstop, and Dick Johnson at third base, while the outfield will be manned by Paul Klungness, Don Mathieu, and Jack Leedahl.

Dependency Pay to GI Heirs Rises

Payments to Increase about 10 Pct. July 1

Children and dependent parents of deceased veterans will receive an increase of about ten percent in their monthly dependency and indemnity compensation payments as the result of a law enacted by the 88th Congress and signed by the President. Such payments are made to compensate for death from service-connected disability.

The increased payments will be automatic and will be included in the July checks mailed to reach beneficiaries about August 1, 1963, John R. Parrish, Center Director of the Veterans Administration Center in Fargo, stated. There is no need to write the VA.

A child, now receiving $70 per month, will receive $77 per month under the new law. Two children, currently receiving dependency and indemnity compensation checks amounting to $100 per month, will receive $110 equally divided between them under the new law. Three children, receiving $130 per month, will receive $143 per month equally divided among them. If there are more than three children each additional child, now receiving $25 a month, will receive $28 a month under the new law.

Mr. Parrish said in the case of dependent parents living together with an annual income of less than $1,000, their present payment of $50 each will be increased to $55 each under the new law.

An Unfortunate Incident

These are the words of Prowler baseball coach Ralph Skay when he addressed his squad on Monday night as the boys were awaiting the decision of the State High School league on the disqualification of the Bemidji Lumberjacks as a state tournament entry: "I am not too happy about gaining a state tournament berth in this manner, and I feel real sorry for the Bemidji club and Bill Barthelemy in particular. The club, and Bill, are the victims of circumstance." The Board of Control members were polled, via telephone, late Monday night, and their decision was that Bemidji had violated a rule of the State High School League, and was, therefore, ineligible to participate in the state tournament.

The rule that Bemidji was found guilty of violating, and which found pitcher Barthelemy being the victim is as follows: quoting from section four of article three of the Revised Athletic by-Laws of the State League, "A high school baseball player shall not be permitted to pitch more than fourteen innings in three consecutive days. Extra innings pitched in any given day should be considered as part of the original seven innings if he had a shall be considered as part of the day of rest before pitching again. Extra innings pitched any given day shall count toward the permissible total of fourteen should he pitch two or three days in succession. Pitching to one batter shall be counted as one inning. (Note: the penalty for violation is ineligibility of the player until the case is reviewed by the Board and forfeiture of the game)."

The pertinent sentence in this ruling, and which brought about Bemidji's disqualification, was "pitching to one batter shall be counted as one inning." Barthelemy, on Monday morning, pitched seven innings of baseball as Bemidji defeated Park Rapids in the District 29 championship finals. On Tuesday afternoon, in a Region Eight first-round game against Fertile, Barthelemy came to the mound in the seventh inning, pitched to one batsmen, registering a strikeout and ending the game as Bemidji won, 3 to 2. On Tuesday night, in the championship finals against Thief River Falls, Barthelemy pitched six and two-thirds innings of no-hit and no-run ball, and was removed from the mound as the Bemidji coach believed that the fourteen-inning stint had been fulfilled.

Hibbing Filed Protest

From what I have learned, the protest originated at Hibbing. A Bemidji news item is reported to have given the results of the district and regional games, and stated that Barthelemy had pitched seven innings against Park Rapids, a one-third of an inning against Fertile, and six and two-thirds innings against Thief River Falls. This pitching activity being crammed into two successive days.

This news item reached someone in Hibbing who was cognizant of the rule that "pitching to one batter shall be counted as one inning", and a query was forwarded to B. H. Hill, the secretary of the State High School League. And from there the controversy gained momentum, resulting in a session with the Bemidji athletic officials and Hill and his assistant Kermit Anderson on Monday night, and the telephone poll of the members of the Board of Control of the League.

It is indeed unfortunate that Bill Barthelemy, who is a fine pitcher, and the Bemidji club, which is a good one, should be disqualified in this manner. The situation in the seventh inning of the Fertile vs. Bemidji regional game was not so drastic that Bill's services were needed as a relief pitcher. But Bill followed his coach Horace May out to the mound, and when the Bemidji coach noted that the righthander was anxious to pitch, gave Barthelemy the nod to retire the last batsmen, which Bill did on a strikeout. And the Bemidji staff should have realized that, as they were told prior to the Thief River Falls game, Barthelemy had only six innings of pitching eligibility remaining.

And it is unfortunate, too, that the protest should originate in Region Seven. The Prowlers, who were directly concerned with the game, and the rule violation, did not protest the game.

The Prowlers will meet the Hibbing Bluejackets at 2:30 p. m. this afternoon, Wednesday, in St. Paul's Midway stadium in a state tournament first-round game.

Certificate Given Sewage Plant Man

Leland Enge of TRF One of 63 Given Recognition

Leland D. Enge, of Thief River Falls, is one of 63 sewage plant operators in the state to receive a certificate of competence from the state board of health, under the voluntary certification program for sewage works operators.

At the present time, 40 per cent of the 347 sewage treatment plants in the state are operated by certified operators, and 25 per cent of the total plants are operated by men with certificates corresponding to the class of the plant.

The voluntary plan for examination and certification of water and sewage works operators in Minnesota was established in 1952 by the state board of health at the request of the League of Minnesota Municipalities. The plan was initiated to promote the employment of trained and experienced personnel, and to provide operators with the opportunity of demonstrating their competency in the operation of sewage treatment works.

Pennington Leaders Council Has Session

Of interest to Pennington county 4-H club members were a number of items discussed at the meeting of the Pennington county 4-H leader's council held recently. Information presented dealt with 4-H club week, the state 4-H federation meeting and the Pennington county fair.

It was noted that the county 4-H council and county clubs have won for the county a certificate of merit for 1962. Only six counties in the state received the award—making it the fifth year in a row in which Pennington county has been a state winner.

Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent, and a veterinarian will be checking livestock for the county fair on June 20 and 21, and county club members having cattle which have not yet been tested are asked to have them in the barn on those days. They will start east of Thief River Falls and work toward the east county line. Club members not planning to show their animals are asked to call the extension office.

Adults interested in chaperoning at 4-H club week at Crookston on June 19-21 are also asked to call the extension office. Registration fees will be paid by the 4-H council for one man and one woman to serve as chaperones.

State Federation Meet

Carol Peterson of the Silverton club was elected as the voting delegate to the state 4-H federation meeting to be held in connection with the Junior leadership conference. Other delegates from Pennington county include Kathy Svendsgaard, Mavie; Bonnie Finstad, Rocksbury; Alan Newton and Carolyn Torkelson, Smiley; and John Hellquist, New Solum.

Pennington county fair will have a 4-H herdsmanship award this year through the courtesy of Farmers Cooperative Grain & Seed association. Each club is responsible for having neat, clean stalls at the fair and a group of judges whose identity will remain unknown will inspect the stalls and pens daily to judge the contest. Three top clubs will be selected.

While the 4-H Leaders Guide states that no color pictures are to be included in the 4-H photography exhibit, the 4-H record and the fair premium book have no such requirements, it was noted at the meeting. Color pictures (not slides) may be entered at the county fair this year.

Farm Safety Week

Farm Safety Week will be observed July 21-27 and each club is asked to report to the extension office on what they did to emphasize safety for the week.

Aberdeen Angus field day will be held at James McGregor's Glencarnock Stock Farm at Ada on June 23 at 11 a. m. Judging of cattle will be held with instruction on clipping, tattooing, selecting calves, grooming and showmanship.

Increased support for the food preservation project has been announced by the sponsor to include two $300 scholarships for the two top ranking 4-H members in the state and a merchandise award for each county.

It was noted that 10 acts will be needed for 4-H night at the county fair and that clubs having talent which can perform should contact the extension office by June 20. Adults as well as club members may perform.

Each 4-H family must have a fair premium book this year since entry blanks are printed in the back of the books. If a family has more than three 4-H club members who will enter competition, more than one premium book will have to be secured. Blanks must be returned to the extension office by June 20.

No More Overnight Camping Allowed in Roadside Parks

Highway Dept. Reports Substantial Increase In Practice Recently

There will be no more overnight camping in roadside parking areas on the state's trunk highway system. The Minnesota highway department today announced measures to eliminate this misuse of the parking areas. The past few years have seen a substantial increase in this practice, especially in those areas that offer water and toilet facilities or lake access.

The department will soon begin placing "No Overnight Parking" signs in all parking areas that have water and toilet facilities, and in any others where overnight parking has been a problem.

The highway patrol will enforce the prohibition of this practice by periodic surveillance of roadside parking areas.

The department will also install sign directions to the nearest available campsite, of which there are a great number in Minnesota.

Roadside parking areas are intended to offer a place where the motorist can stop and rest and refresh himself or have a picnic alongside the highway. Camping interferes with this purpose. In some instances campers have stayed in the areas for a week or more and, on occasion, for the entire summer.

In addition, the state department of health has regestered numerous complaints with the highway department, because roadside parking areas do not offer adequate facilities to assure a healthful environment for campers.

Overnight camping in parking areas has also been a problem for department maintenance operations, requiring extra clean up and repair work.

"It is good for one to appreciate that life is now. Whatever it offers, little or much, life is now—this day—this hour— and is probably the only experience of the kind one is to have. As the doctor said to the woman who complained that she did not like the night air: "Madam, during certain hours of the twenty-four, night air is the only air there is."

Keeping His Promise

Governor James A. Rhodes of Ohio, after five months in office, is more than half way to keeping his campaign promise of reducing the number of state employees by 7,000, a little more than ten per cent of the 64,000 on the payroll. He says he will be able to reach the objective without sacrifice of essential services.

There probably are not many taxing units in the country (excepting townships and small villages) that could not cut their payroll costs by ten percent, under good management. The federal government, under good management, could do much better than that we are sure, and in most of the states the Ohio record could be matched.

Governor Rhodes, who had served Ohio as state auditor and was well informed on state operations, was elected on the strength of his promised program of economy. Maybe we are approaching another period of the political cycle when economy and good management are again going to appeal to the voters.

Friendly Neighbors

In the little town of Stoney Creek, near the city of Hamilton in the Province of Ontario, a four-day historical pageant has been staged in commemoration of a very important battle that was fought there 150 years ago. It was at Stoney Creek that a small British and Canadian force routed a numerically superior United States army in what has since been described as "the decisive engagement in the War of 1812".

So tells us Stan McNeill of the Southam News Service, reporting to the Winnipeg Tribune, and it is an interesting story. As reporter McNeill tells it:

"Though the 1813 battle was strictly little more than a skirmish, it involved a piece of derring-do that deserves a prominent spot in the annals of Canadian history.

"The hero of the day was a 16-year-old farm boy, Billy Green, who learned the enemy's password and boldly entered the U. S. lines, observing the deployment of troops and cannon.

"Having picked up all the information possible he covered his head with a blanket and crept out of the enemy lines on all fours and eventually made his way to the British camp.

"There he was rewarded with a corporal's sword and set off at the head of 700 British regulars and a hundred or so Canadian militia to take on a force of about 3,000 U. S. troops.

"Armed with the password, the British had little difficulty in disposing of the enemy outposts. Then in the dead of night and amid heavy bush they attacked the enemy, howling ferociously.

"The surprised Yankees were demoralized completely and fled in panic, leaving behind 120 prisoners, including two generals. Twenty-three British soldiers fell in the battle, including young Billy Green.

"It has been recorded that it was Billy Green's sword that drew first blood in the encounter.

"Historians have generally regarded it as a British victory, but two years ago local schools were supplied with a new Grade 8 textbook which stated that U. S. troops were the victors.

"In the face of the enraged howl that went up, Premier Robarts hastily admitted the error, the textbooks were withdrawn and corrected versions were sent out."

McNeill states that the reproduction of the battle in pageant form involved about 5,000 school children, in addition to 90 per cent of the townspeople, militia units from miles around, and contingents from south of the border. The good people of Stoney Creek evidently did a good job of keeping the record straight.

Of special interest to us was the fact that the people of Stoney Creek were not fighting the war over again. It was very definitely a friendly program and not in any way offensive to Americans. Battlefield Park was formally opened by Canada's Prime Minister, Lester Pearson, and with him, as a guest of honor, was W. Walton Butterworth, U. S. Ambassador to Canada.

One of the shortcomings of our schools is their failure to recognize the importance of Canadian history. Here, immediately south of the international border, a course in Canadian history should be a must in all high schools.

It is nice to have friendly neighbors.

Civil Defense

(The National Observer)

Oregon's decision to scrap its civil defense program reflects a mounting skepticism there and elsewhere in the land about the value of the program. While civil defense planners have talked often and long about the dreadful things that could happen in an atomic war, their baleful tone and apparent confusions do little but scare people. Precisely how urgent is civil defense and what is practicable? Until Federal officials come up with intelligent guidance, civil defense is bound to be regarded as futile or foolish or both.

Moderate Approach Needed

The demands for racial equality in our country are understandable. No reasonable person opposes racial equality as a matter of principle, and it is easy to enact new laws that would make racial discrimination in any form illegal. But securing racial equality, or any other kind of just equality, is not achieved merely by passing more laws.

The kind of equality that is desirable will not be achieved by quick government action. The changes that are desireable must come gradually, and attempts to secure speedy action by force will lead only to mass killing and increased racial misunderstanding.

This fact is recognized by some of the outstanding Negro leaders who favor moderation and gradualism in the approach to real equality. Unfortunately the Negro masses now seem to be impressed by the more militant leaders and their appeal which ranges from the emotional to the hysterical.

James Reston, writing for the New York Times Service, recognizes the need for a moderate approach and taking the power out of the hands of the extremists on both sides of the question. He observes:

"In this situation, the main hope seems to lie in bipartisan co-operation to produce legislation that will deflate the tension. This will clearly be difficult to obtain. Democratic senators from the deep South are obviously against it and will probably not be silenced by anything less than a two-thirds vote in the Senate to cut off debate.

"Meanwhile, quite a few Republican senators are determined not to vote for new civil rights legislation under the pressure of Negro street demonstrations. These demonstrations have obviously forced the administration to reverse its position and offer civil rights legislation, but if they continue, the demonstrations may very well defeat the legislation the Negro militants want."

Real racial equality in our country is a problem that only time will bring us. Our continent is a melting pot that already has produced a distinctive race, and with each passing century the racial and nationalistic barriers that have divided us will become less apparent. Time has a way of dealing with these problems effectively. Our problem now is to understand the problem, and restrain the hot-heads who would move us into a suicidal civil war.

We Have Made Progress

When the federal government forced desegregation in the schools at Little Rock, Arkansas, a few years ago, the experiment was tried at the lower grade levels. At this level the children may have been just as race conscious as were the students at the high school or college level, but they adjusted more easily to change. Their prejudices were not as deeply rooted as were those of their older brothers and sisters. At that age physical violence was not a serious problem.

President Eisenhower had to use his military power to maintain order in Little Rock, but Little Rock and Arkansas seem to have adjusted quite peacefully to the new order. The moderates seem to be in control and a gradual desegregation appears to be progressing satisfactorily. By the time the youngsters of Little Rock got to college the presence of Negro students in the classroom will not be something strange.

Recent experiments in desegregation have been conducted at the university level, and we can understand why, at that age level, there would be increased tension under the pressure of a new and "fearful" social relationship. Our guess is that the Little Rock approach was the more realistic, assuming that a realistic solution is the thing that is desired.

But it is not strange that there is confusion and bitterness in the changed social relationships that come with forced desegregation. The new problem is due primarily to comparatively recent Supreme Court decisions that changed the old order. For many years the Supreme Court had supported the generally accepted rule that educational equality meant "separate but equal" opportunities. Until recent years the Supreme Court has supported the idea of desegregation.

The attiude of the Negroes on segregation is understandable. So also is the attiude of the whites. A gradual adjustment to a realistic solution is a must. We like the following conclusion of the National Observer:

"The fact is, despite the passions of the moment, most Negroes and whites in this country have managed over the years to get along quite well. Inequalities there are; injustices too. But these have never been so overwhelming that reasonable men could not work them out peaceably. Neither have they prevented Negroes and whites from making greater economic, political, and social advances in this country than in any other, now or before.

"The advances, for both, haven't come easily. Things of value seldom do."

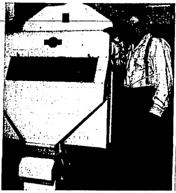
BUSY AS A BEE was the Floyd Hallan gravel pit three miles west of Thief River Falls last Saturday as trucks, front-end loaders and a bulldozer worked to haul, load and uncover gravel. Actually, it was natural to be busy as a bee because the work was part of the volunteer graveling bee at the Pennington county fairgrounds. Nearly 50 farm and commercial trucks, three front-end loaders, road graders, tractors with scrapers and countless volunteers worked to improve the fairgrounds prior to holding the annual Pennington county fair on July 8, 9, 10 and 11.



PATENTS on various pieces of equipment and improvements are held by Forsberg and Sons in Thief River Falls. Arthur R. Forsberg, who handles the patent work for the firm, is shown above with one of the screening machines which has previously been patented and for which patents on improvements will soon be requested. Forsberg recently received a U.S. patent number 3,087,617 on a piece of equipment entitled "Screener." Application for the patent, which consists of 10 claims of originality, was filed on March 2, 1960, and approval was received on April 30 of this year. It was one of a number of patents which have been granted to the company during the past 30 years.

Interstate Highway System on Schedule

Word that the 41,000-mile Interstate highway system is progressing right on schedule seeps to the public through release of statistics out of the Washington offices of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. It naturally gives rise to the question: How is the Minnesota portion of the Interstate doing?

The answer provided by the Minnesota highway department is the same as the national reply: Right on schedule.

A few of the massive statistics on the Interstate supply the verification. Mileages completed in Minnesota on the Interstate are not as impressive as in some states because many others do not face the complex and extensive obstacles presented by the problems encountered in the Twin Cities, with its Mississippi and Minnesota river crossings and numerous railroad separations.

Out of a total of 898 miles of Interstate to be completed by 1972 Minnesota now has more than 100 miles open to traffic, and the scheduling of stages of the future mileage indicates Minnesota will not be lagging at the completion date, say department officials.

The estimated total cost of Minnesota's Interstate is $980 million, of which $725 million is for construction, the remainder for right of way, utility relocations and engineering. In a 15-year average of state highway construction, Minnesota spends roughly $48 million per year for Interstate and $32 million for trunk highways. Hence, about 60 percent of Minnesota's gross highway spending per year is for Interstate, of which the federal government pays 90 percent and the state 10 percent.

As of June 1, Minnesota has spent or obligated $315 million of federal funds and $35 million of state funds, leaving $630 million of the estimated cost of the Minnesota system still to be obligated.

The building of the Interstate in Minnesota is a sharply defined urban-rural division of mileage. So far, major attention has been placed on the building of urban sections and engineering of other segments as a matter of practical consideration, the department engineers state. Not only do matters of economy enter the right of way situation in the Twin Cities, but the difficulties of the urban mileage require staging of the construction immediately if the target date of 1972 is to be met.

The rural sections of the Interstate also are less costly and by virtue of the topography are faster to build. Fewer right of way negotiations are involved, which also speeds the process.

Give Heed to Road Signs on Freeway

Drivers Advised to Learn Route Numbers in Advance

To use the freeways to the best advantage, the motorist must pay close attention to guide signs, especially in urban areas. There are no familiar landmarks, no street identification signs every block on the freeway to tell the motorist exactly where he is, says J. P. Darrell, traffic engineer with the state highway department.

Consequently, the freeway motorist must rely to a great extent on roadside and overhead signs to reach his destination.

A point to remember is that signs mean exactly what they say and won't say it again. If you go past the desired exit you will have to continue on to the next one, turn around and come back again. Interchanges are widely spaced and provide the only means for turning movements on freeways.

Remember too, that there is a limit to how much information the driver can read on a sign while traveling at relatively high freeway speeds. Therefore, the number of destinations that can be listed on a sign is severely limited. This means the driver should know in advance the different numbered routes and streets he must follow to get to his destination.

Slander Action in Crookston Loses

Former City Engineer Fails to Get Damages

A Polk county district court jury composed of eight men and four women deliberated one hour Friday before returning a verdict in favor of the defendant in a $125,000 slander suit.

The verdict was in favor of Crookston's Fifth Ward Alderman R. E. Knutson, who was being sued by former city engineer Ray Blessum.

Blessum was discharged on Jan. 29, 1963, for cause, by the late H. V. Sommer, Crookston mayor, with the mayor's action winning City Council approval by a 5-3 vote.

The Jan. 29 meeting was held to act on a report of a special Council committee which had been directed to investigate Blessum's administration of the city engineer's office. The committee charged Blessum with using city men, material and equipment in the construction of a house he was building in Crookston.

Blessum brought the slander suit against Knutson for an alleged statement made during the meeting.

The alleged statement said, in part ". . .This man has a record, a record, a record." The plaintiff charged the implication had been made that the word "record" implied a prison or criminal record, not to a previous employment record as Knutson contended.

Republicans Convene in Alexandria June 14

Minnesota's Republican Congressional delegation and conservation legislators will share top billing at the 1963 state GOP convention, Robert A. Forsythe, state chairman announced today.

The two day event, the first of now regularly scheduled non-election year conventions, will be held in Alexandria Friday and Saturday, June 14-15.

Highlight Friday will be the state issues-conference conducted by conservative legislators at 2 p.m. in Jefferson high school. This will feature four panel discussions, Forsythe said, on unemployment compensation; education; natural resources and welfare.

Also featured Friday will be the election of 10 party officers by the 266-member state central committee at the Viking Motel at 11 a. m.

When convention business is over Friday, delegates will have a fish fry from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. at the Alexandria city park on the shores of Lake Henry. The evening will be capped with a "Grand Old Party" Dance at the Algon Ballroom.

The convention proper will be held Satuday at the Jefferson high school auditorium. The highlight of the day will be a Paul Revere Panel discussion by the four members of the Minnesota Republican congressional delegation.

"Delegates will hear the latest news direct from their representatives in Washington," Forsythe noted.

Speakers in the afternoon will include State Auditor Staff King, State Treasurer Val Bjornson and former governor Elmer L. Andersen. Also on the program are party officers, George Etzell, and Mrs. Russell T. Lund, national committeeman and woman; Mrs. H. G. Dillingham, state chairwoman and Forsythe.

Zion Church Using Bible Study Plan

Congregation Exceeds Goal of 90 Registrants

Zion Lutheran Church of Thief River Falls has adopted the Bethel Series Bible Study program as a part of its schedule of activities for the next few years. During the past two years, eight members of Zion and two members of First Lutheran church in Goodridge have been studying intensively to train themselves for teaching the Bible classes.

The following are the teacher trainees at Zion: Doris Hagen, Kenneth Ose, Lillian Ose, Jeannette Relerson, Ruth Steen, Ina Thorsgard, Lester Vigness and Clifford Vigness; and at Goodridge: Melba Lundeen and Lois Swanson.

Enrollment for the first seven-week unit which begins on November 6 was opened this spring with a registration fee of $2.50 per person or $3.00 per couple. The goal was 90 registrations by June 16. The congregation, however, exceeded its goal by June 9.

The Bethel Series Bible Study program covers the entire Bible in two years.

Turkey Output in 1962 Twice Total for 12 Years Ago

The United States has more than doubled its production of turkeys in the past 12 years, according to the Department of Agriculture's statistical reporting service. Last year the 48 mainland states raised 92.3 million turkeys, compared with 44.4 million in 1950.

Most of the increase in turkey production has taken place in a few important turkey-producing states. California and Minnesota lead in production by a substantial margin. In 1962, nearly 18 million turkeys were raised in California and 15.1 million in Minnesota.

Iowa and Wisconsin ranked third and fourth respectively, with 7.8 and 5.5 million birds.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

SOMETHING OLD ♡♡ SOMETHING NEW

These — without anything borrowed or blue — can give to her Wedding Day the sure promise of happiness.

Something old? A faith in God such as has been the foundation of life for millions of Christians before her. A simple conviction found in the religious instruction she received as a child, nurtured in regular worship at Church, ready to go with her through the years.

Something new? A love for the one she has consented to marry. A tender devotion that will grow richer and deeper as they share the sunshine and shadows of life.

With these two—the "something old" that lives in her soul, and the "something new" that thrills in her heart—she comes to her husband. And if he comes to her bearing the same treasures, their marriage cannot fail!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Searchers Drag River for Drowning Victim

Searchers are dragging the Red Lake river southeast of St. Hilaire today in an attempt to recover the body of Roger Lee Smsky, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smsky of rural St. Hilaire. The youth drowned at about 3:30 p. m. Sunday on the Henry Konickson farm about three and one-half miles southeast of St. Hilaire.

According to the Pennington county sheriff's department, which is conducting the investigation and supervising search operations, the Smsky youth was wading across the river with three other youths when the mishap occurred. He apparently slipped into deeper water, and after his companions futilely attempted to hold him, the strong current swept him downstream. It was reported that he did not know how to swim.

With Smsky at the time were Gordon Hasby, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hasby; Robert Fladeland, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole J. Fladeland; and Douglas Johnson, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson. All are from St. Hilaire.

Six boats and a number of Thief River Falls firemen and other volunteers were used to drag the river on Sunday afternoon and evening but their attempts were in vain. At least 10 boats were being used this morning in the search which was made difficult by the tricky current.

Eugene Prestegaard, Pennington county deputy sheriff, told a Times reporter on the scene this morning that the Walleye Skindiving club of Gand Forks would provide divers to assist in the search this afternoon if dragging did not prove sucessful.

Former Holt Pastor to Head Northern Div. Am. Lutheran Church

The Rev. Tollef C. Hanson, Detroit Lakes, pastor, who formerly served a Lutheran parish at Holt, was elected in Hibbing Wednesday night as new president of the Northern Minnesota District, American Lutheran Church.

In this full time position comparable to a bishop in other denominations, he will succeed the Rev. Dr. Arthur E. Hanson, 69, Moorhead, who will retire Dec. 31 because of age.

Pastor Hanson, 54, was named to a six-year term as leader of the district, which has 337 congregations with 124,000 members.

A native of Milan, Minn., he is a graduate of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, and Luther Seminary, St. Paul, and also attended the University of Minnesota.

Before going to his present pastorate at First Lutheran Church, Detroit Lakes, Pastor Hanson served churches in Breckenridge, Roseau, and Holt and was director of stewardship at Concordia College Moorhead.

Pastor Hanson was elected on the third ballot. Runners-up were the Rev. Oscar W. Engebretson, Madison, Minn., pastor, and the Rev. Raymond Williams, Bemidji, pastor.

The new president was installed Friday by the Rev. Herbert Nottbohm, Minneapolis, administrative assistant to the Rev. Dr. Fredrik A. Schiotz, Minneapolis, national ALC president.

At the convention session Wednesday night, delegates heard the Rev. Dr. William Larsen, Minneapolis, ALC secretary, reveiw the state of the church.

He reported that a new curriculum for instruction of the church's youth and adults is being prepared and the first materials for grades 10, 11, and 12 will be ready for use in September 1964.

City Honored by State League of Municipalities

William Fahey, accountant in the city clerk's office, represented Thief River Falls at the 50th annual convention of the League of Minnesota Municipalities in Mankato late last week. At a luncheon Friday this city received recognition for having been a member of the league since its founding 50 years ago.

The second annual C. C. Ludwig award for outstanding municipal service was given to Warren C. Hyde, Edina Village Manager, at a banquet Thursday. The presentation was made by Julius M. Nolte, dean of the University of Minnesota extension division and league trustee.

The C. C. Ludwig award was established last year by the League to honor an official whose life of municipal service exemplifies the ideals of the late Mr. Ludwig, who for 24 years was the executive secretary of the League until his retirement in 1959.

Marshall County Will Send Eight To 4H Conference

Noel LaBine, Argyle, Will Enter Contest On Tractor Operating

Marshall county will send eight delegates to the 43rd state 4-H junior leadership conference to be held June 25-28 on the University of Minnesota's St. Paul Campus, according to Harlem Sandberg, county 4-H club agent.

The eight delegates include Muriel Jorgenson, Argyle; Cathy Zakrzewski, Strandquist; Lester Bakke, Newfolden; David Crummy, Argyle; Jon Hedlund, Warren; Clifford Hoper, Stephen; Wayne Knoll, Stephen; and Noel LaBine, Argyle.

LaVern Freeh, director of agricultural short courses at the University, will open the conference, speaking on "Leadership—an Opportunity—Obligation." Following an assembly on group leadership led by George Donohue, extension rural sociologist at the University, delegates will discuss leadership opportunities in 4-H.

"International Dimensions in Citizenship" is the subject of a talk to be given by Charles T. Vetter Jr., lecturer, United States Information Agency, Washington, D. C. Mr. Vetter will talk about his experiences in Russia and the communist philosophy and will give deeper insights into differences in ideologies by playing the role of a communist in answering questions.

Other highlights of the conference include a career exploration session, a report by the three International Farm Youth exchangees and the attendance of 35 4-H delegates from Maryland.

Thursday evening the 4-H'ers will attend a banquet sponsored by the Minneapolis Area Chamber of Commerce. Following the banquet, 4-H alumni awards and friends of 4-H will be announced. Entertainment will be provided by WCCO radio personalities.

A special feature of this year's conference will be training in the tractor project including a tractor operators' contest. One 4-H'er carrying the tractor project in each county may participate. The winner will compete in the regional contest at Bismarck, North Dakota, in the fall. Marshall County's representative will be Noel LaBine.

Approximately 750 junior leaders from all parts of the state are expected to attend the conference. They will stay in the state 4-H building on the state fairgrounds.

Princess Chaperone

Doris Conlon Has Busy Dairy Job

How would you like the job of presenting a teenage farm girl whom you'd known only a short time to the President of the United States or the Premier of France? Or perhaps you'd rather take such a girl on tour of an exotic country such as Japan or Columbia (even though neither you nor the girl can speak or understand a word of the local language).

Just to make it a bit more challenging, add the pressure of knowing that your young lady from the farm makes every move in the full glare of the publicity spotlight because she represents the entire industry for which you both work.

With such factors firmly in mind, one can begin to appreciate the responsibility of the job performed for the past nine years by Mrs. L. H. Conlon of St. Paul, official chaperone to all of Minnesota's Princesses Kay of the Milky Way.

Doris Conlon, as she is known to hundreds of friends throughout the state and nation, is not likely to be forgotten as long as there is a Princess Kay of the Milky Way or an American Dairy Princess. She has been an integral part of the dairy princess program since it was inaugurated by her husband (and boss), Manager Lew Conlon of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee.

How well she has done her job is attested to by the esteem in which each Princess Kay has been held by both the people who make up the dairy industry and the public at large. With characteristic modesty, Mrs. Conlon has passed along virtually all of the credit for accomplishment to each of her girls.

"They've all been grand and each has made a very real contribution to both the title and the crown," says the attractive lady who has accompanied the dairy princesses on some 5,000 appearances.

She does take justifiable personal pride in these two facts:

..In nearly one million miles of travel and on thousands of appearances none of the girls ever has been in difficulty of any kind.

..The parents of more than 13,000 dairy farm girls have offered, (by consenting to the girls' entry in the dairy princess contests at various levels) to place the personal life of their daughters under Mrs. Conlon's direction for a full year.

Memorable events in her career would crowd a thick book. High ratings in anyone's book would have to go to:

..Meeting then-Premier Mendes-France during a U. S. Department of Agriculture sponsored trip to France with the First Princess Kay, Eleanor Maley.

Other Officers Elected at Annual Session Last Week at N.W. School

New officers were elected at the business meeting of "resident" camp members at the annual Women's Camp at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, in session June 11-14. Elected for next year's camp were Mrs. John Thompson, Newfolden, president; Mrs. Chester Ramberg, Mentor, vice president; Mrs. Walter Nyquist, Moorhead, secretary; Mrs. Philip Dufault, Crookston, treasurer; and Mrs. James Enright, East Grand Forks, sergeant-at-arms.

In addition to members in residence for the entire period of the camp, a large number of women from county homemakers' groups in the Red River Valley attended the Day Campers day on Thursday, June 13. The women enjoyed a four-day camp program of interesting lecture-demonstrations on films, health, handicraft, work, music, and recreation. Camp leader was Mrs. Harlene H. Overgaard.

Wm. Thompson and Herb Dill Speak to Lions Wednesday

15 Members Volunteer Assistance in Staging County Fair During July

Members of the Lions club at their luncheon meeting Wednesday noon were addressed by William Thompson, member of the board of directors of the new Pennington County Fair association, and Herbert Dill, manager of the Agassiz Wildlife refuge.

Thompson told of the highly successful grading and graveling bee staged recently at the fairgrounds by a large group of volunteer workers, mostly farmers, and he termed it a fine demonstration of community spirit. He solicited the support of the Lions in volunteering their services during the fair in July, and 15 club members offered to help.

Herb Dill reported on projects currently in progress or recently completed on the refuge. He stated that the goose-propagating trials, which date back to 1950, are now making good progress, with a population of Canada geese numbering from 300 to 400. He mentioned that 32 of the birds had wintered on the refuge last year, with no apparent ill effects.

Dill also commented briefly on deer hunting in the refuge area, which attracts about 2,000 Nimrods each year, and he told of emergency public works projects carried out this year.

CHARRED framework with only fluttering bits of fabric turned ashes remained of this Piper P-18 spray plane which crashed near Thief River Falls about 8:50 a. m. Friday. Killed in the crash was the pilot, Joseph Clarence Kiel of Middle River, who was flying the plane for Rantanen Flying Service of Thief River Falls. Cause of the mishap was unknown and there were no witnesses to the crash. Thief River Falls firemen were summoned to the scene and poured about 300 gallons of water on the plane to extinguish the flames before the pilot's body could be removed.

Al Berge Attends State GOP Parley

Annual Convention Ends at Alexandria Saturday

A. F. Berge, treasurer of the Pennington county Republican organization, represented the group at the state GOP convention at Alexandria Friday and Saturday, the meeting being termed a harmonious one with nearly 1,000 delegates and alternates attending.

Speakers included Elmer L. Andersen, former governor; Val Bjornson, state treasurer; and Republican congressmen, including Rep. Odin Langen of the Seventh district. Robert Forsythe was reelected state chairman.

The biggest battle over a resolution was waged over party designation for state legislators. Following a plea by State Rep. Walter K. Klaus, Farmington Conservative, the resolution supporting designation was passed with only a smattering of "no" votes.

Joseph Kiel, 42, Dies As Aircraft Crashes & Burns

Crashing into an open field Friday morning and bursting into flames, a crop-spraying airplane claimed the life of Joseph Clarence Kiel, 42, a native of Middle River. The crash occurred about 8:50 a. m. on the Anderson Brothers farm located three miles east and one and one-quarter miles south of Thief River Falls.

Kiel was the pilot of a Piper PA-18 aircraft owned by Rantanen Flying Service of Thief River Falls. He was reported to have been preparing to spray a 40-acre field for the Anderson Brothers when the accident happened about half a mile from the farm home of Ervin Anderson.

Anderson stated that the plane had flown over the house and that later he had heard the motor stop and then an explosion. The plane was in flames when the Andersons arrived on the scene. The aircraft was facing in a northwest direction near the center of a summer-fallowed field.

Thief River Falls firemen were called to the scene and used about 300 gallons of water to put out the flames. County sheriff's officials noted that it was necessary to move the motor forward in order to remove the pilot's body from the plane. Investigation was also conducted by the Federal Aviation Agency in an attempt to determine the cause of the crash. No one was present to witness the accident. Kiel had been a spray pilot for Rantanen Flying Service for a number of years.

Kiel is survived by his wife, Delores, and a son Armond. Funeral arrangements are being made by Collins Funeral Home of Middle River.

Walter A. Larson

An old adage advises that if you want something done, give it to a busy man. That's why it's practically an even-money bet that Walter A. Larson, bachelor Lake Elmo dairy farmer, will be one of the first called upon when there's organization to be done in Minnesota dairy circles.

Peeling off a pair of overalls, grabbing a quick shower and heading for the Twin Cities or elsewhere in a business suit has become almost as much a part of Larson's routine as milking the 95 head of Holsteins in his barn.

Among his biggest "outside" jobs is that of president of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Commerican Dairy Association.

He also serves as a:

..National director of the American Dairy association;

..President of Twin City Milk Producers association;

..Director of National Dairy council;

..Director of Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc.;

..Member of the Dairy Quality Control committee of the Twin Cities;

..Director of American Dairy Foods, Inc.;

..Director of National Milk Producers federation;

..Member of the Twin Cities Metropolitan Planning commission

Proud of his heritage as a dairy farmer, the genial Larson (who readily answers to "Wally") is the first to admit he "could keep pretty busy right at home." As might be suspected, this is eloquent in understatement.

Besides the dairy herd, which numbers about 175 with 95 producing cows and 80 replacement animals, Larson has 460 of his farm's 550 acres under cultivation.

His cows produce an average of one and one-half tons .. or roughly 1,500 quarts .. of Grade "A" milk per day.

Final Tests for Bicycle License Offered Tuesday

Final opportunity for community residents to take tests on bicycle riding skills prior to licensing will be provided Tuesday from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m., according to Elton Cummings, Thief River Falls police chief.

Testing is required this year before licenses can be issued. In addition to safety tests conducted by the Jaycees and Veterans of Foreign Wars several weeks ago, the department has offered the tests several times during the past two weeks.

Following the test period on Tuesday, the police department will begin to impound bicycles which are not licensed, Chief Cummings said. He urged all youngsters and parents alike to make sure they take the test on Tuesday if they do not already have a 1963 license.

Beverly Naplin Speaks Vows With LeRoy Kritz

Marriage vows were exchanged June 8 by Beverly Jean Naplin and LeRoy Kritz in St. John's Lutheran church, Red Lake Falls, before an altar graced with baskets of white gladioli and yellow 'mums. Rev. John D. Rolf officiated at the double-ring ceremony in the presence of about 200 guests.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Axel Naplin of Red Lake Falls, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Florian Kritz of Thief River Falls.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Harold Busse of Red Lake Falls, and she also accompanied soloist Mrs. John Ulrich, who sang, "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of her own creation. Of white silk organza over taffeta, it had a princess style bodice with the skirt falling into Bo Peep scallops which revealed a nylon lace undershirt. A halo of organza held the fingertip veil. She wore a pearl pendant, a gift of the groom, and carried a cascade bouquet of roses and ivy tendrils.

Sharon Salo of Hibbing, the bride's cousin, was maid of honor, and Lana Sackett of Rhinelander, Wis., cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid. They wore dresses of bright blue taffeta of their own creation, and featuring skirts of embroidered blue organza.

The junior bridesmaid, Connie Naplin of Red Lake Falls, a sister of the bride, wore a similar blue taffeta and organza dress, which had been made by the bride. The attendants wore pearl pendants which had been given them by the bride. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and yellow roses, with lilies of the valley. They all wore white gloves.

Attending the groom as best man was a brother of the bride, Wayne Naplin. Ushers were James Fisher of this city and Dennis Naplin of Red Lake Falls. The gentlemen wore light blue dinner jackets with dark trousers.

The bride's mother wore a tan dress with green accessories and a corsage of white carnations and yellow roses. The mother of the groom wore a blue dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses and white carnations.

A reception for 150 guests was given in the church parlors by the parents of the bride. The white and blue wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and groom, had been made and decorated by Mrs. Ernest Ulrich. Hostess was Mrs. Leonard Melin. The cake was cut by Mrs. Ernest Salo and Mrs. Frank Ford, aunts of the bride and groom respectively. At the coffee service were Mrs. LeRoy Sackett, and Mrs. Jake VanderWeg, aunts of the groom and bride, respectively. Miss Sharon Larson was at the punch bowl and Mrs. James Fisher at the guest book.

Ushering the guests at the reception were Darwin Terhart and Lee Gustafson, and assisting at the gift table, Mrs. Charles VanderWeg and Mrs. James Pahlen. Waitresses were Linda Tollefson, Karen Zutz, Shirley Pahlen, Judy VanderWeg, Karen Dargon, and Delores Casavant.

Guests attended from Superior, Mellem and Rhinelander, Wisconsin; and Buffalo, Holt, Hibbing, Crookston, Thief River Falls, all in Minnesota.

For the wedding trip to Itasca Park and Fargo, N. D. the bride selected an orange dress with white accessories. After June 10, they are at home here at 241 S. Crocker ave.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

What is a library? Webster's newest dictionary defines it as "a place in which books, manuscripts, musical scores or other literary and artistic materials are kept for use but not for sale". These words are literally true, but somehow the mystery, the intrigue, the glamour, the wonderment of books and the warmth of knowledge fail to show through Webster's cold and calculated conception and composition.

Webster is fine, as far as he goes! But he just doesn't go far enough. He doesn't say that a library is one of the most intimate of friends! Where else can you find the tiniest fact, the bizarre, the joy, the maudlin, the fantastic, about a person who lived yesterday, or last year or last century—or who will begin to live tomorrow?

Where else can you find fact and fancy side by side and clearly labeled?

Where else can you go to find out about life on the moon, or next door, or across the continent or beyond the sea? Where else can you find a jillion ways to cook beefsteak or grow a garden?

So with Webster's definition we must agree, but we must also see beyond the words and visualize the wonderment of the world enclosed in four walls and entered by a glass door. To see and to know a library for what it actually is—a building containing knowledge, air, land, people, water, humor, sadness, joy, love, hate. A library, with its shelves of books, shelters the world yet flaunts every emotion—there are no secrets within the library structure for every word, every thought, every deed is there to be scrutinized by prying eyes.

A library is a world — anybody's world, everybody's world—a library is a school of higher education—not matter what your age! A library is a fountain of information and a spring bubbling with inspiration.

A library is a recreation field and a minister's pulpit. A library is a place to begin and end, controversy. A library is a retreat from life and the busy workaday world, on one shelf, and on another shelf are words in books to plunge you deep into the middle of the stream, to make you live life as you never thought you would live it; to make you see things you never thought you'd see; to make you want things you never dreamed of wanting; and to make you build things you never thought of building.

So, while Webster has taken the liberty of defining "library" in a few short words, it takes a lifetime, and then some, to really know what a library is and what it contains.

Your library is the world in printed form, your "common market", bound tight for easy handling, and divided into categories of simple classification for you, the consumer's sake.

And, now, while we're speaking of libraries in such revered tones, let's take a look at the shelves of Carnegie and see what the week's mail delivery has brought to the doorstep for you to borrow and enjoy!

First, there's a new Dorothea Malm novel entitled "Every Third Thought". This Minnesota-born writer takes old-age and spins it round and round so that tragedy and Christmas, and family and peach and hate and havoc are carefully entwined to stir the imagination and hold the reader entranced. Read it if you are looking for "something a little different" to read these summer days.

Then Kansas novelist Russell Laman has taken John Phillip Garwood and revealed his innermost thoughts and his greatest desires in "Manifest Destiny" a novel about a man, his struggles and his destiny. Mr. Laman is a talented, hardworking author who has spent many long years revealing the character of John Garwood in such a manner that you, the reader, meet each conflict and fight with the determination and the strength of the book's main character.

"Runaway to Heaven" the story of Harriet Beecher Stowe and her era, is the work of Johanna Johnston, a Chicagoan by birth and a New York City dweller by choice. She is quite well known in her field of historical and biographical writing. In case you forgot—Mrs. Stowe was herself a writer! You have heard of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" no doubt? See you Saturday afternoon at the Flower Show and Silver Tea! Anytime from 2 'til 4 at the Library.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. CLARENCE KVERNO

A decorated, candle-studded birthday cake is an entrenched birthday tradition in most families. The glimmering candles are a delight to the younger generation, and to us of the older generation, the birthday candles are a way of making light of our years. In the Clarence Kverno family of Thief River Falls, however, a different tradition has grown out of the tastes of three generations of men in the family. No frosted cakes for them—it is pie they want. Specifically, it is Hollywood pie they ask for, with its creamy, tangy, custard hidden under deep, glossy meringue swirling up into amber-tipped peaks.

By coincidence, as Mrs. Kverno was considering what to submit in response to our request for a good recipe last Tuesday, she received visitors. Her brother, Stan Johnson, came with his wife Virginia, and daughters Nancy and Julie. The Johnsons are former residents of this city but now make their home in Grand Forks, where Professor Johnson is head of the art department of University of North Dakota.

By coincidence—or something—Tuesday was Stan's birthday anniversary. What would a good sister do but whip up a Hollywood pie to celebrate the occasion. And that is how Mrs. Kverno happened to think of sharing with us this pie recipe, unique in that it came to her direct from Hollywood, 30 years ago, through a relative who lived there.

HOLLYWOOD PIE

16 graham crackers, finely crushed
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup melted butter

Mix the crushed graham crackers with the brown sugar in a 9-inch pie tin and pour in the melted butter. Blend thoroughly. Save off a spoonful or two for topping, and then press the mixture around the sides and bottom of the pan to make the pie shell.

CUSTARD

two-thirds cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
dash of salt
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup milk, or ½ cup of juice drained from can
1 small can crushed pineapple
3 egg yolks

Pour the cup and a half of milk into a double boiler to heat while you measure the sugar and flour and salt into a bowl, and mix in the ½ cup milk - or juice. Add this to the milk in the double boiler and cook until it thickens. Juice may cause a curdled appearance, but beating will remedy that. Continue stirring after adding the egg yolks and cook until thick. Remove from heat, add drained pineapple, butter, and vanilla. Pour into pie shell and let cool.

Use the 3 egg whites to make the meringue, beationg them to a soft point before gradually adding 6 tablespoons of sugar. Beat until stiff and shiny. Swirl it over the pie, completely covering the filling. Sprinkle with the crumb mixture that was saved off. Bake 20-30 minutes in 350 degree oven.

Mrs. Kverno enjoys being a homemaker, growing flowers both indoors and out, gardening, and fishing. Their cabin on upper Red Lake is often used for weekend or longer vacations. Outside of her home, Mildred's first interest is her church. The Kvernos are members of Trinity Lutheran church, where she has long been active in TLCW and the circles, serving in many capacities. Their son Donald, who lives in East Grand Forks, is married and has two sons, Jay and John. Daughter, Gail (Mrs. James Rude) lives here and has a small daughter, Debby, who is quite a frequent visitor at her grandmother's.

Every hotel and motel room in the St. Paul area has been booked for the period of the convention. In addition, some 1,500 dancers will be billeted in Minneapolis hotels and motels, and 650 registered camping families will be staying in house trailers and tents on Harriet Island in St. Paul, Lorraine and Kaposai Parks in South St. Paul, and Volunteers of America Camp in Forest Lake.

Registration begins at 1 p.m. June 19 in the St. Paul Auditorium lobby. It continues until 8 p.m. that day and will be held each day during the convention.

It is not necessary to be a member of an organized square dancing group in order to participate. Persons desiring to dance may register in the Auditorium lobby from 1 p.m. Wednesday until the convention closes. Fee is $1.50 per day per person.

In addition to the dancing, workshops, panel discussions and instruction sessions are scheduled throughout the three-day convention in the St. Paul Auditorium and Masonic Temple. A detailed listing of the workshops and instruction sessions may be obtained in the Convention News Room, on floor of the Arena.

The convention will attract 370 registered callers and 98 round dance leaders. There will be three bands playing for dancing. Approximately 2,000 of the total registrants will be taking part in round dancing.

The three types of square dancing can be described in this way: Easy-level is for beginners; convention level dancing involves skilled participants, and "hot hash" dancing is for the most experienced dancers.

Canadian Johannson Delights Local Group

Square dancers had a ball in Thief River Falls Saturday, June 15, when Joe Johannson of Canada called the tips. From the first "Alemande left" at 8 p. m. to the last "Swing & Twirl" at 11:30, the crowd was entranced with smiling Joe's well-timed calls. Twenty-one squares, clapping their refusal to stop dancing, reluctantly found their way to the serving table and coffee at 11:30. Serving were Mr. and Mrs. Art Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mosbeck.

A brief business meeting was held, with retiring president Randall Noper turning the meeting over to new president, Gene Durham. The club voted to accept the 1963-64 schedule of dances as presented by the executive committee, with open dates to be filled by the committee.

Coming event of special interest will be a street dance on July 26th, when Joe Johannson makes a return visit to Thief River Falls. The regular Falls Squares dance will be in the city auditorium on July 20th with guest caller Don Ferrie of Grand Forks handling the calls. Area dancers are always welcome.

Falls Squares members attending the Erskine street square dance Sunday evening, called by Don Ferrie, were Mr. and Mrs. Al Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Don Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Denny Inman, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Noper and Mr. and Mrs. Mel Simon. Over 100 dancers performed for a packed audience.

HOME IMPROVEMENT SALESMAN
You wouldn't dream of buying roofing, siding, paint or any of a dozen home improvements with your eyes closed, would you? Yet when you patronize a here-today-gone-tomorrow itinerant saelsman you are doing just that. Before you are pressurized into a quick sale—Stop ask yourself these questions:
1. What do I know about the salesman and his company?
2. Do I have anything but his word that the merchandise he is selling will measure up to his claims?
3. Does he represent an established local business which will stand back of my purchase and guarantee my satisfaction?
4. Do I know positively that this man's so-called bargain price is really a bargain or just a "Come-on?"
The greatest selling tool these high-pressure boys have is "pressure" . . . Warning you that failure to sign immediately will lose you tremendous savings. Play it safe! Deal only with reputable, established dealers — The man who is in business, who wants you for a customer, not only now, but in the future.

Minneapolis Again Elects Naftalin to Mayor's Office

DFL-Endorsed Incumbent Defeats P. K. Peterson by Nearly 7,000 Margin

Minneapolis voters gave Mayor Arthur Naftalin another two-year trem and sent 11 of 13 aldermen back to their council seats in Tuesday's election.

In complete but unofficial returns Democratic - Farmer - Labor - endorsed Naftalin defeated P. Kenneth Peterson - whom he turned out of office two years ago - 63,108 to 56,495. Peterson had Republican backing.

But the charter amendment which Naftalin had tied in with his vote drive while Peterson opposed it lost by a 60,848 - 36,225 ballot. It would have firmed up the mayor's authority and placed general financial responsibility on the City Council instead of several other fiscal agencies.

The turnout of 119,603 voters represented for less than half of the about quarter million registered in the city.

Glenn G. C. Olson, a newcomer to Minneapolis politics, won the 11th Ward chair to which Earl Johnson had not sought re-election. Olson defeated George Todd, a city labor leader, 9,241 - 2,600.

L. Howard Bennett topped a field of six in the school board race to become the first Negro ever placed on that body here. He is a former municipal judge. Others elected were George F. Humphrey and Mrs. Charles Hymes for six-year terms - as is Bennett's - and K. Warren Fawcett, elected for four years.

Reynold Malmquist, former Minneapolis fire chief, won as city treasurer over Clyne F. Olson.

Methodists Hold Annual Conference

Rev. Headley Reassigned to TRF Methodist Church

More than 600 delegates attended the 109th annual conference of the Minnesota Methodist Church, June 11-14, in St. Paul.

The conference approved several major actions: immediate launching of a church developer plan of church extension; the development of plans for a full-time employed conference staff; the creation of a committee to study the Hamline University charter and plans for an increase in trustees; and approval of the Negro freedom movement and President Kennedy's recent stand on nuclear testing.

Delegates learned that in 1962-63 state Methodist membership reached 125,386, an increase of 633; and that the 398 conference churches had spent $7,725,810 for all-purposes, an increase of $251,836. Two new budgets were approved to cover the conference move to a calendar fiscal year; a seven-month budget of $735,350 and a 1964 budget of $1,286,887. These do not include local church budgets.

Climax of the conference came on the closing evening when 30 ministers were ordained: 16 deacons and 14 Elders. Five ministers retired after 176 years of service to 57 churches. Following the ordination service the ministers were appointed to their churches for 1963-64, including the reappointment of Rev. A. Dean Headley as pastor of the Community Methodist church of Thief River Falls.

Marvin Employes Vote Down Union Representation

Workers in Plant at Warroad Reject Unions by Margin of 74 to 62

Employes of the Marvin family enterprises at Warroad Tuesday voted against union representation. Of 146 eligible workers 145 turned out to vote in the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) election.

Eugene Gostee, NLRB representative, who supervised the poll, said the vote was 62 for the International Woodworkers of America, 74 for "no union," 3 void and 6 challenged ballots.

The Carpenters Brotherhood, also on the ballot, did not receive a single vote.

Most of the voters worked in the Marvin Lumber and Cedar Co., millwork factory, the town's largest plant.

The Marvins, for more than a half-century Warroad's first family also operate the lumber yard, a feed warehouse, two grain elevators, a retail store and a marine shop.

Its employes make up a good portion of Warroad's 1,300 population.

The defeat is the union's third since 1954 and the 12-vote margin of defeat is the best showing the Woodworkers have yet made.

Over $1,500 Damage

Traffic Mishaps Occur Last Week

Several traffic mishaps, two of them involving a considerable amount of damage, were investigated recently by the Thief River Falls police department. In excess of $1,500 damage was done to vehicles involved in the mishaps.

On Monday at 11:50 a. m., a car driven west on Nora street by Paul O'Gorman struck a car driven south on Conley avenue by William Erickson. About $175 damage was done to the O'Gorman car and $350 to the Erickson vehicle with O'Gorman charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Also at about 11:50 a. m. the same day a car struck the Great Northern railroad crossing arm on Highway 59 at the west edge of the city. The car was said to be a Chevrolet or Oldsmobile, late 1940's model, light over dark green two-tone color. The driver was said to be an older man who continued into town after striking the crossing arm which received about $30 damage.

In a one-car mishap on Tuesday, about 12:45 p. m., a car driven by Mary Lynn Dryden, city, hit a curb and went out of control, striking a tree near the intersection of Schunamean street and St. Paul avenue south. Miss Dryden told police an oncoming car caused her to pull toward the curb. About $200 damage was done to the car and the case is under investigation.

On Wednesday at 8:15 a. m. a car driven by Mrs. Frances Gjesfjeld, city, was traveling south on Red Lake Blvd. and stopped for the stop sign at Third street. She then proceeded into the intersection and struck a car driven by Lowell Larson, city, which was entering Davis avenue from Third street. Damage was estimated at $50 to each car and Mrs. Gjesfjeld was charged on a citizen's complaint with failure to yield the right-of-way.

At about 1:10 p. m. the same day, a car driven by Odette Thomas, city, had stopped facing west on Main av. S. while waiting for traffic to clear and permit her to make a left turn on to South Duluth. A second car, driven by Verne Hagenbeck of Newfolden, had stopped behind the Thomas vehicle. A third vehicle, a pick-up truck driven by Valerian Koralewski of Brooks, struck the rear of the Hagenbeck vehicle and sent it crashing into the Thomas car. Damage was estimated at $30 to the Thomas car, $200 to the Hagenbeck car and 400 to the Koralewski pickup. Pam Thomas, 14, a passenger in the Thomas car, was treated for injuries at Northwestern hospital.

Herbert Walter of Plummer reported to police that his car had been struck by an unknown vehicle while parked on Horace avenue between First and Second street. The mishap occurred between 1 and 6 p. m. on June 11, during which time Walter's daughter June was competing for and winning the Northwest Dairy Princess title at Northwest Dairy Day. Damage to the car included the bumper, fender and headlight rim.

place from their father in 1924. Since his brother's death in 1960, Larson has run the farm with the help of five hired men.

What motivates a man with so much "to look after at home" to take on such a number of "outside" jobs?

"There's much more to dairying these days than simply raising feed and milking cows," Larson says. "A dairyman's interest has to extend beyond his own gateposts today if our industry is to retain its rightful place."

That also is a good summary of the philosophy which underlies the promotion work of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee which Larson heads.

"The job can never be dull to me," says Mrs. Conlon.

WELL, IT HAS CAME AND WENT AGAIN. Poor grammar, to be sure, but a good description of the 14th annual edition of Northwest Dairy Day. The more I see of this wonderful program the more impressed I am with it. This is something designed for youth with far-reaching implications for the future of our children and our area.

Basic motivation behind the success of the program, I would suppose, is the offer of excellent prizes to winners. To many, however, the fact that all exhibitors are recognized and rewarded for participation is an incentive. But the whole wheel turns on a central hub—and that hub is simply competition.

Here in Dairy Day is an opportunity for youngsters to show the fruits of their labors, to learn from their mistakes and to profit from what they can learn from others. All exhibitors compete on an equal basis with no lines drawn on age groups with the exception of cattle classes. A nine-year-old in his first year of competition may meet a seasoned veteran on equal terms.

There are those, I suppose who would say that such competition is bad. Personally, I think it is healthy. I think it is good for a seasoned veteran to be beaten by a newcomer. I think it is equally good for a veteran to win and be rewarded for his repeated efforts. It is good for youngsters to learn to take defeat or to accept victory without malace or with humility. Dairy Day has this to offer—and judging by the success of the event, it is apparent that area dairy farm families are aware of it.

Speaking of Dairy Day, several hat tips are in order. Hats off to Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Kathleen Hjelle of Argyle, for her fine representation of Region I; to Jerry Muzzy, only 10 years old and already twice showman of the grand champion purebred; June Walter of Plummer for topping the field of 35 contestants for Northwest Dairy Princess; to the committee chairmen for their usual super-human efforts; and to the weatherman for scattering rain clouds whenever they appeared.

New Conservation Chief Appointed

Wayne Olson Is Named to Succeed Clarence Prout

Wayne Olson, 38, a deputy attorney general, Wednesday was appointed state conservation commissioner by Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag.

He replaces Commissioner Clarence Prout, who was appointed by former Gov. Elmer L. Andersen two years ago.

Prout's term had almost four more years to run but Rolvaag said Prout indicated during the gubernatorial recount that he would offer his resignation in the event Rolvaag was the winner.

Prout will return to the state forestry division, where he will become director. His deputy commissioner, Richard Knox, also will return to the forestry division. Both are under civil service.

Olson is a native of Swanville, in Morrison County. He was graduated from Upsala, Minn. high school. He attended Macalester college and was graduated from the University of Minnesota.

Olson was first named special assistant attorney general by former Atty. Gen. Miles Lord in 1955.

Warns Motorists on Setting Fires

AAA Points out Need of Dousing Campfires

Destruction of thousands of acres of woodland could result this summer if care and caution are not exercised by tourists and campers heading for backwoods vacations, an official of the Minnesota State Automobile Assn. declared today.

"Some forest fires, such as those ignited by lightning, are impossible to prevent," said Hugh M Craig, executive secretary of the Minnesota AAA, "But the great majority can be prevented by a little care on the part of families using the woods for recreation or vacations."

Craig urged smokers to be especially wary when hiking through the woods or driving down roads through forest areas.

"When traveling along the open road, . .use your ashtray," he cautioned, "and don't fling a lighted cigarette out the window. Even though it may land in the center of the highway, the air flow generated by your car or the next car could whisk it into dry grass along the roadside."

New Building at Moorhead College to Honor Dr. Kise

A new $475,000 Moorhead State college food service center, completed last winter and named for Dr. Joseph Kise, dean emeritus of the college, will be dedicated formally July 10 at a ceremony scheduled for 3 p.m. in the central hall of the new building.

A dedication banquet, combined with the annual meeting of the Moorhead State College Alumni Association, will be held at 6 p.m. at the Frederick Martin hotel.

Dr. Kise retired from active service at Moorhead State College in 1961, and was named dean emeritus in recognition of his distinguished service to the college over a period of 38 years. He was state commander of the American Legion in 1940, president of the Minnesota Education association from 1952 to 1954, and vice president of the National Education association in 1955

RRV Potato Growers Hold Annual Meeting

James Hoesley of Crystal, N. D. was elected president of the Red River Valley Potato Growers Association at the annual meeting of the organization Thursday at the Grand Forks Armory-Auditorium. Peter Sinclair of Stephen, Minn., was elected vice president.

Larry Bogestad of Donaldson, Minn., and Emily Rychart of East Grand Forks were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

More than 800 attended the banquet and evening entertainment.

Presiding at the session was Ralph Mathews Jr. of Barnesville, Minn., chairman of the Red River Valley Potato Control Board.

The first reports were made by Rychart and by Leonard Hapka of Argyle, Minn., treasurer of the control board.

Bennitt Aarestad, president of the growers association, traced the development and the growth of the association in his short remarks. Mathews briefly remarked on the work of the control board and the honest attempt to improve the valley potato industry which that group is making.

Lyle W. Currie, association secretary, opened his report by saying, "The past year was normal because it was different. "He went on to say that the year saw a decrease in shipments to chippers but an increase in the sale of table stock. Quality had a lot to do with the decrease in chipping shipments, said Currie.

Two recommendations made by Currie were that some logical method should be found whereby packers outside of the valley packing Red River Valley potatoes could use the Red River Red symbol, and that producers should abandon the process of using artificial coloring on the potatoes. Currie commented that he felt the added coloring was more a hindrance than a help.

"If a problem can be solved at all it will be found that to understand it, and know what to do about it, are the same thing. On the other hand, trying to do something about a problem which you do not understand is like trying to clear away darkness by thrusting it aside with your hands."

—Alan W. Watts

We Still Like Ike

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower expressed himself bluntly last week on two controversial administration proposals. He referred to the $107 billion budget, along with a tax cut, as fiscal irresponsibility. The big increase in this budget is for an expanded military program. He stated that the nation's defense now is adequate and that to spend more would not buy more defense.

On the administration's space race, he could see no reason for spending large sums to be the first nation to put a man on the moon, stating:

> "To spend $40 billion to be the first to reach the moon is just nuts."

We understand what he meant. We still like Ike.

Kennedy Against Hunger

President Kennedy came out boldy against hunger in a recent campaign speech. It would be a disgrace, he said, if the present generation failed to use the knowledge it now possesses to conquer world hunger, stating:

> "We have the ability, we have the means, and we have the capacity to eliminate hunger from the face of the earth. We need only the will."

All will agree that the objective is laudable. Some skeptics might question the statement that all we need to accomplish this good result "is the will." They are the type of people who might guess that besides a lot of "will" the program would also require a considerable amount of "wherewithal." Where the money is going to come from has never worried the President.

But the world's hunger problem is something to think about. The proposal probably has a lot more merit than spending from 20 to 40 billion dollars trying to be first to land a man on the moon.

Dairyland

Bill Adams, editor of the Roseau Times-Region, points up a few of the facts that make dairying important to Roseau county and to Minnesota. For the year 1962 dairying was a $320,000,000 industry in the state, and it is interesting to know that in Northwestern Minnesota's Dairyland the industry is holding its own, moving in the direction of a larger volume of a better product, and marketing that product in a more diversified form, with a lower per unit manufacturing and handling cost, and a larger per unit return to the producer. Editor Adams reminds us that June Dairy Month is a good time to call attention to:

> "The contributions of the dairy industry and of the man who runs the individual dairy farm. Minnesota's 78,482 dairy farmers have a total of 1,275,000 cows which give 10,366,000,000 pounds of milk during the year. This milk is made into butter, cheese, ice cream, dried milk, canned milk and a host of other products which bring revenue to our state and provide jobs for thousands off as well as on the farm. As an instance, there are 71 dry milk plants in the state to say nothing of the numerous creameries, ice cream factories and other related places of employment."

And it is encouraging to know that while dairying is going forward in our Dairyland, other livestock operations are making good progress too. Beef, sheep, hogs, turkeys and egg-laying chickens form a strong base for our economy.

Controversial Test Ban

Our government, which insists openly on becoming the strongest military power in the world, has not been able to secure agreement with Russia on nuclear controls. We are told that President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan will make one more joint effort to persuade Nikita Khrushchev to agree to a ban on nuclear bomb tests. In Moscow the news is that Mr. K. regards the western powers as the stumbling block.

To some of our friendly neighbors the situation is a little baffling. From Canada we get this interesting reaction as expressed by The Financial Post of Toronto:

> "Months ago Khrushchev agreed to on-site inspections at the rate of two or three per year. Washington wants seven such inspections annually.
> "But why should the number be significant or debatable if, as the public supposes, inspections are meant to take place only when suspected infractions of the ban occur? Does any community ask its police to investigate crimes that have not happened?
> "The answer could be that the U. S. does not really want a test ban at all.
> A report from Washington says that, if Khrushchov wishes to shake and shock that capital, all he has to do is accept the American terms. A treaty embodying these terms, it is said, would be fiercely resisted in the Pentagon and could not get the necessary two-thirds support in the U. S. Senate.
> "A test ban, though not in itself a great achievement, would be the essential first step toward reduction of nuclear arms. So long as tests are not prohibited by common consent, each side in this frightening competition can readily find an excuse for trying out new, more refined or more powerful weapons. On this basis the arms race can go on forever—or until the catastropic accident happens.
> "It could be, though the thought is alarming to the last degree, that a test ban is impossible because the top military brass, in Moscow as well as Washington, insists that the lethal stockpiles must continue to grow."

This blunt suggestion that the militarists in Washington may be just as great a threat to world peace as the militarists in Moscow is a possibility that probably deserves more public consideration than it has received. On several occasions General Eisenhower has cautioned us about the growing political power of our military machine. Congress has given to that machine what actually is a blank check.

Airliner Race

We have no objection to President Kennedy's suggestion that our airline industry provide passenger service at speeds up to 1,400 miles an hour, if the industry is satisfied that there is a need for such high-speed service and that there would be enough demand to make it pay. We do not go along with the President's suggestion that the government get into the act with tax dollars and subsidize the venture.

The President looks upon this as another race in which, regardless of cost, we must prove to the world that we are a nation of supermen. To him, it seems, international prestige is the all-important thing.

We agree that prestige is important, and we like the idea of our country being highly respected and well thought of. But let's not overlook the importance of gaining recognition as a nation of straight-thinking people whose primary purpose is not the winning of spectacular races but whose main concern is the good management of their own affairs, and making this world a better world, and a safer world, for the people of all nations to real equality. Unfortunately the Negro mass-live in, at peace with one another.

Good Performance Rewarded

We are satisfied that most of the people throughout the country are thinking pretty straight on this question of racial discrimination. The fact that so many are not thinking straight may be attribued to the emotional appeals of vote-seeking politicians, supported by the hysterical reporting of the sensation-seeking press of the country. That inflammatory combination is performing a disservice not only to the nation as a whole but to that particular segment of our population whose cause they pretend to champion as well.

A great leader of our country, if we had one, would give the world a true picture of the race problem, how it started and what the developments have been since the shameful slave era. Under the leadership of a great humanitarian our nation fought a war that, because of the leadership of that great humanitarian, put an end, legally at least, to slavery. That war cost the lives of many thousands of white people, including the great humanitarian himself. That sacrifice, in part at least, atoned for the earlier crime.

During the century that has passed since that war was fought, the Negro race has made tremendouse progress. There still are wrongs that must be righted, but in citing the injustices that still need correction, let us not ignore completely the progress that already has been made.

Just in our generation one of the greatest barriers to racial equality has been removed, and it is significant that this barrier was not removed by the passing of laws or the speeches of noisy politicians. That barrier was the unwritten rule against Negro participation in sports at both the professional and collegiate levels.

There undoubtedly still is some discrimination against Negro athletes, but the important thing, and the thing that should be stressed, is the fact that white Americans cheer just as loudly for excellent performance by a Negro athlete as they would for one of their own color. Some of us can remember when "Satchel" Page, one of the most colorful, as well as the most capable, ball players in the country, was denied the privilege of playing in organized baseball because of the color of his skin.

It is fitting that we have called to our attention the things that still are wrong, and have pointed out to us the proper objectives for future progress. But let us not overlook past progress, and let's not be ashamed to tell the world that racial discrimination against Negro athletes in this country is for all practical purposes, a thing of the past. That discrimination was not ended because of sympathy but rather because, in recognition of excellent performance, the color barrier gradually disappeared.

This leads us to believe that in those fields where the Negroes perform well they will be recognized and rewarded. We think it would be well if such facts were stressed more in our discussions of the nation's major race problem.

Interesting Opinions . . .

"A peculiar fact about institutions is that, once people get used to them, they get the feeling they represent the only right and proper way of doing things. The institution of slavery, for instance, was claimed by its defenders to be 'divinely ordained'."

—S. I. Hayakawa

— by —

Bill Herzog

The third week of softball action ended Thursday with Milt Reierson leading the Hamm's team to a 10-3 victory over Hartz. Milt was superb as he struck out 11 batsmen. Only a long homer by Dennis Bakke with two on prevented Milt from receiving a well-deserved shutout.

One of the more exciting games of the week saw National Guard winning its first game by beating Western Oil 11-8. The Guard really teed off on George Hanestad's slow pitches and ended up the enemy with three home runs, two by Larry Poole.

Bridgeman's great ball club continued winning ways also by pounding Rasmusson Insurance 13-4. The game saw Gary Klungness take over league batting honors by collecting three hits in five at bat. Gary is now hitting .667

The Vets got back into the winning habit by beating Hamm's 4-1, with Wally Grovum throwing a four hitter. I'd have to say that if this Vets team continues to hit the way they have been, they will give Bridgeman's a real run for the league title.

There are two father-and-son combinations playing in the league this year. George and Warren Hanestad are displaying their talents for that fine Western Oil team and Bobby and Roddy Carlson compete with Bridgeman's.

Milt Reierson leads the league's pitchers with 42 strikeouts in four games.

Work on the new softball field is progressing at a fine rate. Hats off to John Dury and Dave Clough for the fine job they are doing there. They hope to have the new field in shape by late summer.
